SAM HANKS CAPTURES 500-MILE CAR CLASSIC

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP)—Sam Hanks, a 41-year-old dare-devil driver from California who was runner up last year, won the 500-mile Indianapolis Memorial Day speedway race today.

Setting a new speed record, Hanks led the last 57 laps as he beat out Jim Rathmann of Miami, Fla. He took the lead for the first time on the 36th lap and held it most of the rest of the way.

Hanks set a blistering pace of 135.601 MPH, almost 5 miles an hour faster than the record of 130.840 MPH set by Bill Vukovitch in 1954.

2 Vancouver Dailies Enter Pooling Deal

New Company Formed;
Province Goes Morning

VANCOUVER (CP)—The publishers of The Sun and Province, Vancouver's only evening dailies, announced today that they will "pool their newspaper publishing facilities" and The Province will enter the morning field.

"The pooling of publishing facilities will be achieved by incorporating a new company that will be jointly and equally owned" by the Sun Publishing Co. Ltd. and Southam Co. which publishes The Province, the announcement said.

The new company, to be known as Pacific Press Ltd., will own and operate "all buildings, plants, machinery and equipment."

"The editorial, circulation and advertising functions will, however, be completely separate. The Sun Publishing Co. Ltd. and the Southam Co. will control these departments of The Sun and Province respectively and separately by contract with the new company."

Editor and Publisher Year Book for 1957 lists The Sun's circulation as 191,031 and The Province as 120,414. Both are certified by the Audit Bureau of Circulation.

Today's announcement was the second this week concerning Vancouver's daily newspapers. Tuesday night, the morning Herald announced it would cease publication June 15.

The paper, one of the Thomson Co. group of dailies in Canada, Florida and Scotland, attributed the decision to economic pressure and rising costs.

Under their new operation set-up, The Sun and Province will establish their own advertising and circulation rates and conduct their own promotional activities.

Production Pooling in Effect June 14

The pooling of production facilities goes into effect June 14. The announcement, signed by A. W. Moscarella, publisher of The Province, and Donald Cromie, publisher of The Sun, said the date of the move of The Province to morning publication will be announced later.

The announcement said the new company, Pacific Press Ltd., will have an eight-member board of directors, four representing The Sun and four representing The Province, and four representing the Southam Company. Staffs of both newspapers will become employees of Pacific Press, which also will negotiate all labor contracts.

"There will be no decrease in the Southam Company's interest in the Vancouver field," said Mr. Moscarella. "In fact, its investment here has been substantially enlarged as a result of a payment of $3,850,000 by the Southam Company to The Sun in the new corporate structure of Pacific Press."

GENERAL MANAGER

Charles Bailey, business manager of The Sun, will become general manager of Pacific Press.

Tory Majority Cut in U.K. Election Win

EDINBURGH, Scotland (Reuters)—The government candidate topped the poll in Wednesday's parliamentary by-election but the Conservative majority was slashed by two-thirds.

Conservative A. M. Clark-Hutcheon received 14,421 votes in the election for the Edinburgh South constituency.

His Labor opponent, James Forsyth, polled 9,781 votes and playwright William Douglas-Home a Liberal, got 7,439 votes.

The Conservative majority was 4,640 compared with 12,887 in a straight fight with Labor at the 1955 general election.

The by-election was caused by the resignation for ill-health of Sir William Darling.

"Standing in the House now is conservatives and allies 334, Labor 278, Liberal 5, independent 10, vacant 3."

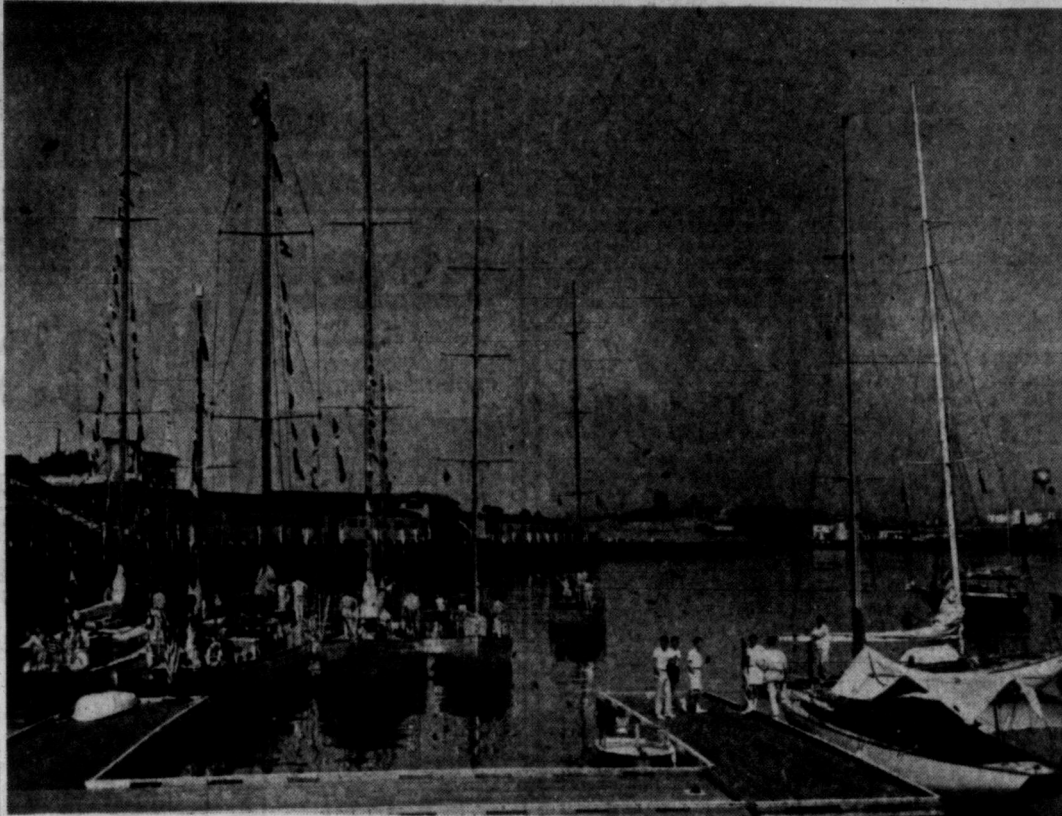

FRANCE'S HOPE

Premier-designate Pierre Pflimlin (above) conferred today with other members of the Catholic Popular Republic to decide whether he will attempt to form a new French government. Two former premiers—René Pleven and Antoine Pinay—have rejected the job. (AP wirephoto).

Big Causeway Show Tonight For Opening of Swiftsure

SLEEK YACHTS AWAIT SWIFTSURE STARTING GUN

Every inch of jetty space and all mooring buoys in Inner Harbor are taken up today as sleek ocean racers await Friday morning starting gun for Swiftsure

Sunset Ceremony Features Welcome To Ocean Racers

Scorching summer weather, more than 20 degrees above average for this time of year, is expected to draw record crowds to the Causeway this evening, for one of the year's most colorful sunset ceremonies, and the rendezvous of 25 entries in the Swiftsure ocean yacht race.

A burning sun this afternoon was likely to shoot temperatures to at least 80 in sheltered areas. Official mark for 3:30 p.m. was forecast at 78. The Swiftsure-eve rendezvous will see the pick of the Pacific Northwest's ocean racers, dressed overall in signal flags, ensigns and pennants, anchored in Inner Harbor for an official welcome to Victoria. CPR ships in port are also "dressed" in signal flags.

Arrival of first new-comers this morning was marred by an exceptionally heavy scum of oil and drifting logs, flotsam and jetsam. Dr. R. H. Trythall, R.V.Y.C. vice-commander, asked city public works department to do something to clear up the mess before evening.

But the harbor was gunwale-to-gunwale with visiting yachts before any clearance action could be taken.

Concert By Meister Singers

Sunset ceremonies at the Legislative Buildings will be conducted by 200 men and the band of 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery. Immediately after the ceremonies, the Meistersingers, led by Dudley Wickett, will give a half hour program of sea chanteys from the deck of the schooner Black Dog, honoring the visiting yachtsmen.

The music will be carried over stereophonic sound equipment provided by Alan MacFay. Then Mayor Percy Scurrell will officially welcome the yachts, which start the Swiftsure race at 9:30 a.m. Friday, from Brocton Ledge.

Victorians welcomed the unseasonably hot weather with a quick change to cotton dresses for the ladies, gay sports shirts for men.

Lakeside swimming spots were jam-packed Wednesday, and large crowds were expected after working hours today. Those fortunate enough to have the day off were at beaches early. Sun tan oil sales showed a healthy boom, and swim suits were hot items in clothing stores.

The weatherman forecast more of the same through Friday. Winds today are from the southwest at about 15 miles per hour, swinging to the north Friday, bringing in dry air from B.C.'s interior.

A storm centre heading in from the Pacific is expected to bring a slight temperature drop and occasional showers.

QUEEN TO MAKE COMET FLIGHT

LONDON (UP)—The Queen will make her first flight in a redesigned version of Britain's Comet jet airliner on Tuesday.

The Queen and Prince Philip will fly in a Comet Mark II to visit an RAF fighter base at Leuchars, in the Scottish county of Fife.

The Comet II is a later version of the four-jet airliner which were grounded after early models crashed into the Mediterranean four years ago.

Comets similar to the one in which the Queen will fly are being put into regular transport service with the RAF. A later model, the Mark III, successfully flew around the world last year.

7 Die as Rioters Defy Lebanon Ban

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters)—Seven persons were reported killed and 35 injured today when police clashed with demonstrators who defied a government ban on meetings.

Premier Sami Solh ordered the army to take charge of security. The clashes were reported continuing.

The injured included two opposition leaders. A former premier, Saeb Salam, was hit with a rifle butt and needed several stitches in his head. Masim Majdalani suffered a bullet wound in the hand.

The clashes occurred as police tried to disperse the demonstrators on their way to the meeting place in the centre of the city. Shots were fired and blows exchanged as police tried to break up the demonstration.

The Lebanese cabinet decided Wednesday to ban all political demonstrations likely to disturb the peace. But opposition leaders said they would hold peaceful anti-government demonstrations today.

Solh decided to take a tough line at a cabinet meeting Wednesday night after the opposition had announced it was defying his ban. The opposition claims Solh's civil servants are sabotaging elections scheduled for June 9.

They told the president Monday they would call a strike and peaceful demonstration today if Solh did not make way for an "honest impartial administration" to supervise the elections.

25 Ocean 'Angels' Ready for Flight

A field of 25 tautly-tuned, sleek, trim and beautiful yachts—valued up to as much as $250,000 for a single boat—is here for the annual Swiftsure Ocean Race Friday, from Brocton Ledge to Swiftsure Lightship and return.

Race starts at 9:30 a.m., and first entries back are expected early Saturday afternoon.

Official entry list follows; clip for reference. Progress of race can be checked by moving diagram in T. Eaton Co. window.

U.K. Expansion Of Red Chinese Trade Irks U.S.

LONDON (UP)—Britain today abolished the special trade embargo on Red China over the protests of the U.S. Washington officials immediately termed the action a violation of the free world's "security interests."

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced in the Commons that Britain would immediately let the Chinese Communists receive any goods now allowed Russia and the eastern European satellites under their separate strategic embargo.

The decision produced the biggest trans-Atlantic policy clash since the Suez invasion. The United States had been informed in advance but the State Department immediately declared it was "most disappointed."

"The United States believed that the security interests of the free world would be best promoted by the maintenance of a significant differential" between the separate embargoes applied to Red China and the other Communist nations.

In his House of Commons statement Lloyd declared that the Board of trade would allow no strategic goods to be exported to the Chinese Communists by British merchants.

Nevertheless, the way was cleared for British machinery and vehicles, among other items, to find a market in Peking for the first time. Some 400 items were banned on the China list. The Russian includes only 200.

BEAT EMBARGO

The Chinese embargo list was agreed upon after start of the Korean War. It is much longer than the list of goods banned in trading with Russia. China got around the embargo in the past by re-buying some items from Moscow.

Japan and Norway, which also attended the Paris trade conference this week, may follow Britain shortly in relaxing restrictions. France also may follow Britain once it ends its cabinet crisis.

Death Penalty Demanded For Britons

CAIRO (Reuters)—The espionage trial of 20 persons, including eight Britons, ended today nine months after the first arrests were made.

The judge said the verdict will be given June 10. The prosecution demanded the death sentence for two of the Britons in court—James Swinburn, 51, Cairo business manager of the Arab News Agency, and James Zarb, 37, a Maltese businessman. The death penalty also was demanded for Briton Alexander Reynolds, tried in absentia, and eight Egyptians.

Jet Collision Over Minneapolis Kills Pilot; 3 Houses Set Fire

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Two U.S. Navy Panther jet planes flying in a Memorial Day tribute to war dead, collided today. One crashed into a parked car and set three houses, afire, killing the pilot and injuring at least six persons.

The pilot of the second craft bailed out to safety and his plane plunged into a vacant lot.

The jets, the first two in a four-plane formation flying over Sunset Memorial cemetery, collided over northeast Minneapolis. More than 1,000 persons gathered in the PRAYER FOR TODAY

Lord of our lives and Sovereign of our spirits, forgive what we have been, and purify what we are and order what we yet shall be. Our times are in Thy gracious hands. Grateful for the past, we trust Thee for the future. Amen.

Socred Pension Plan Belittled

Fisheries Minister Sinclair Wednesday night denounced the Social Credit campaign proposal of $100-a-month old age pensions.

Speaking to a meeting of 450 persons at Powell River in his Coast-Capilano riding, Mr. Sinclair likened the pension plan of the Social Credit platform to "another Social Credit promise made in Alberta several years ago—a promise of $25 a month for everyone."

Outlining the position of Canada's economy since the Liberals came to power in 1953, Mr. Sinclair said Canadians have the second highest standard of living in the world, second only to the United States. Also, Canada was fourth highest in the world in foreign trade.

The government's attempts to keep down the cost of living have not been popular, Mr. Sinclair said. But had the cost of living soared, that would have been less popular.

The Social Credit promise of $100 a month pensions is a "departure from the truth," Victoria CCF candidate Victor Williams said Wednesday night. "He (Premier Bennett) does not mention the Social Credit means test," Mr. Williams said. "Sixty dollars is all he promises without the means test."

The old-line parties advocate competition, Mr. Williams said, "but actually encourage monopolies such as the B.C. Electric. It is impossible to compete with them in the field of public utilities."

Speaking at a house meeting at 1740 Fort, Mr. Williams said "This is not competition but complete strangulation."

Social Credit has brought a "new outlook" to the Canadian political scene because it favors all sections of the community. Socred Noel Bell said Wednesday night.

economies (of the pooling) will benefit readers, our companies, employees and advertisers. It will eliminate the waste and duplication caused by publication of two large newspapers in the same evening field."

Both evening papers had their beginnings in weekly newspapers. The Province grew from The Weekly Province in Victoria. The Sun from The B.C. Saturday Sunset.

SWITCH TO DAILY

The Weekly Province was published by Hewitt Bostock. Walter Cameron Nichol was editor. In 1898 they became partners in a new venture, publishing The Daily Province in Vancouver which at that time had a population of 20,000, considerably less than Victoria's 1898 size.

Shortly after the paper became a daily, Mr. Bostock sold his interest to Mr. Nichol, served one term as Liberal member of Parliament for Yale and was appointed to the Senate. He was Senate Speaker when he died in 1930.

Mr. Nichol continued to operate The Province until 1924 when he sold a majority interest to the Southern newspapers. Published reports said the price was nearly $3,500,000. He died in 1928 after serving a term as B.C. lieutenant-governor.

SATURDAY SUNSET

The B.C. Saturday Sunset, the weekly from which The Sun developed, was started in 1907 with founder J. P. McConnell as editor. In the federal election of 1911, every Liberal candidate in B.C. was defeated. Liberal supporters blamed lack of newspaper support and The Saturday Sunset was bought to remedy this situation.

The first edition of the new daily, The Morning Sun, was published Feb. 12, 1912. Its founders were R. S. Ford, F. C. Wade and J. P. McConnell. In 1915 their company, Burrard Publishing Co. failed and a syndicate headed by Mr. Wade took control.

As editor, his writings were credited with defeating the Bowser Conservative government in the 1916 provincial election. However, Mr. Wade incurred personal financial reverses and relinquished control of the paper in 1917 to R. J. Cromie.

AGGRESSIVE POLICY

Mr. Cromie, father of the present publisher, was associated in this venture with J. W. Stewart, engineer, who built portions of the Canadian Northern Railway in B.C. and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. Under Mr. Cromie The Sun adopted aggressive news and sales policies. Circulation climbed.

In 1917 The Sun bought the Vancouver News-Advertiser, eliminating its morning rival and adding $8,000 to its circulation. End of The News-Advertiser left Vancouver with three dailies, The Sun (morning), The Province (evening) and The World (evening).

BOUGHT OUT WORLD

In 1924 The Sun also bought out The World and its 17,000 circulation for a reported $475,000 and began publishing morning and evening editions.

TONS WAITING TO BE PICKED UP

Less than three months after Charles Campbell sold The World to The Sun, he started publication of The Evening Star. Six weeks later that paper was bought by Maj. Gen. Victor Odlum.

In 1926 The Sun made a deal with The Star under which The Star became a morning paper, taking over the morning Sun's circulation. The Sun acquired The Star's evening circulation and withdrew from the morning field.

In 1932 The Star became a victim of the depression and ceased publication. Later that year the paper resumed publication as the Vancouver News but in six months it, too, died.

Two weeks later, in the spring of 1933 the Vancouver News-Herald began publication as a co-operative, employees getting small cash salaries plus an interest in the enterprise in the form of stock. Most of those employed had been members of The Star staff.

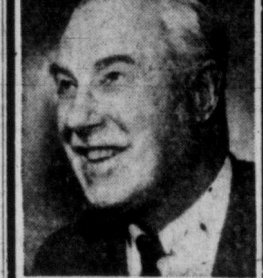

In 1951 The Sun bought a controlling interest in The News-Herald which it sold in 1952 to the Thompson papers. The morning paper's circulation at that time was 36,800. In 1954 it changed its name to the Vancouver Herald. The Herald this week announced that rising costs forced it to cease publication June 15.

Less than three months after Charles Campbell sold The World to The Sun, he started publication of The Evening Star. Six weeks later that paper was bought by Maj. Gen. Victor Odlum.

In 1926 The Sun made a deal with The Star under which The Star became a morning paper, taking over the morning Sun's circulation. The Sun acquired The Star's evening circulation and withdrew from the morning field.

In 1932 The Star became a victim of the depression and ceased publication. Later that year the paper resumed publication as the Vancouver News but in six months it, too, died.

Two weeks later, in the spring of 1933 the Vancouver News-Herald began publication as a co-operative, employees getting small cash salaries plus an interest in the enterprise in the form of stock. Most of those employed had been members of The Star staff.

In 1951 The Sun bought a controlling interest in The News-Herald which it sold in 1952 to the Thompson papers. The morning paper's circulation at that time was 36,800. In 1954 it changed its name to the Vancouver Herald. The Herald this week announced that rising costs forced it to cease publication June 15.

P.M. Gets Rough In Quebec Talk

'Mind Your Own Business', St. Laurent Tells Duplessis' Aide

(From The Canadian Press)

Prime Minister St. Laurent suggested to a member of Premier Duplessis' cabinet Wednesday night that it would be a good thing if he "remembered to mind his own business."

Addressing a cheering, placard-waving meeting that packed the large Apprenticeship School hall, Mr. St. Laurent said:

"You all know what the word provincial autonomy means. It is a strong-sounding word, but all it means is that everybody should mind his own business."

Mr. St. Laurent did not mention the minister by name but he left little doubt that his statement was directed at Roads Minister Talbot of Quebec, who openly is supporting Paul Gagnon, an Independent seeking re-election in Chicoutimi.

Children Dying Needlessly—Coldwell

The Union Nationale party so far has not participated directly in the federal campaign and Premier Duplessis has refrained from making any statements which, he said, could be interpreted as favoring any party.

Four provincial cabinet ministers, however, are taking an active part. Two are supporting Progressive Conservatives.

The meeting was preceded by a parade through the city after a tour of the region which started at Chambord in the morning and continued through Roberval, Hébertville and Jonquière. Mr. St. Laurent delivered six speeches, two more than scheduled, and gave television and radio interviews.

Residents chuckled when he said one of his main purposes in touring the country was, apart from seeking votes, to let people see "whether I am as aged as the Progressive Conservatives make me out to be."

First Blast at Provincial Cabinet

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell, due at Regina today, said in a radio broadcast that thousands of Canadian children die needlessly because of the Liberal party's failure to introduce a comprehensive national health plan.

He said: There were at least a dozen countries where a newborn child had a better chance of living because these countries had health plans that provide pre-natal, maternity and child care for mothers and children regardless of ability to pay.

Elsewhere on the campaign trail:

External Affairs Minister Pearson in a television broadcast denied Mr. Diefenbaker's charge that the Liberals are running scared. "No, we're not running scared; we are running strong."

In Montreal Trade Minister Howe said "Canadian nationalism which expresses itself in anti-Americanism or in any other negative philosophy is not likely, in my view, to advance our true interests."

George Hees, former National PC Association president seeking re-election in Toronto Broadview, told a Stellarton, N.S., meeting senior civil servants in Ottawa "have never seen anything like the flip-flop the government has performed in its sudden courting of the Maritimes after so many years of disregard."

BENNETT MAKES 'LIBERAL PROPAGANDA' CHARGE

CP Explains Ottawa Dispatch On Hospital Building Grants

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—A paragraph of news background used in an Ottawa dispatch by The Canadian Press led Premier Bennett to say Wednesday night that the Liberals had used CP to spread false propaganda at election time.

The dispatch to which he referred was the May 23 announcement from Health Minister Martin's Ottawa office that the federal government proposes to continue $13,000,000-a-year hospital construction grants for five years after the current five-year program runs out next year.

Intending to make this announcement more understandable to readers, CP—the national news-gathering co-operative—said:

"The grants have been in effect since 1948. The central treasury makes the money available for new hospital construction on a 50-50 matching basis with the provinces, and with some contributions from the municipalities."

QUOTED FROM DISPATCH

Mr. Bennett, quoting from this dispatch as published in the Victoria Times, interpreted this as meaning that Mr. Martin had promised the Liberals would share entire hospital construction costs on a 50-50 basis with the provinces.

"This is a lie," Mr. Bennett said, "because Ottawa pays only $1,000 a bed, while it costs between $12,000 and $15,000 to construct a hospital."

Mr. Martin's May 23 statement did not say the federal government would pay half the entire cost of hospital building and CP's explanatory matter on the announcement was not intended to give that impression.

The formula for federal grants toward hospital construction is the same in all provinces. It provides for a federal contribution of up to $1,000 a bed for general hospital building; $1,500 a bed for hospitals for treatment of chronic patients; $500 a bed for nurses' residences, and $1,000 for every 300 square feet of space for laboratories, community health centres and the like. The total federal grant may not exceed one-third of the total cost of a construction project.

Each grant must be matched by a grant of the same amount by the province concerned. Any municipal contribution is an arrangement between the province and municipality. A provincial government may make additional grants to any project.

50,000 Hungarians Reported 'Sold' to Russia at $100 Each

VIENNA (Reuters)—The independent Vienna newspaper Neuer Kurier reported Wednesday that Hungary has agreed to sell 50,000 unemployed workers to the Soviet Union at $100 a head.

It headlines its report: "A new form of deportation to the East—Kadar sells the Soviet Union 50,000 unemployed Hungarians for forced labor."

Janos Kadar is the Soviet-supported premier in Hungary.

"In order to overcome the difficult economic crisis in the country, the Hungarian Kadar regime is to send tens of thousands of Hungarians, who cannot find any work in view of the restricted production, as forced laborers to the Soviet Union," the newspaper says.

It quotes "reliable sources in Budapest" for the story. Recruitment of the Hungarians was reported to have started already.

Only those who were suspected of having taken part in the revolution last October and of still being regarded as enemies to the regime were being recruited.

Mayflower Alters Course For Plymouth

LONDON (AP)—Mayflower II reported today she has altered course and is heading for Plymouth, Mass., on the last leg of her voyage from England.

The ship has been sailing in the trade wind due west on a line level with the West Indies. Today's radio message said Cmdr. Alan Villiers, the skipper, has swung round to a northwest course from a position 300 miles east of the West Indies. Villiers said the ship was sailing at five to six knots.

Jordan Asks Britain Continue Economic Aid

LONDON (Reuters)—Jordan has requested Britain to continue its economic development aid to the Arab kingdom, a foreign office spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the request is under study. In the last year, Britain gave Jordan about £1,000,000 for economic development.

This aid was separate from an annual subsidy of some £10,000,000 which ceased with the termination of the Anglo-Jordanian treaty earlier this year.

The End of a Crusade

ONLY A YEAR OR SO AGO PREMIER BENNETT was telling his friends that the Social Credit Party would elect the largest delegation to the next Canadian Parliament and form a government.

But when nominations closed Social Credit had nominated only 116 candidates for the 265 seats. If all those candidates were elected there would not be enough Social Crediters to form a government.

Mr. Bennett has retreated even from his later prediction that Social Credit will win a "minimum" of forty seats. Obviously disappointed by the Liberal Government's continuing strength and the recovery of the Conservative Party, he now says rather lamely that Social Credit has a chance to hold a balance of power in a parliamentary stalemate.

The official nominations show that only two Canadian parties are seriously contesting the election.

Liberals alone are contesting all the parliamentary seats. The official list includes 265 Liberals, 257 Conservatives, 116 Social Crediters and 162 C.C.F. candidates. Social Credit clearly has abandoned any hopes it may previously have held east of the Great Lakes and is not a significant factor outside British Columbia and Alberta.

Mr. Bennett's original strategy was based on his own assumption—he has repeated it publicly many times—that the Conservative Party was dead. If it had died it refuses to lie down. Its new show of strength in recent months is the most satisfactory aspect of the election, though it would be much more satisfactory if the Conservative Party were campaigning on a policy and not a mélange of contradictory promises.

In any case, though the public opinion polls show the Liberal Government far in the lead, the election seems to be reviving the two-party system and digesting the splinter parties.

The C.C.F. has been virtually driven out of urban Canada (except Vancouver) to become what it was in the beginning—a small group of agrarian protest. It hardly pretends to be anything more.

The pretence that Social Credit was becoming a national party turns out, on nomination day, to be only a bluff. Even this bluff has been abandoned by Mr. Bennett. His highest hope, as he now says, is a fractured Parliament in which a Social Credit minority can dictate to the majority in the true interests of democracy.

This does not appear to be a serious threat but the threat to Mr. Bennett's own ambitions has become serious indeed. For he has staked his prestige and all his plans for a march to Ottawa on the poll of June 10. If it fails to elect a substantial group of Social Crediters to Parliament he will suffer a disastrous personal defeat.

His latest speeches—strident, abusive and desperate—indicate that he is well aware of this danger. Whatever its chances may be in Alberta and British Columbia, the great Social Credit crusade to capture the nation already lies in ruin.

Dave Beck and House Cleaning

MR. DAVE BECK HAS BEEN subpoenaed by a King County grand jury to appear at a full-scale investigation of the Teamsters' Union and some of its leaders.

What develops from this hearing will be subject to legal processes.

But the Teamsters' Union is not waiting for that to clean house. Although Mr. Beck says he will not stand for re-election as president in September, union executive figures have planned a meeting to see if they will allow him to finish his current term.

This is a natural and proper course for honest men to take. The revelations of a United States Senate special committee on labor-racketeering have prompted the action.

The AFL-CIO council has already expelled Mr. Beck from his post as a vice-president. It took that course with the explanation that its members are satisfied that Mr. Beck violated "the basic trade union law that union funds are a sacred trust."

This is not the first occasion on which disciplinary action has been taken. Racketeering on the United States Atlantic waterfront led to a severe shake-up there. And, with unionism the powerful force it is today, the Beck incident can scarcely be expected to be the last. Union bigness will attract all kinds of men, good and bad.

But the trades unions, whose rugged integrity has been illustrated before, are taking action to forestall as far as possible further unsavory behaviour.

That is the purpose of their move to draft a code to protect the democratic rights of the AFL-CIO's 15 million members.

The amalgamated body might take a leaf from the automobile workers union. Earlier this year it voted to establish what amounts to a "board of morals." Such a board, composed of men outside the union movement, would pass judgment on the union's activities and provide a safeguard against unscrupulous officers who might attain wide power over the membership.

However the AFL-CIO proceeds to protect the democratic right of members, it is very evident that the movement is thoroughly aroused. It is acting in a way to regain the respect lost by the Dave Becks.

The general public will applaud and support its efforts in this direction.

Dr. Kelly, Proof by Example

THE REV. DR. PETER KELLY has been elected president of the United Church of Canada's British Columbia Conference.

This is an honor any Canadian of that denomination might cherish in this province. For Dr. Kelly it is a distinction to add to many distinctions won by earlier members of his family among the Haida Indians.

Those acquainted with the new B.C. president will recognize his election as a gesture of appreciation for his good works. They will see in it, also, a symbol of a cause to which Dr. Kelly has dedicated himself. It is part of his life work to improve the position of his native people, to bring to them an understanding of the rights and responsibilities of citizenship.

With many others, he campaigns against discrimination as it relates to the Indian. By his example he has proved the Indian's capacity for high office. The significance of his achievement should not be lost on any British Columbian, white or native.

The Unhelping Hand

THE B.C. GAME COMMISSION is again issuing warnings against the "rescue" of fawns found along the roadside. Frequently at this season of the year motorists find young deer on the highways and, under the impression that they are lost, carry them away to receive assistance.

The Commission reminds such well-meaning travelers that a fine of up to $300 may be imposed for removing a game bird or animal from its natural surroundings. But quite apart from the legal aspect, the Good Samaritan instinct in this case is at fault. In almost every instance of apparently unattended fawns, the doe will be found in the bushes nearby keeping an anxious eye on its offspring. Handling by humans may cause the fawn to be abandoned by its parent, leading to the very fate which the well-intentioned motorist sought to prevent.

The proper procedure therefore is: watch out for fawns along the road, admire them as you pass, and drive on carefully.

Champagne for the Cat

REUTERS REPORTS A GAY hodge-podge of television advertising, with spoken words failing to fit pictures on the screen.

Britons, according to the report, were advised to clean their teeth with a sausage. They were urged to feed their cats champagne. A toothpaste tube flashed on the screen and a voice said "This will make your hair gleam."

Said a television official later: "I suppose a technical fault was inevitable sometime. We have to show 600 advertisements in a weekend."

The difficulties are understandable. But judging by some TV advertising, how do you tell when a technical fault has occurred?

Eisenhower Doctorin'

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Season of Mirage

BY a climatic phenomenon peculiar to democracy we are now living in the quadrennial season of mirages. They rise on every side along the echoing corridors of politics and most of them wear that effulgent tint which precedes the sunset of June 10. But it would be a shame indeed if all the false scenery of late May distracted our eyes from the real thing.

At a moment when solemn absurdities of all sorts are flowing through the atmosphere like static, when dervish dancers whirl on every hillside, when the laws of mathematics and gravity itself are temporarily repealed, when sensible men mount the platform to utter nonsense that they will regret next morning, I venture to proclaim an unchallengeable truth.

ASSERT without fear of contradiction (as the politicians say if they are doubtful about the facts) that Vancouver Island at this season is the loveliest slice of Canada.

Mr. St. Laurent may praise the beauties of the Maritimes. Mr. Diefenbaker may extol the grandeur of his home town in Prince Albert. Mr. Bennett may arouse the local patriotism of his Okanagan and summon the spirit of Osoyoos from the deep, but these regional controversies will not fool the Vancouver Islander. He knows, or ought to know, that he is the luckiest man on earth.

A Government of tired old men, averaging some 50 odd years of age, may have produced nothing but the most prosperous of the world's nations; a Conservative Party may promise to reform arithmetic by spending more and taxing less; Social Credit may cure inflation by setting the printing presses to work, but nothing can alter the cardinal fact. No matter what happens on election day, the Island will remain. The gates of Eden will not close.

ANY elector whose mind is churning with bogus figures and impossible promises finds his equilibrium instantly restored by one glance about the countryside at this green climax of the year.

The sad thing is that so many people drive through the countryside without seeing it. Hundreds of Victorians, for example, speed out to the Pat Bay airport every day and complain about the waste of their valuable time without realizing that the view across the Strait of Georgia is finer than anything in Europe.

A rich man may sail his yacht through the Mediterranean but it is a drab sort of puddle after the view from the Saanich Peninsula.

A TRAVELER may admire the lakes and the Alps of Switzerland, but they cannot compare with the Coast Range and Mount Baker rising from the sea.

Even the Rockies, seen from the Canadian Prairie, are well enough in their way, but they are put to shame by the Olympics, marching like white ghosts across the southern horizon.

Now, I dare say (for I have seen little of it) that the world contains here and there spectacles as fine as our own backyard and a visitor may reach them by heavy expenditure of time and money. There is nothing like this Island in all Canada, whatever the local politicians may say in the hyperbole of an election. Nor will you find in England (which we are reputed to be a Little Bit Of) any sweep of blossom like the May gardens of Victoria, though we take them for granted.

THE truth is that while demanding a "Better Deal" from Ottawa we already have here a treasure which even the inexhaustible resources of the federal treasury could not possibly provide. All Mr. Harris' revenues, all the cunning credit mechanisms of the Bank of Canada and even the lush promises of Mr. Diefenbaker, sprouting larger every day, could never improve on the deal we have received from nature and blandly accept as our natural due.

We are so sated, smug and drunk with beauty that no landscape can surprise us, no flower can impress us, no scent of field, forest or garden can arrest our nostrils, no scene can make us stop our car for a moment and no politician dares to tell us that on the whole we are doing very well as the world's truly privileged class.

THE thoughtful man will hear the politicians with respect and decide whether he wants to change the government or not, but no man who has an eye for nature, an ear for bird song and rustling wind, a nose for perfume and a mind of reasonable sanity will wish to change a square inch of these surroundings.

While all other Canadians are doubtful and confused, let us rejoice here in the sure knowledge that the decision of June 10 will alter nothing of importance.

THIN BLACK LINE

The Gordons are the only Regiment to wear black buttons on their spats and a black line in their gold lace—and it is not simply to be different! In 1809 the 92nd Highlanders served under Sir John Moore at Corunna and during the battle Sir John was mortally wounded and carried from the field by men of the 92nd. To commemorate this gallant officer the blue line hitherto worn in the gold lace was changed to black and black buttons are now worn on the spats.

As Our Readers See It

Sent to Coventry

I can give some information as to the origin of the term, a query on which recently appeared in your "Information Column."

At the time of the civil war in the 17th century, all Cavalier prisoners taken by the Cromwellian forces were incarcerated in the town of Coventry, which was so severely damaged by the bombing raids during the Second World War, 1939-1945.

I highly appreciate the information supplied in that department of your paper, and have been enlightened on a good many subjects on which I was ignorant. L. LOWTHER, Mount St. Mary.

B.C. House

During my short recent visit to London, England, I had occasion to use both the business and social facilities of British Columbia House on Lower Regent Street, where I met Mr. W. A. McAdam, C.M.G., Agent General, and Colonel H. F. E. Smith, Industrial and Trade Secretary. Both these gentlemen were most helpful and assisted me considerably.

British Columbia is well represented in Great Britain by Mr. McAdam, Colonel Smith and the staff of the Agent General's office and I would like to express my appreciation of the kindness and courtesy which I received from them. J. A. A. GEORGE, 420 Central Building.

Personal Resentment

I personally resented your editorial expression on the passing of the honorable Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin.

It is quite obvious that you did not know the man, nor understand his motives.

His position, in which he headed up one of the most important committees of the United States Congress, placed him within the orbit of attack from the liberal element at every turn, and unquestionably hastened his early demise.

In the interest of more objective, unsullied reporting your duty is to factually comment on any matter of public interest. I believe, in this instance, you were remiss in this responsibility. GEORGE D. WARDLE, 6042 N. Keeler Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

Mr. Bowman and Social Credit

Through the kindness of Mr. Charles A. Bowman, Victoria, I have before me a clipping from the "Citizen," Ottawa, of which Mr. Bowman was editor for twenty five years. Following is a quotation from it:

"Frankly, I can conceive of no greater achievement by any man than the accomplishment of these two results—(a) ending poverty; (b) defending this country against the onset of another depression."

"I think I should further confess to you that I am satisfied the major cause of present difficulties is monetary policy. Mr. Chamberlain (Chancellor of British Exchequer) realized that when he was here. Others frankly make the same admission."

The excerpt above is from a letter written by former Prime Minister Richard B. Bennett to Charles A. Bowman editor of "The Citizen," Ottawa.

Mr. Bennett turned to Social Credit. He appointed a Civil Service Committee consisting of three civil servants to meet with three civilians, including Mr. Bowman, to consider a possible Social Credit measure for Canada. Four, out of six, members of this group were in favor. One of the civil servants would have nothing to do with it.

FROM WASHINGTON

Correspondence between Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bowman, regarding Social Credit, is in provincial archives at Edmonton—where any responsible person may see it. GEO. J. JOHNSON, Cassidy, B.C.

Cassidy, B.C.

Editor's note—In a special article published on this page on May 14, Mr. Bowman wrote: "In this year, 1957, when results can be attained only by strong consolidated parties, the Socialist and Social Credit parties are merely adding to election confusion. They are superfluous parties."

The State

May I remind Mr. Pepper that the state is an institution which has developed in every society, where a small section of society owns and controls all the means of production and all the wealth that is produced.

They have the right to make laws and the power to enforce them, the right to impose taxes and collect them, they spend billions annually to maintain the armed forces, to see that the goods produced can reach the markets of the world, and the maintenance of its social services.

A state may be democratic or autocratic. With large-scale production in operation reforms are essential, the shorter work day, yes even the coffee break is necessary to keep this high-gear machinery of production going through the last hour or so of each work period. Then we have medical and hospital schemes, and now we are hearing a lot about security from the cradle to the grave.

These schemes have only one function to perform, to keep the working class in as high a state of efficiency as possible, to ensure that no more time is lost in the field of production for sickness than is absolutely necessary. C. LUFF, 2518 Empire St.

The Self-Righteous

"For they bind heavy burdens and grievous to be borne, and lay them on men's shoulders, but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers," quoting from Matthew's Gospel, Chapter 23, verse 4.

Beware of self-righteous hypocrites who, for their own vainglory, wish to boast about reducing and wiping out public debt, and to do so fasten themselves like leeches upon the taxpayers, lessees and licensees.

While Premier Bennett was making his "above board" statement in Toronto, the nation's commercial capital, did he give any hint that Social Credit would immediately revamp the monetary and financial policies of the nation and pay out monthly dividends? No, he was careful to keep such a plan under the table, just as he did in B.C. in 1952. J. BULLIVANT, 1045 Joan Crescent.

Separate Schools

In admitting to being puzzled by the amount of feeling aroused by exemption from taxes of private schools, in your issue of May 27 Mr. L. M. Greenwood warns against that "appalling" day when there is but one school in Canada for a child to attend.

But of course Mr. Greenwood knows that in all 10 provinces, under democratic control of the parents and voters with the 10 different and provincially designed school curriculums there can never be totalitarian dictatorship as he mentions existed in Nazi Germany.

To a truly democratic province in Canada the single common school is alone vital, and no separate school can ever be independent. L. J. PEPPER.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The Big Decision

WHILE Mr. Stassen was back in Washington, he was given fresh instructions. They marked a recognition on the part of the president that for the first time in the long history of talking about disarmament, we are in sight of a negotiation. What Mr. Stassen has found in his recent meetings with the Russians is that they are acting as men would act who wished to strike a bargain and not merely to publish statements.

This is something very new, and it has forced us to face questions that we have not had to face before. By long habit we had come to take it for granted that neither side really believed that an agreement was possible, and that, therefore, we were all free to make proposals without asking ourselves seriously what we would think if the Russians accepted them.

Now, with Mr. Stassen reporting that he is on the verge of a negotiation, we find ourselves in a game where the chips mean real money, and the stakes are high. (The great question on which the president has had to decide the answer, is whether to start down the road of negotiation. This is a question at the highest level of policy. It is a much bigger question than the one which Admiral Radford raised when he said publicly that he did not want to make an agreement because he did not trust the Russians to carry it out.)

Self-Enforcing

The real question is whether it is wise to make an agreement that would be carried out because it was "self-enforcing." There is not much doubt that we can insist on safeguards against the secret violation of an agreement.

The seriously debatable question is whether in the kind of limited agreement which may be possible the political risks of a relaxation of the tension are greater than the political and economic advantages.

What is there to be said against making an agreement which contains the necessary technical safeguards?

In the last analysis, the argument is that if you agree to limit armaments before you have done anything to settle the great issues, you have in effect accepted the present division of the world. Any agreement about armaments, which fixes their size or stipulates how or when they may be used, is tantamount to a military guarantee of the existing military boundaries between the two coalitions.

This will, so runs the argument, reduce, perhaps remove, the pressure upon the Soviet Union to permit the reunification of the two Germans. It will throttle down the pressure in Eastern Europe for the withdrawal of the Red army.

It will, at the same time, reduce the pressure of anxiety in Western Europe, including Western Germany, and so make these countries less disposed to carry the burden of the NATO military establishment. It will stimulate the American demand to cut the budget at the expense of the military services and of foreign aid.

As against all these risks, the president has decided that the risks and the costs of not negotiating may be still greater. I do not see how he could have decided differently.

For how, if he is faced with a serious offer to negotiate, can the president of the United States refuse to negotiate? Can he say that we do not want an agreement when he and the two presidents before him have been negotiating and that we do want one?

Policy Clear

Too much has been said by too many responsible men, and it is now impossible for the president to take a stand against an agreement on armaments.

The president can argue about the substance of any particular agreement. But he must argue sincerely, that is to say, with the hope of reaching an agreement and not with a concealed intention of preventing an agreement.

If we look at the case against an agreement, is it not fair to ask whether he does not rest on a strange and dangerous assumption—that if tensions are relaxed, if the fear of war is reduced, the advantages will go to the Communist powers and the disadvantages to the non-Communist?

Is this our true measure of the world? Must we really believe that with less fear and anxiety and tension we shall languish while the totalitarian states will flourish?

Surely this assumption, which turns our moral conviction upside down, is itself a morbid symptom of the existing tensions, manifesting itself in a profound lack of confidence in our own institutions and in our own peoples. (c) 1957 New York Herald Tribune Inc.

Bodger

I DON'T feel at all intelligent today. I feel much more like having a bit of fun with Bodger.

And I know that, as a Victorian, you're bound to recognize dear Bodger.

He's not what you'd call an aristocrat of a dog. But he's King of the Buncombes' household. He rules it with a rod of iron, and Major and Mrs. Buncombe are his devoted slaves. In fact, the furnishings of their house, the schedule of their days, are all arranged to suit the whims or Bodger.

You see, there's Bodger's Little Walk in the morning. The Buncombes can't be late with breakfast because Bodger gets impatient if they keep him waiting for his Little Walk. Major Buncombe will even lay aside the foreign news for the sake of Bodger's constitutional.

Ruth

There's also Bodger's Little Walk at night. Which makes it very difficult to have people in for the evening because Bodger's so used to starting out at just two minutes after eight that he grows restless if the schedule is disrupted.

Not that he's tiresome about it, mind you. He doesn't bark. He simply walks up and down, up and down, rattling his claws on the polished floors until, really, it is so much simpler just to take him out.

Major Buncombe, who was such a stickler for discipline in the army and with his children, is just like putty in the paws of Bodger.

Take, for instance, the matter of Bodger's Basket. Actually, he has two baskets. One is in the kitchen by the stove. The other is in the living room on the righthand side of the fireplace.

The lefthand side would have been more convenient from the Buncombes' viewpoint, because the radio is on the right. But Bodger, for some unknown reason, preferred the righthand side. As always, they yielded to him. So now his basket's where he wanted it, and the Major has to lean right over it when he fiddles with the radio.

The Buncombes don't mind that in the least, however. In fact they think it was remarkable of Bodger to have such decided views.

But then Bodger is undoubtedly a dog of habit and decision.

You can see that in the unchanging pattern of his morning walk. He always goes straight down the front path, avoiding the shrubs and flowerbeds. He always pauses at the gate and looks back at Major Buncombe. It's a gesture, really. Because, no matter which way the Major goes, Bodger always turns to the right so he can go to Colonel Whippingtail's forsythia bush.

He's done this every day since the exciting morning when he was still a quite young dog. Mrs. Buncombe was with the Major on that momentous morning.

"Do look at Bodger!" she exclaimed. "Look at what he's learned to do! Dear, wee Bodger. He is growing up!"

So they stood there, silent on the Darlen of the boulevard, and marvelled at Bodger's undoubted progress towards a state of canine adulthood.

In time, of course, Bodger learned to do other grownup things. And now there are more little Bodgers along the Buncombes' street.

But they're not a patch on Bodger. "You'll never be the dog your father is," Mrs. Buncombe said to one of them the other day as she walked down to the bus with her shopping-basket.

Yes, that Bodger for you. And the foolish part is that though I'm not wildly hipped on Bodger, I do like the Buncombes.

They're the kind who don't mind laughing at themselves.

Indeed, they often say with cheerful satisfaction, "Of course, we're quite silly over Bodger. Sometimes we even think he runs this house!"

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Vegetarianism

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

When persons ask me if it is safe to be a vegetarian, I have to ask, "What do you mean by vegetarianism? Do you live on nothing but vegetables, fruits, and nuts or do you add eggs and milk and perhaps fish?" The addition of eggs and milk to any diet will help tremendously because this will insure the person an adequate supply of good protein, plus several vitamins. Some of the proteins in cereals, fruits, vegetables, and nuts are not adequate for nutrition. The only reason that people get by eating them is because one food supplements another.

I admire people who can be so high-principled as to deprive themselves all their days of the pleasure of eating the meats which most of us so enjoy, and which are such good sources of the protein that all of us need. Sometimes, however, I am amused what I see a woman vegetarian who tells me that man has no right to kill an animal, and I note that she is wearing shoes made of leather, she is wearing gloves and a belt, and perhaps is wearing a full-length mink coat. Fortunately, consistency is not a common human trait!

A famous dietitian once summed up vegetarianism by saying that one can maintain health on such a diet but to do it successfully one should have more knowledge of dietetics than most persons have. This is particularly true when one is trying to bring up a child on a vegetarian diet. The growing child greatly needs plenty of good protein. Proteins are the essential building-blocks out of which a body is made. I, personally, would fear to bring up a child on a vegetarian diet, even with all my wide knowledge of dietetics.

To show what can happen, one of my classmates in high school was born into a vegetarian family. Although she was thin, she managed to get by until she tackled a strenuous scientific course in college. Then her nutrition failed, and she became tired and weak and unable to work. Her physician then insisted on her eating meats and poultry and fish, and with this she rapidly gained weight and strength and lost her old fatigue. After that, she lived into her seventies and never had any trouble.

Dr. Alvarez

So often when I see someone in the office who is psychotic and perhaps, for a time, has had to be shut up in a mental hospital, I will ask if there is any insanity in the family, and the relative who came with the patient will say, "Oh, no there is absolutely no such trouble in our family. Our psychiatrist assures us that this trouble is due purely to the coming to her of some weird sexual ideas when she was a year old."

Later, when I get to know the family, I may learn of two or three relatives of the patient who, although they can be very pleasant, and affable with strangers, at home are definitely psychotic, and perhaps at times a terrible problem to their relatives.

For instance, a woman was just telling me about her mother who at 73 is still active and wide-awake and apparently much younger than her years. She loves to dress well, she enjoys shopping, entertaining company, and travelling; and most people who meet her say afterward, "What a sweet old lady." But at home she has always been a tartar: bad-tempered, difficult, quarrelsome, unpredictable, aggressive, vindictive, and distressing to the people who have to live with her. In her early years, for a while, she was epileptic, and once she had to be committed because she was so violent, and so hostile to the people about her. Later, again, the family had to have her committed for a while.

She has always been complaining about nervous troubles, and taking large amounts of several medicines. She has nearly driven her husband to drink. The family say that he's been remarkably kind to her, always considerate and forgiving, but she accuses him of causing all her troubles, and she scolds him at every turn. Often she ridicules him before people. Sometimes she becomes paranoid and accuses him of stealing things from her and hiding her possessions and deliberately annoying her.

Once when she went to live with her son, she soon picked on him, and started accusing him of doing all sorts of mean little tricks to her which he never did. Although wealthy, the old lady has become close and miserly; she has also become obsessed with religion. Occasionally, she will be induced to move out of one child's home to go to the home of another, but soon she discovers that that child, also, is robbing her or attempting to play dirty tricks on her, and then she departs in wrath.

Man-Made Moon To Look at Sun

Editor's note: The satellites shot off into outer space will tell us a lot about the sun, meteors, cosmic rays and other things. Scientists hope. This is the second of three articles on progress in getting the little balls into the air.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world is soon going to get a never-before-seen idea of our life-giving sun, plus a count on how many meteors clutter up space.

The United States plans to shoot up six satellites during the International Geophysical Year, IGY. Each will be geared to seek out specific new facts about things in space that affect the way we live.

The first one has a window to look at the sun, and microphones to hear and count the thousands of meteors the size of dust specks or grains of sand—or the bigger ones which could endanger future space travellers.

FOUR STUDIES

Instruments for this first satellite are about perfected, a visit to the U.S. naval research laboratory shows. Here the completed satellite balls are being assembled.

So far, four different groups of experiments are planned, says Dr. Homer E. Newell, science program co-ordinator for Project Vanguard.

Due to weight limits, each satellite can be rigged only for one group of studies. If the first shot fails, an identical moon will be fired again. If that fails, the third shot will be rigged for group two experiments, and so on.

MEASURES RAYS

The group one satellite will have a special window in its shell to look at the sun. It will measure and report the intensity of a particular kind of ultra-violet ray which is soaked up by our own thick atmosphere and never reaches earth.

These rays exert a controlling influence on long-range radio communications on earth, and probably on climate trends, too. They might be pretty lethal to space travellers.

Space is full of tiny meteors. One estimate is that 1,000 tons of dust from "shooting stars" falls on earth daily. The dust perhaps helps ionize or electrify our upper air, could provide seeds for raindrop formation.

BROADCASTS "HITS"

Four microphones inside the first moon will count these hits, broadcasting the interstellar score back to earth.

Temperatures inside and outside the moon will be measured and reported. The moon will also tell about air density and shape of the earth.

The group two moon will have different devices rigged to count how many cosmic rays it runs into and where. It will store the cosmic ray count on a miniature tape recorder, and

HOME GARDEN

Divide Primulas When Flowers Fade

The hardy primulas are so varied in character and cultural requirements that it is impossible to compress into a few paragraphs any instructions of real value to the home gardener. The European species and their garden varieties are sufficient to fill a large volume, and the Chinese and Japanese groups are worthy of another.

Our remarks must therefore be limited to the polyanthus (many flowers to a stem) and the primrose, the two most commonly grown. When these are given good soil and plenty of moisture they soon make a large clump, and the time comes when something must be done to relieve crowding and add a fresh supply of food to the soil.

Radio voices inside the little moons, run by battery, are expected to last several weeks.

OLD COMPANIONS

Egyptian monuments as early as 3,000 BC often included carvings of dogs, for which the Egyptians had great affection.

This means digging and dividing the clumps, and it is done soon after the last flower fades.

You will find upon digging, that each clump is made up of a number of individual plants, each about the size of the original ones you planted. These can be planted separately.

For color mass, three or more may be planted in a group, or a section of a bed or an entire edging can be arranged of flowers of one color.

Into the new planting holes, place a handful of bone meal or

U.S. LABOR LEADER HERE

Business Corruption Rapped by Unionist

A high-ranking unionist says he doesn't think there is as much corruption in the United States labor movement as there is in "politics, business, the church or banks".

William Kelmley, a member of the United Auto Workers for 20 years and now head of the New York office, International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, speaks here today at 6 p.m. in the curling rink.

He will explain at a dinner sponsored by the Victoria Labor Council on function of the ICFTU to spark a drive for funds to meet expenses of the world ICFTU seminar in Banff, September 8 to October 1.

OLD-FASHIONED

In Vancouver, he said, "at the United Nations when people ask me about Beck, about corruption in the labor movement, I say 'sure there's corruption,' then I tell them I don't think we have as much corruption as banks, business, politics and churches."

Kelmley said he is "still old-fashioned enough to think that Dave Beck (teamsters president) is innocent until proven guilty." Beck is currently being investigated by a United States racket committee for alleged misuse of union funds.

Kelmley said he has a "suspicion" newspapers aren't "even Steven" in their coverage of corruption.

"A banker got away with $1,000,000 the other day and you didn't read about it in the newspapers," he said.

There will be about 100 guests at tonight's dinner, including deputy labor minister William Sands and president of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, William Black.

Reversal Possible On Roundabout Plan

By PETE LOUDON

There were strong indications at City Hall today that council will reverse its decision to try out a plan submitted by Douglas Street merchants to improve the Hillside-Douglas roundabout.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay is latest to switch his support from the new and complicated plan of traffic expert J. D. Faustman, prepared for the merchants' group.

TRY FIRST ONE

He said he will ask council to try the rejected original Faustman one-way street plan "after the tourist season."

Wednesday, Ald. E. D. McEwen said he felt the Doble plan, a six-year-old scheme which was never implemented, should be tried before anything else is undertaken.

Both had voted with all other aldermen except Ald. M. H. face.

Mooney last week, to skip the one-way street plan and try the newest Faustman scheme.

The whole matter is expected to be reopened when traffic committee reports to council.

Ald. Mooney accused council of "bulldozing" the merchants' plan. Now that Ald. Mooney, Ald. Ramsay, Ald. McEwen oppose it, Ald. Smith is expected to fall in line.

One more alderman crossing to their side will be sufficient to kill the scheme.

Ald. Ramsay says he will ask council to change its mind but with the proviso the one-way streets extend only between Princess and Hillside.

This would in fact, constitute a new proposal and permit a new resolution which wavering aldermen could support without loss of face.

FOR HUNGARIAN STUDENTS

Unitarians Report On Use of Donations

Report on the use being made of $7,000 contributed to The Times' campaign last November to help 34 young Hungarian students was received here today.

The report came from executive director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, who this month visited "Szalanka" (Woodcock), the students' hostel in Vienna.

Through the contributions of persons all over B.C., the hostel was completely financed for a four-month period.

Dr. Hirschmanova writes: "I wish our donors in British Columbia and those all across Canada who also contributed towards this institution could have accompanied me in my visit from room to room at "Szalanka" . . . to meet the students and to listen to their individual stories, to know they deserve our assistance.

"With the exception of one, all the 34 are very young, the youngest only 16, and many are still in that impressionable age when they would need to live with their own families."

The USC is attempting to prove "this home environment, this personal touch, this concern for their spiritual as well as their physical needs," she said.

A Danish charitable organization has offered to underwrite half of the "Szalanka" running expenses. Dr. Hirschmanova said, "so that starting next September we will need to raise only $800 per month to assure the continuation of this very worthwhile project."

Hometown Hails Premier's Quips

Special to The Times
KELOWNA — Premier Bennett continued his barnstorming tour of the Okanagan today, hoping to keep Social Credit voters from swinging over to the Conservatives.

He spoke to an enthusiastic hometown audience of 650 here Wednesday night and continued his all-out attack on the "old-line parties," especially the Tories.

Earlier in the day the Social Credit faithful celebrated the second annual "May Bennett Day."

The wife of the premier was guest of honor at a garden party in the grounds of the Bennett's seven-acre property.

GAGLIARDI SCORES

But the hit of the party was Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi, just returned from a campaign junket in Ontario and the Prairies, who used his booming voice and sweeping gestures to gather an audience about him.

All of Canada is "languished in a state of despair" because of the misrule of the Liberal administration, Mr. Gagliardi said. The despair was particularly deep on the Prairies.

"That outfit in Ottawa never had an idea on how to solve the problem of surplus wheat in the last 50 years, and they won't solve it until Social Credit is bent down there to show them how," said Mr. Gagliardi.

FEARFUL

At the evening rally, Premier Bennett said the other parties in Eastern Canada are fearful of the Social Credit "message."

"What we advocate will cost, to be frank about it, some $750,000,000 a year and it can be done without raising your taxes a single nickel," he said.

"The things we've done provincially could be done one hundredfold if we were, in Ottawa."

TOP FORM

The premier was at his quip-throwing, platform best at the meeting.

What have the Liberals done for Canada, he asked his audience.

"They pay the Senate," a supporter called out. "That's right my friend, and that's the only place where the Liberals pay a proper old age pension," the premier came back.

UNDERGROUND A-BOMB TESTS PLANNED BY U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An official of the Atomic Energy Commission said here that the commission is working on a plan to test some United States atomic weapons underground to eliminate radioactive fall-out.

Gordon M. Dunning of AEC's division of biology and medicine spoke about AEC plans in testimony before a congressional atomic energy sub-committee. The group is studying fall-out, the dropping back of radioactive substances hurled into the air by nuclear explosions.

Dunning said that the "more than 57" test explosions conducted by the U.S. between 1951 and the current series resulted in four instances of damage away from the test sites.

Not This Time Little Man

A sharp thorn that dug deep into the hides of the Victoria Shamrocks Wednesday night at Memorial Arena was Nanaimo Timbermen goalie Alf Shuker, one of the heroes of Nanaimo's 17-16 victory.

Here Shuker bats out a hard shot from Shamrock's bustling Peewee Bradshaw, right, while Terry Rodway (15) and Skip McKay move in to take Bradshaw out of the play. (Times Photo.)

WHAT'S THE SCORE?

BY

Denny Boyd

Herewith a few suggested projects for Harry Wipper:

Digging a tunnel with a spoon...

Washing a floor with a toothbrush.

We offer these suggestions to Harry without the slightest fear of ridicule because when it comes to doing a big job with the skimpiest tools, you have to give the whole duke to Mr. W.

This lacrosse team with which Wipper is scorching the corners of the Intercity League is a thing of zoot pants and Band-aids.

Seldom has such a last-ditch, stop-gap, make-shift, give-her-hell-and-hope-to-die club been seen since those rollicking early years of the Shamrocks.

Sure, we know that the Rocks played a game last night that was as pungent as Limburger but you can't rightly take away a gram of credit from the Boys Brigade from Nanaimo.

When you look down the line-up of the Timbermen, you see only six names that register as men who can be called proven senior players. Alf Shuker, Lisle Scott, Skip McKay, Spud Morell, Derry Davies and Terry Rodway.

But what about the other eight?

The remainder of the club that beat the Shamrocks was made up of a couple of Timbermen bench players, two tender years, scored two goals and two assists; a guy named Jack Scott got two goals and one-time Shamrock Jack Milburn got one.

Wipper, who has to act as a juvenile officer as well as a coach on this team, can pin-point the talent of this team.

"Guts," said Harry. "Just guts, guts, guts."

"Yessir," he reiterated, "I like kids 'cause they've got guts."

Harry went on to tell how he had to run out to a Nanaimo swimming hole to recruit one of last night's players because at 6:30, he had only seven forwards.

"By the way," Harry needed, "Tell Whitey to keep sending his rejects our way. We can use them all."

Over in a corner, towelling his mid-section, which is slightly puffy, Derry Davies admitted that this younger generation has a great future in life.

Derry was speaking slowly. He was tired. He had scored three goals, including the winner. He rubbed his ribs gingerly, wincing at the tender spots.

Squat Lisle Scott, chasing a couple of kid players away from his towel, said, "When you're an old man like me who should have quit five years ago, it makes it tough to keep up with these young squirts. You have to go out there and dig all the time to keep up with them. When we came down on the bus tonight, we were joking about the whipping we'd probably take. With all the holes in our line-up, we figured we were dead. Some joke, huh?"

City Club Breaks Ice In Bantam Boxla Loop

Victoria City Bantams won their first game of the season Wednesday at Stevenson Park when upsetting the mighty Oak Bay team 13-8 as Brian Spaven and Bjorn Stauren each cut loose with four-goal attacks.

Single goals for the winners were scored by Brad Coll, Hans Bomhof, Rupee Tallan, Pat Green and Mike Gallant, while for the losers the big gun was Melvin Spotswood with three, followed by Allister McNair and Phil Wade with two each, and Ron Kiddoff with a single.

In the midjet exhibition game at Memorial Arena, Wednesday night, Golds slammed Whites 10-5 on a five-goal spree by Don McNeil, who was amply backed up by Dale McKilligan and Jasper Bomhof, each with one.

For the Whites it was Tex Dillon scoring two markers while Tom Edwards, Brian Dance and John Holm scored one each.

Robert LeBel Follows Dunn, As CAHA Boss

EDMONTON (CP)—Robert LeBel, of Chambly, Que., Wednesday was elected president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, succeeding Jimmy Dunn, of Winnipeg, who held the post for two years.

LeBel becomes the first French-Canadian to head the governing body of Canada's amateur hockey in the association's 41-year history. He was first vice-president for the last two years.

Timbermen Shock Rocks With Paste-Bottle Win

Davies Scored Winner As Nanaimo Pads Lead

Nanaimo 17, Victoria 16

By DENNY BOYD

With a line-up pasted together from old lard and young fibres, the incredible Nanaimo Timbermen sent an electrifying shock crackling through the Intercity Lacrosse League Wednesday night.

Primarily a mediocre senior B team on paper, the Timbermen stoked their boilers with plain, scrapping desire to hand the cocky Victoria Shamrocks a humiliating 17-16 defeat.

Figuring on an easy touch from the crippled T-Men, the Rocks were ripe and plump for the loss.

And, employing more varied ingredients than a tossed salad, the Timbermen used spirit as their dressing to come from behind a one-goal deficit at the half and win the game in the final tension-drenched last period.

With players like Arnie Dugan, Don Ashbee, Bud Dumont, Bob Lumley and Jim Fraser still out with injuries, coach Harry Wipper patched the holes on his line-up with juvenile and senior B players and his repair job showed more backbone than the elite Shamrock platoon.

The victory, the second straight comeback win for the Timbermen, shot them into a four-point lead atop the league standings and gave the Irish their first home defeat of the season.

Downfall of the Rocks was their shoddy defensive work as 16 goals wasn't enough to win.

The Rocks blew into a 5-3 lead in the first quarter and were ahead 7-6 at the half.

With the start of the third period, the Timbermen broke out of their dressing-room like hungry boxers at the bell.

In the space of one minute and 20 seconds, they pumped in three goals to take a temporary lead, only to see the Rocks snap back with a rally of their own that left it a 12-12 sawoff going into the final period.

And that last quarter was a rip-roarer.

In the first 55 seconds, Bob Dobbie and Peewee Bradshaw scored for Victoria and Jack Scott replied for the Timbermen.

Little Mike Good tied it at 14-14 on a two-man break as Jack Scott drew the only Rock defenceman before passing to Good.

Spearing a high pass from Dobbie, Bradshaw made a great fake before firing his third goal of the night and again the Rocks led by one.

But then Derry Davies, the Timbermen workhorse, scored a spectacular goal. Checked off his feet at the Shamrock goal by Al Davies, Derry bounced off Bill Bamford on his way down but before he hit the floor, he pushed the ball through Gordy Johnston's feet and it was 15-15.

Then another workhorse took the hit in his teeth, Jackie Northup. The Shamrock veteran, after an extended jaunt down the left boards, careened through the Nanaimo defence and drilled a shot into the upper right hand corner that, at the time, seemed to be enough for victory.

A minute and two seconds later, bailing Skip McKay found daylight down the middle and beat Johnston with the same side-arm shot that had scored three previous goals.

Johnston made a great sprawling save on a breakaway by Dave Patterson and then Patterson scored.

Gals' Bout Opens Mat Card Tonight

Women wrestlers, Peewee Smith and Joyce Smythe will take over the squared circle tonight at Memorial Arena, in a preliminary bout staged by promoter Mike Bulat.

A double main event will be featured on the card. Johnny Valentine takes on Ray Urbano in the first half while Chet Wallick and newcomer Bob Cummings will meet in the second session.

Tonight's card starts at 8:30 p.m.

YANKS READY FOR REDS; DRAW UP RENTAL PLAN

NEW YORK (UP)—The New York Yankees, world champions at finance as well as baseball, already have a $600,000 rental plan mapped out today for the incoming Cincinnati Redlegs once the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants pull out for the West Coast.

Latest developments in the franchise shift situation all pointed to the growing possibility that the Dodgers will play their 1958 home games at Mammoth Memorial Coliseum in Los Angeles, the Giants will play theirs at Seals Stadium in San Francisco, and the Redlegs will share Yankee Stadium with the Yankees.

The Ohio legislature took action early today to keep the Redlegs at home. Shortly before 2 a.m. (EDT) the House concurred in Senate amendments on a bill to help the team obtain a new and bigger stadium. The bill was sent to Gov. C. William O'Neill for his signature.

One U.S. Player In Quarter-Finals

FORMBY, England (UP)—America's title hopes in the British amateur golf championship today rested squarely on the shoulders of Harold Ridgeley of Haverford, Pa., a 43-year-old master sergeant in the United States Air Force.

The lone survivor of a 26-man Yank contingent, Ridgeley was pitted against Leslie MacLure of Scotland in the quarter-final round.

The other pairings for today's 36-hole matches were Arthur Walker of South Africa vs. W. J. Girardet of England, Alan Russell of Scotland vs. John Taylor of England, and W. A. Stark of England vs. Scottish champion Reid Jack.

Ridgeley, who is better known in British golf circles than in his native country, posted two more impressive victories yesterday to gain the quarter-finals. He ousted Dr. F. W. Deighton of England, 2-up, and defeated Sandy Sinclair of Scotland, 3 and 2.

Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia, Dale Morey of Indianapolis and Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif., were not so fortunate.

McHale, a veteran Walker Cup player dropped a 1-up verdict to Charlie Stowe of England in the morning fourth round. Morey and Andrews both survived the fourth round but then met "death" in the afternoon.

MacLure turned back Morey, 3 and 2, despite suffering a bad head cut when he was accidentally struck by the American's club on the 11th tee. Jack whipped Andrews, 4 and 3, in their fifth round match.

Spurs Climb With New Scoring Punch

Possibly backed by the old theory that the best defence is a good offence, Tottenham Hotspur rules as a slight favorite to make it two straight over Glasgow Celtic when the two British professional soccer teams meet at Vancouver's Empire Stadium Saturday night.

In a sensational comeback after a disappointing 1954-55 season the Spurs have surged back up the English League's first-division ladder and this year wound up in second place behind mighty Manchester United.

On the way to their runner-up finish, Spurs performed the feat of scoring more than 100 goals in league play to become the only first division team to top the century mark since 1937.

Since the club was formed during under-lamp-post meetings and marked out a pitch on the Tottenham marshes in 1882, the Spurs have had a series of ups and downs.

The first big step up the soccer hill was taken in 1893, after the club and one player were suspended for a breach of amateurism—the club bought a 10-shilling pair of boots for the player who had left his at home.

Instead of accepting the suspension, the Spurs adopted professionalism and playing standards quickly improved. Three years later, they were admitted to Division I of the Southern League and in 1901 they won the Football Association Cup, breaking a monopoly of the North and Midlands.

Hotspur won the coveted trophy again in 1921 but, although reaching the semi-finals three times since the last war, has been unable to again crash the cup final at Wembley.

Tottenham's first season in the Football League, 1908-09, ended with promotion to Division I. Spurs dropped down to the second division again in 1915, but bounced back in to the premier section, when they set a record of 70 points in 42 matches and scored 102 goals while winning the Division II title in 1919-20.

Since then they have twice made up the up-and-down trip, staying in the top drawer since their last return in 1950. They won the league championship the following season, finished second in 1952 and had three mediocre seasons before starting their comeback two years ago.

Two players, due to face Celtic in Vancouver, have earned a large share of the credit for Tottenham's latest surge.

One of them is famed Danny Blanchflower, who moved to the Spurs from Aston Villa in 1954. A great attacking wing-half, Blanchflower has collected numerous caps for Ireland and has stepped up the pace of the Spurs' attack.

The other is stocky Bobby Smith, who came from Chelsea in 1955 to add much-needed striking power to the front line. A centre-forward, Smith rapped in three goals as Tottenham opened its current tour with a 4-3 win over Celtic in New York.

He hammered in four more goals against the Windsor All-Stars three days later and made it 13 in three games with a five-goal spree against the Ontario All-Stars last weekend.

Game time Saturday is 8 p.m.

Joan Follows Bright Stars

Joan Lawson of Uplands Golf Club was surrounded by models this morning as she continued her drive towards her first city women's golf championship.

Stan to Lead Canadians Against U.S.

TORONTO (BUP)—Canadian PGA champ Stan Leonard of Vancouver, will lead a Canadian contingent of four professional golfers and four amateurs to represent this country in matches against the United States at the Flint, Mich., golf club June 18.

The matches will be a preliminary to the $37,000 Carling Open to be played at Flint June 20-23.

Other pros chosen were Murray Tuckett, Al Balding and Gordon Brydson, all of Toronto. Brydson was not among the four originally chosen, but was selected when Jack Kay of Montreal bowed out because of previous tournament commitments.

The four amateurs chosen were Canadian junior champion Gary Cowan of Kitchener, George Knudsen of Winnipeg, Don Doe of Grandby, Que., and Nick Westlock of Windsor.

Mrs. Lawson, Uplands woman's champ, had three former city champs to guide her as the semifinals began this morning at Victoria Golf Club.

Joining Mrs. Lawson in the semis were Marg Todd, eight-time champion; Mrs. G. E. Harris, former champion, and Shirley Naysmith, 1954 city title.

In Wednesday's quarter-finals Mrs. Lawson advanced with a tight 2 and 1 victory over Mrs. B. Thirlwell of Gorge Vale; Mrs. Todd defeated Mrs. A. G. E. Robbins, 3 and 2; Mrs. Harris dropped Mrs. V. S. Godfrey, 6 and 5, and Mrs. Naysmith beat Mrs. H. G. Means, 4 and 3.

This morning, it was Mrs. Todd against Mrs. Harris, and Mrs. Lawson against Mrs. Naysmith in the semifinal round.

Consolation results follow: Mrs. H. G. Means defeated Mrs. L. E. Pope, 6 and 4; Mrs. A. E. Hildy, 3 up; Mrs. J. S. Keate defeated Mrs. C. Molloy, 6 and 5; Mrs. J. D. Munro defeated Mrs. L. Bradley, 7 and 6.

CHICAGO—Carlos Ortiz, 134½, Puerto Rico, outplayed Felix Chicco, 137½, France, 2.

DEFENDS TEE TITLE

Norm on Spot In City Meet

Apple-cheeked Norm Boden of Gorge Vale Golf Club, who appeared to run out of victories after winning the city championship last year, will be squarely on the spot Sunday.

Boden will reign as defending champion Sunday as the city tournament gets under way with the first 32 holes of the 72-hole medal competition at Victoria Golf Club.

But ready to catch the crowd should Boden drop it will be a small army of capable golfers.

Among them will be Joe Briggs, 1957 Island Open champion; Vince Clarkson, Frank Scroggs, Vice Painter, Laurie Kerr, Al Reside, Bill McColl, George Bigelow, Bob Morrison, Eric Hibberson and other bright golf names in the field of 82.

Most dangerous out-of-town threat will be long-hitting Gordy Whan of the Cowichan Golf and Country Club.

Sunday's draw follows:

8:00 and 12:30—P. Hanson, S. G. Evans, N. Dalsiel, A. McCabe.
8:00 and 12:30—C. McBeth, E. Feden, A. Robertson, J. McColl.
8:00 and 12:45—P. Frith, A. McLeod, M. Barlow, J. Galbraith.
8:00 and 12:45—G. Needler, M. Carlew, M. Koh, G. Simard.

Cleveland Double Pays $2,275.40

CLEVELAND (AP)—The daily double paid $2,275.40 for a $2 ticket at Thistledown race track Wednesday, the second day of the current meet.

A track spokesman said nine tickets were sold for the daily double combination of Kim Ki and Yea Bama.

Kim Ki, ridden by Donald Wagner, paid $173.80 in the first race, and Yea Bama, with James Cholina up, paid $21.20 in the second.

Aussies Dominate Doubles Section Of Paris Tourney

PARIS (AP)—Australia swept three teams into the semifinals of the men's doubles in the French tennis championships Wednesday with Lew Hoad and Neale Fraser at the head of the parade.

Fraser and Hoad defeated Abe Segal and Gordon Forbes of South Africa, 6-4, 6-3, 9-11, 6-2. Friday they will meet Lon Candy and Mervyn Rose, another Australian pair, who defeated Jacky Brichant and Philippe Washer of Belgium, 6-5, 6-3, 7-5.

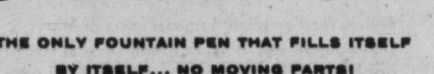

Ashley Cooper and Mal Anderson, the third Aussie tandem, got a free ride when Michael Davies and Robert Wilson of Britain defaulted because of a blister on Wilson's foot.

BEDARD ADVANCES

SURBITON, Eng. (UP)—Bob Bedard of Canada gained the third round of the Surrey grass courts tennis championships Wednesday by beating Adrian Bay of Rhodesia, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Western Club Tougher But Spurs Win Easily

CALGARY (CP)—Tottenham Hotspur of the English League First Division scored their third straight decisive win in exhibition soccer games in Canada Wednesday night with a 6-1 victory over the Western Canada All-Stars.

The game again was a one-way affair as the visiting English squad overpowered the all-stars before 4,500 fans. The Spurs led 4-1 at half-time and Spoked in two goals in the last half.

The lone All-Star goal was scored by centre forward John Clifford of Vancouver St. Andrews.

The victory was the slimmest for the English team so far in their Canadian tour. They blanked the Ontario All-Stars 7-0 in Toronto and the Essex County All-Stars were beaten 8-1 in Windsor.

The Spurs now move on to Vancouver where they will play June 1 and 3.

They will be in Manitoba June 5 and in Toronto June 8 to meet Glasgow Celtic of the Scottish League First Division.

MILAN, Italy—Charles Humer, France, outplayed Ilio Scorticchi, Italy, 1-0, in a European middleweight title fight.

St. Louis Stars Extend Celtics

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Scotland's famed Glasgow Celtics used dazzling ball control and shooting to finally beat down the stubborn St. Louis C.Y.C. all-stars Wednesday night, 3-0, before 4,500 persons at Public Schools Stadium.

The touring Scots were held to only a 1-0 advantage until the last three minutes of the game.

Charley Tully scored first for the Celtics at the 37-minute mark of the first half and that's the way it stood until little Bobby Collins got off two scoring shots near the end.

Humez Keeps Title; Defeats Scortichini

MILAN (AP) — Charles Humez, of France, successfully defended his European middleweight boxing crown, defeating Italy's Italo Scortichini in a 15-round fight Wednesday night.

The referee's decision was booed by the 15,000 spectators but boxing experts thought Humez deserved the victory.

Scortichini scored the only knockdown, dropping Humez for an eight-count in the ninth round.

Champion-Studded Field Threatens Swim Records

Saturday will be championship swimming day in Victoria when five teams will enter 111 contestants in the B.C. Swimming Championships at the Crystal Garden starting at 7 p.m.

Clubs competing in the 20 events will be the Victoria YMCA, Victoria Amateur Swimming Association, Vancouver

Amateur Swimming Association, Vancouver "Dolphins" and the Vancouver YMCA "Torpedoes."

Five B.C. record holders and a European champion will be featured in the event when 19-year-old Otto Waitzner, of the Victoria ASC, who held the Hungarian butterfly, breast-stroke and freestyle titles when only 14, will be entered.

From Vancouver ASC will come Reg Griffin, holder of the B.C. record in the 220-yard senior men's butterfly, the 200, 220 and 400-yard titles in the junior boys' freestyle and the 200 and 220 in the junior boys' butterfly.

Only 14 years old, David Gayton is holder of the 50, 100 and 200-yard B.C. junior boys' breast-stroke records as well as the 50-yard senior men's record while Susan Sangster is the 220-yard junior girls' butterfly record holder as well as the 440-yard junior girls' freestyle.

Also from Vancouver is Ted Simpson, who holds B.C. records for the 50, 100 and 220-yards senior men's backstroke and the 100-yard junior boys' freestyle. Vancouver Dolphins will have Marg Iwasaki, just back from the American National, who is record holder for the junior girls 200-yard butterfly.

Records are expected to fall freely before this bumper crop of champions in one of the largest meets recorded in Victoria.

Kipp Medalist

Johnny Kipp fired an 81 Wednesday at Gorge Vale Golf Club to take medal honors in the Royal Canadian Navy Golf Association's open tournament by three strokes.

Defending champion, Len Ebbeling, and Bob Logan shared the runner-up spot as they posted 84s in the opening round, in which a total of 89 golfers teed off.

The 36-hole final is scheduled for Sunday at Gorge Vale.

In each of the last two years, the prize shoot has been a one-day affair. But increasing interest in the trigger-squeezing sport resulted in an unexpectedly-large entry list last year and officials had a hectic time completing all matches on schedule.

With an even larger turnout expected this year, the VDRA will end its time problems by extending the matches over two days—June 15 and 16.

Two matches are scheduled each day and prizes will be awarded the first three finishers and to the high tyro in each match. Prizes will also be given to the

PATS WIN, 10-9

Ray's Home Run Ruins Paint Job

Ray Mellings' home run for Patterson Construction in the Saanich Babe Ruth League Wednesday night set the pace for the Pats' 10-9 win over Brotherhood of Painters at Reynolds Road Park.

Pattersons used four pitchers, Bob Proske, Jim Richardson, Sutherland and Mellings, with Larry Heal working behind the plate.

In the Carnarvon Pony League, undefeated Jaycees held on to their top spot by winning their fifth straight, downing Mawson-Gage, 12-10, on a three-run sixth inning and Dave Murdoch's shutout relief work on the mound.

Pirates edged UCT, 12-11, in the City Babe Ruth League, while Oda Fellows dropped a 4-2 decision to Gyros in National Little League play. CBRE won, 9-6, over Merchants in the James Bay Little League.

WOMAN QUOTES ACCUSED

'Ho, Ho, That'll Get Them Going After Fire Set in Sooke Barn

The common-law wife of a Sooke man charged with arson Wednesday quoted her husband as saying "ho ho—that will get them going," just minutes after a fire was set in a large Sooke barn April 29, while volunteer firemen were attending their annual dance.

Witness was Ruby Eileen Vowles, 22, who gave evidence in RCMP court at a preliminary hearing on an arson charge laid against Stephen Gregory Ward, 19, of Sooke.

Also charged is her husband, Rudolph Arthur Vowles, 23. A preliminary hearing on Vowles' charge will be heard immediately following completion of the Ward hearing which is continuing today.

Mrs. Vowles said in evidence that her husband and Ward met her at Patricia Bay Airport at 7.30 p.m. April 29. They bought liquor in Victoria, she said, then drove to Sooke. After visiting relatives and friends, she said, another girl, Lynn Elgar, joined their party.

Some time between 10.30 and 11 p.m., she said, the four drove to a barn, where the two men left the car and went to the barn.

"I saw a match strike inside the door, and three minutes later they were back at the car. Then we drove away with the lights off, and Hess (Vowles) said 'ho ho—that will get them.' "As we left Greg said, 'we shouldn't have done it, Hess.' Lynn was jumping up and down saying she'd squeal, and Greg said 'shut up or I'll break your neck.' "

"I said 'oh—if you do . . .'" Mrs. Vowles said.

About one-half hour later they were back at the fire, she said, and members of Sooke Volunteer Fire Department, called from their first annual firemen's ball at near-by Sooke Community Hall, were on the scene. Magistrate A. I. Thomas presided, and Lloyd G. McKenzie was prosecutor. Alan B. Macfarlane represented Ward, and also on hand was George Gregory, counsel for Vowles.

Nine Ready to Enter City-Sooke Marathon

SOOKE—Plans are proceeding well for the All-Sooke Day marathon to be run July 11 in connection with the annual celebration on Sooke River flats.

The race will start at Victoria City Hall at 6 p.m., and will be run along the highway to Sooke River bridge for 21 miles.

There will be at least nine competitors. One of them, Ron Chapman, who also is a member of the race committee, said the running time will be about three hours.

Entries to date have been local, but the race will be open to anyone, he said. Entry forms for the race will be published shortly.

"It will be a tough race, especially with the whole course over hard pavement," Mr. Chapman said. "I expect everyone who runs the race will lose at least five pounds."

Chairman of the race committee for Sooke Community Association, sponsor of the annual celebration, is Ernest Massick.

All-Sooke Day this year actually will cover three days of celebration to include elimination contests and finals in the National Role, or world championship log burling contest. Defending champion is Jubel Wickheim of Sooke, who won the title last year at Rockford, Ill.

VICTORIANS HURT

Crash Victim In Semi-Coma For 11 Days

COURTENAY—Lyle Manzer, 25, of Campbell River, was still semi-conscious in St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox, Wednesday, 11 days after his car and a truck collided two miles north of here.

There were three Victorians riding in the truck, all of 2209 Lydia. Miss Bessie Hampton has been released, but Mr. and Mrs. Earl West are recovering in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Manzer's condition was reported as "improving slowly."

'Be Realistic' Says Head Of Centenary

NANAIMO—Centennial committee chairman George Molecey this week advised residents to be "realistic" in choosing a centennial project.

The provincial grant for Nanaimo amounts to only $7,500, he said, and the city will add a similar amount. He suggested a fall fair building at Exhibition Park that might cost in the neighborhood of $25,000.

He said the Lions Club had dropped its plans for a $150,000 swimming pool because of costs involved. Other groups want to build a library, but it would cost $100,000, and he said he expects to hear shortly that library plans will be abandoned.

He was critical of Victoria and Vancouver, which he said, are discussing projects "which would cost a fantastic amount of money."

Whale-Fighting Sea Lion Shot By Teenager

TOFINO (CP)—A huge sea lion, seen attacking a whale off Long Beach, was shot and killed Saturday by a local teenager.

Later it was washed up on the shore at Long Beach and more than 100 people from Tofino and Ucluelet gathered for a close-up view.

Oil was poured over the sea lion and it was destroyed by fire.

Irregular Assessing Bared at Courtenay

Appeal Board Calls for Reassessment As Citizen Wins Fight Against Boost

COURTENAY (CP)—The assessment appeal board in Victoria says Courtenay's 1957 assessment level on residences is "definitely irregular" and should be reassessed.

The bombshell was dropped in a judgment received Tuesday in the case of William E. Mantle, who successfully appealed rises in assessment value on two city lots he owns.

An assessor himself, employed by the provincial government, Mr. Mantle at his hearing April 18 produced a map showing distribution of assessment.

"A close study of that map, when combined with an extensive view of the lands referred to, indicates a substantial inconsistency in assessment, sufficient to justify a reassessment within the city," says the report of the three-man appeal board headed by K. M. Beckett.

Mr. Mantle appealed city assessor Sidney Godwin's increased assessment on two lots from $200 and $300 to $500 and $700 respectively. The second lot was reduced to $600 later by a court of revision.

The board directed the city assessor to restore Mr. Mantle's assessments to their 1956 level and granted him costs of the appeal.

Many Courtenay home owners experienced a marked increase in assessments this year as the city

Contract Awarded

DUNCAN—B.C. Power Commission has awarded a contract for construction of a control building at Crofton to Cowichan Construction Company.

The local firm bid $25,068. Four others received ranged up to a high of $39,613.

River Landing For Planes At Cowichan?

DUNCAN—Flying enthusiasts of the Cowichan Valley are investigating development of land and water landing facilities, the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce was told this week.

Howard B. Matthews, chairman of the chamber's air transportation committee, said one proposal calls for an air strip beside Cowichan River, with water landing on the river.

Two sites are under consideration, he said, adding that completion of the project likely would see establishment of a charter service at the strip.

TRUSTEE ELECTION MONDAY FOR IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT

GLEN LAKE—A public meeting will be held at Luxton Hall Monday at 8 p.m. for the election of five trustees for the improvement district that includes Glen Lake, Happy Valley and Luxton.

They will be responsible for making arrangements with the provincial government for drainage of low-lying areas and flood control.

Postcard Contest Planned at Duncan

DUNCAN—A contest for the best pictures of local scenes, suitable for use on postcards, will be run here by Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce in connection with the annual Cowichan Exhibition.

Prizes will be awarded: Clare Brynjolfson, a member of the chamber tourist committee, said the postcard picture is one of the best forms of advertising for a district.

U.K. Immigrants Arrive, Vanish

4,000 Believed to Have Arrived Here Since War But Firm Figure Obscure

This is the first of two articles analyzing the trend of immigration from the United Kingdom, the quality and the prospects of the immigrants and their likely impact on their new country.

By TONY DICKASON

This outlying stronghold of the British is having its ivy'd ramparts repaired by approximately 4,000 persons from the United Kingdom, arrived here since the war.

The federal immigration department hasn't a clue how many recent immigrants are in Greater Victoria from the UK, and even available statistics are two years old. But in 1955, 3,500 new UK arrivals were reported for British Columbia which, broken down population-wise, means that at least 350 came to the capital city area.

Extending this to the decade since the war, Greater Victoria has a minimum of 4,000 new British, Scots, Irish and Welsh folk within its environs.

The immigration department seems to know how many Hungarians, Italians and others are about the campus, but with the British—well, the idea seems to be "they are so much like us anyway, who's to be asking?"

Only way of telling numbers of UK immigrants is by point of destination listed on entry forms. People, of course, change their minds about where to go, so even this figure is fallible. Then they arrive, and leave for places elsewhere, and the statistical picture changes again.

Perhaps this is the main reason so little is known about whereabouts of persons from the UK.

Up to 125 Persons Come Each Week

In the Vancouver branch of the department of citizenship and immigration, a top official there said as many as 125 persons a week, originally from the UK, arrive from other Canadian centres.

B.C. seems to be the mecca for the new UK arrivals. Since 1946 B.C. has absorbed at least 45,000 such persons of the near 400,000 that have come to Canada.

This may not look impressive, but B.C. is about as far away from the "right little island" as one can get, without going to New Guinea. New arrivals filter off en route, the majority going to Ontario.

In Toronto since the war, 200,000 new U.K. accents are apparent.

Another reason locally why Britons are difficult to group is that English, Irish and Scots, and even Welsh, don't adapt readily to Canadian life. Thus, at the National Employment Office here, job seekers could have arrived in Canada 40 years ago rather than since the war, and nobody knows the difference as far as accent is concerned.

While it is apparent U.K. settlers make good citizens, latest available national statistics, which could apply to Victoria also, show that Britons who have acquired citizenship here were only 6.4 per cent of the 1955 total granted.

Speaking with persons who make it a point to help the new U.K. arrivals, including former MLA Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, of Victoria, who has done this on a voluntary basis since 1943, several facts of interest emerge.

If the male head of the family is under aged 40, he digs in and takes the knocks.

At first the family misses football (soccer), friends with the same accents, small corner stores with personalized service as compared with super-markets, friendly pubs which act as a sort of community hall, bearing, some foodstuffs, dog races and lotteries.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by radio readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Marcia Bromfield, 9, Dorchester, Mass., for her question.

Why Are Thunderstorms Always on Summer Days?

At this moment, about 1800 thunderstorms are happening somewhere in the world. On an average, 44,000 of them burst forth in scattered places over the earth every year. Most, but not all, of them happen in summery weather. If you lived in the tropical regions of Java or Panama, you could expect 200 thunderstorms to crackle over your head every year. Our Gulf states get between 70 to 90 a year.

It is true that New England and most other land area get their thunderstorms, or most of them, on summer days. But over the oceans, most of them crack down at night and in the winter. In Southland and the Southwest, some of the most violent thunderstorms happen in winter. And in the Midwest they tend to happen on summer nights.

In fact, this helps produce the rich crops of these areas. For rain falling at night has a better chance of seeping into the soil than rain falling during a hot day.

This round-the-world survey seems to show that a thunderstorm can burst forth just where and when it pleases. But this is not so. It can only happen when certain weather conditions in the atmosphere are just right. Two distinct layers of contrasting air are absolutely necessary. The layer of air near the ground must be light and rising. Above it, there must be a layer of much, much cooler air. A steep contrast in the temperatures of the two layers of air is necessary to make things possible for a thunderstorm.

On a summer day in New England, the scorching ground may warm the air above it to 90 degrees or more. But the warmed layer of air near the ground does not pass on its heat to the layer of air above

it. In fact, it cools itself as it expands and rises. The breezes blowing aloft, two or three miles above the ground, may be below freezing point. Such a steep contrast in the temperature of the atmosphere is sufficient to cause a summer day thunderstorm.

In the Midwest, certain weather conditions keep the cool breezes aloft at bay until after sunset. Then the contrast of temperature upstairs builds up and we get a summer night thunderstorm. The ocean holds its summer heat far into the winter. When the sun is not shining, the air high over the ocean loses its heat faster than the air near the warmish water. Here a contrast of temperatures sufficient to produce a thunderstorm builds up on winter nights.

The contrast need not always be between hot and cold. Sometimes it may be between merely cold and bitter cold layers of air. These conditions sometimes happen in midwinter when a layer of cold air from Canada clashes with coolish air flowing up from the Gulf of Mexico. Some of the most violent thunderstorms occur as a result of these huge, winter cold fronts. Whenever the difference in temperature between the lower air and the higher air is steep enough, conditions are right for thunderstorms, be it day or night, winter or summer.

'Stop Nevada Tests' Japanese Demand

TOKYO (AP)—Carrying banners and placards demanding "stop Nevada tests," nearly 100 Japanese university students marched on the American Embassy Wednesday.

Thirty Japanese police stood guard in the embassy driveway but there was no violence.

Scouts who have obtained their first class badge and have to wait for that six-month period before they are allowed to qualify for their Queen's Scout badge should work for their "bushman's" song.

It is the top insignia of Scout woodcraft and the sign of a real outdoor Scout.

To earn it the Scout must be the holder of the "camper's" badge, and one badge from each of the proficiency groups: (a) naturalist, stalker, tracker, (b) forester, stargazer, pioneer, weatherman. Either one of these badges will take the boy along the trail of adventure and he will gain a knowledge and skill of being able to do things for himself and understand some of the wonders of nature.

(A) "FUNNY FACE" (Royal)-Paramount's "Funny Face" is as refreshing as a tall glass of ice cold spring water on a hot summer's day, which, when all is said and done, is peculiar because it depends on many, an oldie, notably some tunes of Ira and George Gershwin which have been hanging around for at least a couple of decades now, and Fred Astaire. To add to the paradox, Astaire, who has danced such one-of-a-kind stars as Ginger Rogers into middle-age over a cinematic period of 23 years, winds up with a girl who might have been his youngest daughter, the nymph-like Audrey Hepburn, and somehow manages to make it passably believable.

IT WOULD BE WRONG to say that Astaire is like wine, improving with age, because he isn't. For the first time he is beginning to look 56, and although his celebrated feet are still nimble it isn't the dashing Fred who danced over the tabletops back in 1935 with Ginger Rogers in the "Gay Divorcee."

THE PLOT of "Funny Face" is nothing more than Kay Thompson, editor of an oo-la-la fashion magazine called "Quality," wanting to find a girl who doesn't care about clothes, to wear the kind that most women would trade in their husbands for. Photographer Astaire finds her, Hepburn, in a mouldy bookshop. And from there on in Audrey is arrayed in every inconceivable type of creation. With Paris as a background what more could any woman (or man) want?

THE ASTONISHING Miss Hepburn winner of an Academy award for "Roman Holiday" and nominated for "Sabrina" and a rave-gatherer for "War and Peace" now proves she can sing and dance as well as act.

After several years' play-going around Victoria, one comes to know what to expect in the way of standards, styles and quality from the various active groups.

It is therefore genuinely exciting to have the routine exploded by a group of students at a rural high school giving a performance that is nothing short of astounding in every way.

Wednesday night, at North Saanich High School, a large audience was held spellbound by the force, the emotional drive and sincerity of a great Greek tragedy presented on a specially constructed apron stage by members of Drama 10 Group.

FURY, VENGEANCE
Medea is the searing tale of a barbarian woman bitterly wronged by her husband who puts her aside for the daughter of the king of Corinth; her fury and her final terrible vengeance.

The American poet, Robinson Jeffers, has adapted it into deathless English blank verse, a version that was made famous on the New York stage by Judith Anderson.

The massive role of Medea, packed with the most terrible of human passions and heartbreak, was handled with electrifying strength and sincerity by Katherine Robertson, not yet 15 years old. This young actress entered into the character to an extraordinary degree.

There was not a moment in which she lost her grip or her sense of immediacy, and if occasionally there was some vocal stridency or an anticipated climax these faults can be easily overlooked in the marvelous effectiveness of her performance as a whole.

SENSE OF REALITY
Deanna Huntley is another extremely talented young actress. She played her scene in which she tells of the fiery death of the princess and King Creon, with a moving sense of reality completely devoid of artificiality.

This is the women's play but the boys, particularly Christopher Morley, also gave very fine and commendable performances. The heart-broken and ruined Jason of the play's finale, was handled with great skill.

Director Gil Hunch had undoubtedly imbued his youthful cast with his own vision. He had found a way to activate their imagination and intelligent understanding of the play, so that the verse was spoken without self-consciousness.

PERFECTLY KEYS
Set, lighting, music, costumes were all perfectly keyed; everything contributed to the mood and took nothing away from the drama by calling attention to any specific detail of the mise-en-scene.

It had been a tremendous project, months in the making, set and costumes all being designed and constructed by the students. The end result is a production that should set every adult group in Greater Victoria on its toes.

There will be a second performance tonight at 8.15.

Police Clamp Down at Loading Zones PLEASURE AFLOAT

Victoria police will clamp down on illegal use of loading zones, police commission said Wednesday.

Only vehicles bearing commercial licences, which are actually engaged in loading or unloading operations are permitted to park in the zones with the grey-painted curbs.

Victoria Labor Council protested many zones are being used for parking by commercial vehicles, causing other vehicles to double park and making deliveries difficult.

Here's How to Beat Wood Rot Problems

By DON INGHAM

Despite the growing popularity of aluminum and plastics in boat building, wood continues to be the favorite construction material for pleasure craft.

As a result, therefore, wood rot is a problem faced by many owners and deserves all the study it can be given.

Deterioration of wood by decay is no more prevalent today than it was a century or two ago—probably less so. If we hear more about it now it is because there are more boats in use in fresh water areas.

Salt water is an effective preventative against most of the forms of wood rot that take place on boats. This does not mean that boats operating on salt water are not subject to rot. To the contrary, due to rain water seeping through deck joints and similar places, rot is frequent.

Boats constructed of modern plywood and molded plywood are free from this form of deterioration. Open boats are less apt to be affected than decked or enclosed types.

Most of what one hears about dry rot is false. Dry rot is caused by "merulius lacrymans" and is a fungus that is uncommon, even rare, in boat timbers. The dry rot mycelium is white tinged with lilac, and often has bright yellow patches. Confined spaces where dry rot is present will have a pronounced mushroom odor. These fungi are capable of carrying moisture over some distance and can thus spread infection into dry wood.

WET ROT

Most of the rot-causing decay in wood boats belongs to the general classification known as wet rot, the greater part being caused by a fungus known as "coniothra cerebella." Where present, irregularities will be found in the wood surface and prodding with a knife blade or an ice pick often will reveal softened areas beneath the surface.

Since this type of decay usually takes place beneath the surface, leaving the exterior intact, only such prodding will reveal the extent of damage. Darkening of varnished surfaces and discoloration of paint work are fairly sure signs of the presence of this type of decay.

Try lifting a small splinter from the surface of the wood. If it breaks off short, wet rot has probably begun. Wet rot will not spread to areas where the moisture content of the wood is much under 20%, thus only the wet wood need be cut out when making repairs.

CHEMICALS

Today, builders of wooden boats are taking every reasonable preventive measure to protect the wood used in their boats from the ravages of rot. Chemical treatment employing copper naphthalene is used extensively. This material is also available to those building their own boats and is an economical means of protection against loss by decay.

Painted surfaces should be maintained in perfect condition. A tiny hole or minute crack in the paintwork will admit moisture into the wood from which it cannot readily escape.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Thomas H. Finnie, 1221 Lyall, was fined $50 in city police court Wednesday when convicted for supplying a minor with liquor.

Wallace Fong 670 Herald, was fined $20 in city police court Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to driving his motorcycle over 30 miles an hour on Gorge Road.

Approval has been granted by the provincial government to trustees of the Brentwood waterworks district to borrow $17,000 for improvements. The bonds will be guaranteed by the government.

Victoria police chief John Blackstock will attend a civil defence course at Arnprior, Ont., between Friday, May 31, and June 9. He will also visit the RCMP fingerprint centre at Ottawa. Detective N. Bouchard

Police Board Renews Drive For Car Testing

Victoria police commission Wednesday renewed its drive to obtain a vehicles testing station in Victoria.

The commission recommended that city council ask the B.C. government for special legislation. It would permit Victoria to demand all cars using city streets be examined and maintained mechanically safe.

Council last week received an outline from city engineer J. C. Garnett for a $100,000 testing station which would pay for itself and show a small profit. Council felt the scheme should be set up by the province in all centres.

will attend the fingerprint school this fall, police commission decided Wednesday.

Crime costs are due to rise in Central Saanich. Victoria police commission Wednesday recommended the flat rate for jail service to the municipality be increased to $200 annually. Last year Central Saanich prisoners used the lock up for 53 days. In past years the charge has been $100 annually. City council must ratify the new rates.

Annual dinner, dance and installation of officers in Victoria Optimist Club will be held at Brenta Lodge Saturday at 6.30 p.m.

Last of 'Locie Logging' Marked at Big Up-Island Operation

By STUART KEATE
Times Publisher
PORT ALBERNI — "The last of the locies" is headed for the scrap heap.
A colorful era of Vancouver Island logging will be ended Aug. 1, when the last 25 miles of MacMillan and Bloedel railroad track will be torn up and its four remaining steam locomotives replaced by massive trucks.

A farewell visit to the last "locie" stand was paid Wednesday by a party of 75 Vancouver and Island businessmen, headed by company directors H. R. MacMillan and Prentice Bloedel, who together forged one of the world's mightiest logging empires.
With them was Major-General B. M. (Bert) Hoffmeister, chairman of the company, who took the party 45 miles deep into the woods south and east of Port Alberni.

Locomotive 1006, fired by Stan Malachowski, took the party into Franklin River camp and the Nitinat Valley, where remains one of the world's finest stands of virgin timber.
There the visitors were shown the powerful trucks which handle giant fir like sugar-tongs and roll out the logs to tidewater around mountainous gravel roads.

The trucks are replacing the locomotives for two main reasons: They can get at hard-to-reach timber, in remote peaks and valleys, much easier than the railroad; and they reduce the fire hazard, now at its peak because of the sweltering heat.
About 50 men are presently employed on the railroad, but they will be absorbed into other jobs.
Mr. MacMillan, who went along as an observer, said that at one time he had 190 miles of railway track on the island.

Students of island history were recalling that much of this utilized the old McKenzie and Mann Canadian Northern roadbed.
At the time of the First World War, it came within eight miles of linking up Shawnigan Lake and Port Alberni, but was abandoned because of the steel shortage and other war pressures.

Even so, guide Jim Trebett pointed out that the B.C. Forest Products "slash" could be seen from one point of the M. and B. Franklin River show, pointing up the proximity of the Victoria-based operation.
Along the way, the visitors thrilled to the always-fascinating sight of a 200-foot tree being felled.
Under the "clear-cut" system of felling, a pathway 20 feet is laid out beforehand to prevent breakage as the tree topples.

Expert woodsmen Jack Richmond and Hugo Simons laid a 600-year-old fir into the cut with pin-point precision, earning a handshake from Mr. MacMillan and the comment:
"I hate to see 'em going down."
Earlier, the party had seen the last setting of the "skidder," which hauled bundles of logs from a hillside 1,600 feet away with the ease of a child playing with a Meccano set.

The day concluded with a visit to a long-pond where the visitors saw 13 rail-cars dumped in less than 10 minutes.
The giant firs were nudged into the water by a "girder," a simple merry-go-round jill-pole system which shortly will be abandoned because of breakage to the logs.
In its place will be a wire cradle, which will encircle the logs and lower them gently into the sea.

INFLATION HITS TRAFFIC FINES —$10 LEVY FOR NOT STOPPING

Minimum fines for traffic offences are getting heavier. Magistrate H. C. Hall announced in city police court today new provisions of the revised Motor Vehicles Act puts the minimum fine for passing a stop sign up from $5 to $10, effective immediately.

MONTE ROBERTS

Dear Bill Scott:
Honest, Bill, I am many, many things, and I stand accused of perpetrating many affronts against grammar, syntax, and the English language in general.
But honest, Bill, cross my heart, I am NOT Silenus. Anything but that, Bill. But not THAT.

Which isn't what I was going to talk about today, but I thought I'd better get it straightened out before Bill beats my ears off with his cane (and I suspect it's a sword cane.)

What I was going to talk about today was the current heat wave.
The reason I know it is a heat wave, our heat wave editor says so.

Another reason I know it is a heat wave, is because people are going around and about asking "Is it hot enough for you?"

Which has given me an idea for a profitable business. This profitable business would be the printing of cards to be handed to people who ask you "Is it hot enough for you?"

The cards would be tastefully designed, and would read as follows:
"You call this hot? You don't know what hot is unless you've been in ——" (Fill in name of hometown, such as Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Edmonton, etc.)

Which reminds me, you don't know what hot is unless you have been in Winnipeg in August.

Why, I remember one August day we fried eggs on the sidewalk outside the Tribune building.
I admit we were only doing this as a promotion stunt for the newspaper.

But we actually would have eaten the eggs, too. Except we left them on the pavement too long and they became badly burned.

You call this hot? Why, I remember the time... Take it from there.

Sayward Link Feasibility Investigated

Preliminary surveys are under way between Sayward and Port Hardy for possible extension of the Island Highway northward, deputy highways minister Evan Jones said today.

This survey is merely to check the feasibility and cost of a road between the two points, he said.

If such a road is built, it will be by the provincial government and not under forest management schemes, he indicated.

Port Hardy is 56 miles beyond Sayward in a straight line. Completion of the road would make the island's north-south highway close to 300 miles long, and would bring the end of the road to within 40 miles of Cape Scott, at the northern tip of the island.

Another road link nearing completion is that between Campbell River and Tahsis, on the west coast. The Elk River Timber Co. has a camp 15 miles west of Upper Campbell Lake, and within seven miles of a road extended eastward by the Tahsis Company up the Gold River Valley.

It is expected the two companies will agree shortly on construction of the link, which will continue as a private road since the two companies own 95 per cent of the land crossed by the road.

Thieves Get Peanuts, Pop

Thieves who broke into Royal Athletic Park concession stand got peanuts for their trouble.

Police suspect juveniles of entering by means of a door with faulty lock.

Once inside, evidence showed they ate some peanuts, drank a couple of bottles of pop, moved two cases of soft drinks under the grandstand, then left.

Apparently nothing else was disturbed.

The entry took place within the past few days and was reported Wednesday.

'REAL PRIVILEGE'

17 Become Canadians At Ceremony

Seventeen new Canadians today took the oath of allegiance before Judge J. B. Clearhugh at the Victoria Courthouse.

One of them was Jan Zach, distinguished Czech-born painter and sculptor, who has resided in Victoria since 1951.

Another, Hendrik Pieter Van Ek from Holland, appeared in court wearing the uniform of the Canadian Navy after being relieved from duty.

MANY LANDS

The sun-filled courtroom was crowded as men and women from many lands and many climes took the solemn oath:

"I... swear that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, her heirs and successors, according to the law, and that I will faithfully observe the laws of Canada and fulfill my duties as a Canadian citizen. So help me God."

Each new citizen then kissed the Bible and signed the register before receiving a certificate of nationality from Judge Clearhugh.

Earlier, the new Canadians were required, in turn, to renounce their allegiance and fidelity "to any foreign sovereign or state of which I may at this time be a subject or citizen."

Judge Clearhugh formally welcomed the new Canadians, emphasizing that Canada is now an independent nation, but with membership in the British Commonwealth and the United Nations.

PRIVILEGE

"It is a real privilege to be a Canadian and it gives you freedom of religion, freedom of thought and action and the right to vote if you so choose."

After the swearing-in ceremony, the Canadians were received by representatives of the Citizenship Council, Men's Canadian Clubs, Alliance Française, Canadian Association of Social Workers, Retired Civil Servants Association, the IODE, Business and Professional Women's Club, the Chamber of Commerce, University Women's Club, Sons of Norway, YMCA, Native Sons of B.C., Local Council of Women and the Lake Hill Women's Institute.

200-FOOT TIMBER GIANT DIES WITH EERY WAIL OF PROTEST

By STUART KEATE

PORT ALBERNI — Does a giant tree cry when it is toppled?

I was astonished, in witnessing the felling of a 600-year-old fir felled at Franklin River camp Wednesday, to hear the butt of the tree give out a terrible, wailing moan as the 200-foot giant crashed to the ground.

It sounded like the lament of a tortured soul.

Scarcely believing my ears, I checked with woods foreman Danny Toporowski.

He confirmed my impression.

"That's quite true," he said. "You'll notice what we call 'whiskers' on the butt of the tree."

"The sound is caused by the fibers stretching and pulling as the tree breaks away, leaving the 'whiskers' behind."

SAMARITAN GETS STUCK WITH TICKET

Trying to be a good Samaritan only got Herbert J. Calder, 448 Grafton, into trouble early this morning.

He was at 334 Dallas at about 12:30 a.m. when Gerald C. Shepherd, 49, 1332 Finlayson, came to the house for help, his head streaming blood from a scalp laceration.

Calder put the injured man in his car and started for St. Joseph's Hospital emergency.

En route his car was in collision with one driven by Charles A. Atkinson, 2769 Cedar Hill at Government and Superior.

Police attended and took Shepherd to hospital believing he was injured in the collision.

Twenty stitches were required to close the head wound, cause of which is unknown, and Shepherd was admitted for treatment. His condition today was reported to be good.

Calder, however, was summoned for passing a stop sign.

Youth Can't Drink, Drive For One Year

A Duncan juvenile who stole a car, wrecked it and went to hospital with a brain concussion last month, was given a suspended sentence in city police court today and forbidden to drink or drive for 12 months.

James Winston Cook, 17, was transferred from juvenile court to open police court when charged with auto theft after his release from hospital.

He was placed on $500 bond for good behavior and ordered to report to a probation officer twice monthly for six months, and monthly for another six months.

Court was told Cook took a car from downtown Victoria April 28 and drove it to Duncan, where the reported stolen car was spotted by RCMP.

SPED AWAY

A patrol car stopped Cook but as the constable approached, Cook sped away and in trying to elude the pursuing police car missed a sharp turn and plunged the stolen car into a ravine.

Defence lawyer Lloyd McKenzie said Cook had been the victim of a number of misfortunes since early in life, including the loss of his father and subsequent family breakup.

$50,000 Program To Improve Lake

Start of a $50,000 development program at Thetis Lake park was announced at City Hall today.

Tenders will be called immediately for clean-sweep logging of an 82-acre panhandle in a remote back-area of the park.

Sale of the lumber will finance the development program which started this week and includes:

Construction of a new camp area for tents and trailers with piped-in water and toilet facilities.

Repairs to existing diving floats.

Parks Chief Oversees Project

The development program follows on the heels of council decision to permit city administrator W. H. Warren to assume part responsibility for the area.

In the past, the park, as a watershed, has been under jurisdiction of the public works department. Mr. Warren is overseeing the new program.

Council had approved the logging project last November, but calling of tenders was delayed in view of a drop in log market prices. It is understood although the market has not altered appreciably, the parks committee has launched the plan in hopes the first revenues will be sufficient to pay for the whole project.

Council earlier approved a plan for selective logging of other back areas of the park. $11 acres in size. A 729-acre section has been marked where no logging will be considered.

There are no plans to begin the selective logging program at present.

Ald. Edgewood maintains the new development program is the most enterprising to be undertaken in 20 years.

Common Cooking Area Planned

He said the camping, and trailer area will be in use this summer and it is intended to add a covered common cooking area with stoves in the future.

"We plan a small charge, possibly $1 a car, for camping and trailer parking. It will go back to the park."

He said the program will include placing of more signs on the highway, indicating the park entrance.

Lifeguard services, last year supplied in July and August only, are being considered at present. It has been decided to close off the second beach at the park after dark, to avoid accidents occurring when the lifeguards are not on duty.

Fire trails are to be built into the logging area.

"There have been fires in that vicinity every year," he stated.

The parks chairman said city engineer J. C. Garnett was to be congratulated for planning the development.

Council is not expected to object to the proposal for a small sanitary landfill. Permission for a landfill in the park was approved once last year, although never carried out.

ELECTION MEETINGS

Campaign meetings tonight: Waldo Skillings, Social Credit candidate in Victoria, with Recreation Minister Earle Westwood, at Oak Bay Junior High.

Dr. F. T. Fairley, Liberal, Victoria, at Carnarvon Church Hall, 2988 Eastdowne.

Noel Bell, Social Credit, Esquimalt-Saanich, St. Andrew's Hall, Sidney.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, Conservative, Esquimalt-Saanich, at St. Martin's-in-the-Field Church Hall, Obed Ave.

Dr. J. M. Thomas, CCF, Esquimalt-Saanich, Sooke Community Hall.

Victor Williams, CCF, Victoria, at 158 Robertson.

Forest Fire Outlook 'Good'

The forest fire picture in B.C. continued to be good today despite the hot weather, forest officials reported.

On Vancouver Island three small fires are burning, at Langford, Lake Cowichan and Campbell River, and all are under control.

Biggest source of trouble in the past 24 hours has been the PGE railroad, with 96 fires breaking out along the right-of-way. Railwaymen patrolling the line extinguished 94.

Victoria Firm Wins Contract At Ash River

Contract for construction of the power house and switchyard at the Ash River hydroelectric development near Port Alberni has been awarded Farmer Construction (VI) Ltd. of Victoria, B.C. Power Commission said today.

Farmer Construction was low bidder on the job. Contract price is $579,888.

The 35,000-horsepower generating station will be built on the north shore of Great Central Lake. Contracts have been awarded for the construction of a tunnel for the diversion of water from Ash River and Elsie Lake for the supply of penstocks and tenders have been called for earth dams and tunnel intakes.

George Farmer, firm president, said today that preparations for the work are in hand, and it is planned to start construction next week.

The $12,000,000 project is the first stage in a plan for comprehensive development of hydroelectric potential in the Somass River system.

B.C. Power Commission crews are busy in the area on a $250,000 program of road building for construction access.

Wharfside Restaurant Planned Here

A new smorgasbord and seafood restaurant known as The Net Loft will open at Fletcher's Wharf, near the British America Paint Co. off Montreal Street, this summer.

The enterprise is sponsored by Stan Booker, head of Alberta Caterers Ltd., which operates the Viking Smorgasbord restaurant at Edmonton.

Mr. Booker has taken over a building formerly used by B.C. Packers, Ltd., and structural alterations will be carried out within the next few weeks.

"We have had quite a success with this type of restaurant in Edmonton," Mr. Booker, an immigrant from London, England, said today.

"We shall introduce a number of novelties, with lots of fishing gear on view, and the smorgasbord table will be in the form of a fisherman's drifter."

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me what the Bagdad Pact is? We so often see references to this agreement, and perhaps many readers besides myself would be grateful to know just what it is. F.W.K.

A.—The Middle East Treaty Organization (known as the Bagdad Pact) was formed November 22-23, 1955, in Bagdad, Iraq, by Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, Turkey and Great Britain. The United States sent official observers but did not join. The members agreed to co-operate in political, military and economic fields to avoid any threat to their common interests. They formed a ministerial council composed of the foreign ministers of Iraq and the ambassadors to Iraq of the other four nations, and co-ordinated defence policies through the chiefs of staff via deputies. The United States was to have observers in all except the economic departments. Jordan was invited but refused to join. Criticism of the pact was expressed by President Nasser of Egypt and President Tito of Yugoslavia. Premier Bulganin of the Soviet Union denounced the pact December 29, 1955, calling it "colonialism in a new form. President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden endorsed the aims of the pact February 1, 1956.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

There was new hope at City Hall today that a six-week delay in construction of Point Ellice Bridge may be shrunk to a one or two-week hold-up.
City engineer J. C. Garnett reported this morning that although a shortage of vital steel still exists, a re-scheduling of the work will "reduce delay to a minimum."

Victoria police chief John Blackstock and Oak Bay chief Robert Smith leave Friday morning for Amnpring, Ont., where they will take a special 10-day police course at Civil Defence Staff College.

Greater Victoria Inter-municipal Committee will hold its first meeting of 1957 Friday at 2 p.m. at City Hall.

Main work of the committee in the past has been setting up of a union library service. At present the Public Library is owned by Victoria and outside municipalities, while they have board members, have no vote on proceedings involving finances.

The proposal was shelved last year in face of heavy legal entanglements.

Tonight at 8:30 at the Art Gallery, a verse play by Rona Murray of Victoria will be presented. This work "My Love Is Dead," whose theme is the poet Chatterton, recently has been accepted for production by the BBC of London.

The author also will discuss the problems of writing a verse play, and Professor Roger Bishop of Victoria and outside municipalities, while they have board members, have no vote on proceedings involving finances.

The program is open to the public.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner will address students of University School during the annual speech day, Saturday.

He speaks at 10:45 a.m., and the school's annual sports meet follows at 2:15 p.m.

The Gordon Head Garden Club meets Monday, June 3, at 8 p.m., in the community hall to see a demonstration of flower arranging given by Mrs. C. J. Freeborn.

City works department will begin repairs to Esquimalt Road within the next month, officials said today.

Wednesday, Victoria West Community Association complained at a severe bump where the street is crossed by E & N Railway tracks. Nearby residents have collected a large number of high caps at that point where the bump jolts them from passing cars.

Results follow of the weekly session of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club which met Tuesday at 902 Government:

North-South—Eric Goodwin and James Duprau; Joe Lukas and Dick Lipsey; Otto Leemann and Bill Chisholm; George Morgan and Bud Waddington.

East-West—Eric and Ida Druce; Madge Meacham and Hildegard Rundquist; Louise Duncan and Lillian Goodwin; Nell Williamson and Anne Kocutyn.

British-American Oil Company wrote City Hall today opposing changes to the fountain roundabout as advocated by a group of Douglas Street merchants. The company pointed out it does not oppose the one-way street plan suggested by traffic expert J. D. Faustman originally, but feels the second plan would damage the business of a B.A. station in the immediate area.

"We strongly oppose the right of council to approve a plan presented by a group of businessmen whose properties are not as close to the situation as ours, without first allowing us to be heard," said B.A. district manager, R. E. Langdon.

Victoria parkmen will start placing 550 hanging baskets on city downtown light standards this weekend. Simultaneously, the night-watering truck will begin its tours to ensure the floral decoration reaches fullest brilliance for the summer season.

Vocal Recital By John Dunbar Friday Night

A vocal recital will be presented by John Dunbar Friday night at Oak Bay Junior High School.

The widely-known Victoria baritone will be assisted by Malcolm Hamilton at the piano and will sing a program of Schumann, Schubert and Roger Quilter songs among other items.

Dunbar's many commitments on the mainland as well as on the island have prevented him from giving a solo recital up to the present, although he has appeared as soloist on numerous occasions, notably with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

By special request he is repeating one of the numbers—Rossini's "Largo al factotum" from "The Barber of Seville"—which he sang on his guest appearance with the symphony last winter.

The concert is being given in aid of the Girl Guide Association and will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets are on sale at Eaton's, Hudson's Bay and Western Music. They will also be available at the door.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Pottery Tea Party Sets
Worthy of Special Guests

By PENNY SAVER

Things for your kitchen are on today's shopping list. Though they are classed as kitchen items, these will look very attractive on your prettiest tea table. Of course, I've found tea server sets in new, adaptable styling. Pottery tea pots with metal cover tops to keep tea hot longer are a lovely shade of yellow. The covers are cream with a cracked overall effect, handpainted with tiny posies. As well as the tea pot, there is a cream jug, sugar bowl and matching serving tray, all with the same cracked surface and flower dotting. The four-piece set is yours for $16.95.

Another set is pink pottery with black enamelled covers on teapots and little pieces. Pink flowers are scattered here and there. This four-piece set of teapot, servers and tray is $14.95. For $10.95 you may buy a striking set of metallic pastel over pottery. It comes in pale yellow, gold, silver, blue or green in sets of four, or, if you wish, five with the hot water jug, for $16.95. All sets have matching trays, making them excellent gifts that will be appreciated.

Really into the kitchen this time, I found rolling pins with hard maple barrels and finished handles in red or green. Excellent quality, and they are selling at an amazingly low price... 79 cents.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Flowers at showers: When a bride-to-be is given showers, I am told that her fiancé's mother has to furnish her with corsages. Is this correct?

Louise Davis answers: No, I can't imagine why or how anyone dreamed this up. Rules on etiquette are logical, but there is no logic in that statement. I have also been asked by many if it is true that the bridegroom-to-be has to furnish a corsage for his fiancée at each party given for her.

That is as illogical as the first one. In the first place, a corsage for the young lady isn't a must at all. She is being honored by a party. If the party is a shower, she is the recipient of gifts. Everyone there knows that she is the honor guest, so why should it be a "rule" that a corsage singles her out as the No. 1 lady? It's very nice, of course, to get one, but don't you think that it is putting it on a little too thick when a fiancée or future mother-in-law has to order flowers for every party? If the bride-elect gets a corsage, it is a thoughtful gesture, and it can be given by anyone at all: the hostess, either mother, fiancée or friend. But it could never be considered thoughtless if the girl gets none. It wouldn't make the young lady unhappy, and surely no one could be considered a piker.

New Babies Given
Layettes Through
F and CS Auxiliary

Miss P. Roberts, nurse-in-charge, Family and Children's Service, gave an outline of her duties at a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the F & CS, held earlier this month at Spencerhouse. The speaker stressed that through efforts of the auxiliary, each new baby, whether of a family in distress or the child of an unmarried mother, was supplied with a layette valued at $25. Auxiliary members later inspected the clinic at Spencerhouse.

Mrs. R. R. Wilde presided and Mrs. R. W. Chereff, chairman of the purchasing committee, reported that 19 baby buggies were donated to the F & CS through a recent appeal to the public.

It was decided to purchase pictures for the group foster home "Seven Oaks" and to provide slip covers for two chesterfields and chairs. It was also announced that through kindness of R. T. Overgaard, the porch and steps at the home will be repainted at a nominal charge.

Letter of thanks was read from a F & CS ward (with only 4 per cent vision) for a crinoline and sweater sent to her as gift. It was voted to send her a selection of summer clothes.

Mrs. E. W. Mackenzie will convene a rummage sale in fall.

Jones, Mrs. J. H. Valiquette, Mrs. W. G. Welbourn, Mrs. W. F. J. Thomas, Mrs. M. N. Elerington and Mrs. H. Palmer.

Miss Jean Roberts entertained at her home on St. Charles Street with a Sunday afternoon shower tea for Miss Mathison. Guests at the party were Mrs. Dorothy Roberts, Mrs. E. Mathison, Mrs. Ruth Vaughan, Mrs. Joseph Ross, Misses Barbara Courtney, Marlene Briggs, Judy Traunweiser, Louanne Traunweiser, Margo Mathison and Karen Mathison.

At the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, guests gathered for luncheon to make a presentation to Miss Mathison. Hostesses were Mrs. Simon Marinker and Mrs. Don Johanson. Other guests were Mrs. Eric Mathison, Mrs. William Brooks, Mrs. E. R. Wylie, Mrs. H. Nordal and Miss Margo Mathison.

Honored at Tea Hour

Provincial archivist, Mr. Willard Ireland, was guest of honor when the executive board of Women's Canadian Club entertained at tea in the Palm Room of the Empress Hotel, Wednesday, following their meeting at which Mr. Ireland was guest speaker. Guests included Mrs. R. D. Harvey, Mrs. P. G. McKee, Mrs. E. Livesey, Mrs. Gordon Wismer, Mrs. L. W. Topham, Miss Jessie Gordon, Mrs. Alex. A. Young, Mrs. D. L. MacDonell, Mrs. H. H. Youson, Mrs. A. G. Slocumb, Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah, Mrs. W. A. MacDonald, Mrs. H. G. Ellis, Miss M. Ashworth, Mrs. E. S. Farr, Dr. Olga Jardine, Mrs. Fred M. Corbett, Mrs. S. H. Frame and Mrs. R. T. Wallace.

Luncheon Party

Commodore P. D. Budge was host at a luncheon in the officers' wardroom in HMCS Naden on Wednesday when guests were members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the June Ball to be held in the gymnasium in HMCS Naden next week.

OFFICERS AND WIVES ENTERTAINED

Red Ensign Backed by IODE

VANCOUVER (CP) — After five days of debate ranging over Canada's social and cultural life, 250 delegates to the 57th annual meeting of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, today return to report to their home chapters across Canada.

At the final session Wednesday a resolution was passed urging calling on the next government to give parliamentary recognition to the Canadian Red Ensign as Canada's official flag.

A resolution proposed by Mrs. W. R. Walton Jr. of Toronto, and carried unanimously said the order realizes fully the time has come when Canada

USE YOUR VOTE

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire called on all Canadians to use their votes in the June 10 federal election "and so protect our democratic way of life."

A resolution passed at the order's 57th annual meeting expressed regret that "many Canadian citizens do not exercise their right to vote" and urged members to go to the polls themselves to use their influence in persuading others in their communities to do so.

Proposing the resolution, Mrs. G. D. Anderson of Halifax said Canadian women in the past have been particularly lax in making use of their franchise.

"We must see that all women get out and vote. We have no right to criticize anything the government does unless we go and vote on what that government is to be," said national president Mrs. L. B. Smart of Toronto.

First vice-president, Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., Toronto; second vice-president, Mrs. Peter L. Robinson, Toronto.

Secretary, Mrs. W. B. Sowrey, Toronto; treasurer, Mrs. J. Neil Gordon, Toronto.

National standard bearer, Mrs. W. J. McCaul, Jr., Halifax. National councillors include: British Columbia, Mrs. A. B. Hall, Nanaimo; Mrs. T. Lumsden, Victoria; Mrs. W. N. Martin, New Westminster; Mrs. A. W. Smith, Victoria; Mrs. J. R. Sprott, Mrs. Frank Stead, Vancouver.

Delegates representing chapters in every province and the Yukon endorsed calls for increased emphasis on the humanities in higher education and more graduates with a liberal education in the nation's political and cultural life.

Prominent among social projects which the order decided to undertake was a scheme for welcoming and assisting the increased number of United Kingdom migrants expected this summer.

Mrs. A. K. Richardson of Toronto was installed as the order's new national president. She succeeds Mrs. L. B. Smart of Toronto. It was decided that the next annual meeting be held May, 1958, in Halifax, and that the 1959 meeting be held in Regina.

Provincial Archivist Tells Why We'll Celebrate Centenary in '58

Provincial archivist, Willard Ireland, gave reasons Wednesday, why 1958 was chosen as British Columbia's centennial year, instead of 1971, hundredth anniversary of B.C. becoming a province of Canada.

Speaking to the Women's Canadian Club in the Empress Hotel, he said:

"The future of this area was envisaged for the first time in 1858, for then the decision to hold British Columbia to the British Crown was made.

"Another reason to celebrate in 1958 is that it marks the hundredth birthday of old Fort Langley, from which the colony of British Columbia was born."

"The year 1858 was a year of transition," he said. "Old fur trade gave way to industrial economy. We literally burst our seams. Victoria became a bustling town with a population increase from 200 to 5,000 in that one year." He continued, "One hundred years ago, the gold rush brought droves of people from California, many of whom realized the potential of the fertile valleys on the mainland, and stayed to settle."

Annual report of treasurer, Mrs. L. W. Topham, showed that total receipts for the year amounted to $3,629.51, while disbursements were $3,182.58. Other reports were given by Mrs. Harvey, president, and Miss Jessie Gordon, secretary.

YEAR OF DECISION

The decision to call the area "British Columbia," and not just "Columbia," was made in 1858, offering more reason for celebrating the centenary next year, according to the archivist.

In short, 1858 was a "year of decision," and amalgamation with eastern provinces to form the Dominion of Canada in 1871

Bringing Up Baby

WIVES COLLECTED BY Mrs. Ben Barker
(MOTHER OF 8)

Well begun is half done; an old saying that applies to modern baby feeding. Doctors add a variety of foods at an early age these days, partly because of the increased nutritive value—variety affords—but also because they know that early acceptance of variety paves the way for future good eating habits.

As a mother, it should be reassuring to know that when you start your baby on Gerber, you can depend on the same brand throughout babyhood. Gerber has a type and variety of food for every baby need. Over 75 varieties of Cereals, Strained and Junior Foods, including Meats.

Spore that creeper. With summer in the offing, the floor makes a cool play area for creepers. But before you let your little wanderer explore on all fours, be sure to safety proof his travelling grounds.

Delicious, nutritious addition to baby's diet—Gerber Strained Egg Yolks. A creamy, custard-like texture and a delicate, fresh-egg flavor make Gerber Egg Yolks particularly palatable to baby. Nourishing, too, because they're rich in iron and vitamin A and a good supplementary source of protein. Important point: Gerber Egg Yolks are heat-sterilized for baby's protection.

Topping attraction. Gerber Egg Yolks give added zest to Gerber Strained Garden Vegetables. Nice touch in a cereal dish, too. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

FAIREY Answers!

Do You Want Deficit Depression Financing?

In the thirties, Canada ran an annual deficit in the national budget to overcome hardship. Diefenbaker has promised so many tax cuts and so much extra spending that he would have an annual deficit of 1.3 BILLION dollars in times of prosperity. Is this a return to the thirties?

Vancouver City Electricians File 48-Hour Strike Notice

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — A strike which could hamper police and fire department communications, traffic lights and city street lighting, is expected Friday.

A 48-hour strike notice was handed in Wednesday by more than 50 of the city electricians, members of Local 213 of the United Electrical Workers. They have received a strike sanction from their union's Washington headquarters.

The men recently rejected a 9.2 per cent wage increase similar to that granted other civic workers.

Art O'Keefe, business agent, said the men "are determined and we're not going to wait any longer for the city to move." The electricians attend traffic lights and street lighting. They also maintain police and fire call boxes and radio systems.

STOLEN GOODS RECOVERED
VANCOUVER—Police recovered more than $1,100 worth of stolen goods in a Wednesday afternoon raid on a south Vancouver garage.

Included in the loot were eight tubeless tires and three cheque writing machines.

FISHERIES APPOINTMENT
VANCOUVER—A University of B.C. civil engineering professor, E. S. Pretious, has accepted an invitation from Fisheries Minister Sinclair to become a member of the fisheries research board of Canada. The five-year appointment commences Jan. 1, 1958.

SIGN CONFORMITY URGED
VANCOUVER—A move to set up standard road signing in B.C.—municipalities and towns conforming with provincial highways—has been started by the North Vancouver Traffic and Safety Council.

The council's request that such standard signs be made available by the B.C. government, was received by Vancouver Traffic and Safety Council at a directors meeting Wednesday.

UNITED FOR 106 YEAR OLD

LADNER — A 106-year-old woman who spent her last 12 years in a wheelchair was buried here Wednesday.

Mrs. N. Anderson died in Seattle.

Born in Pontiac, Que., in 1850, Mrs. Anderson came to Vancouver 30 years ago.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. J. J. Pounder, Ladner, and Mrs. Trevor Kent, Seattle.

HOSPITAL DIRECTORS
KELOWNA—J. I. Monteith and R. P. Walrod were re-elected president and vice-president, respectively, at Wednesday's Kelowna General Hospital board meeting.

Directors also received the resignation of Edith Stocker, director of nursing for 12 years.

The hospital operated at a loss of $1,741 during April, bringing the total deficit to date to $4,908.

IN EATON'S window Friday and Saturday

Take a look at EATON'S big corner window—corner of Douglas and View Streets—Friday and Saturday. There's a chart showing the course, and a tack-by-tack description of the race will be broadcast direct from the window. This "Control Centre" will operate right through Friday night until the race ends (probably Saturday evening). EATON'S and the Royal Victoria Yacht Club team to bring you this as a public service.

For information on progress of the race, phone 5-2545 or 4-5513—Information Centre in Our Number 3 Window!

KIDS!

Come to the Third Floor on Friday and Saturday... in the Children's Wear and Boys' Wear will give you Swiftsure Race Pictures that you can colour.

'Cold Storage' Snapshots Found in Wreck

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Several snapshots buried in a sunken ship in Lake Superior for 29 years have been brought to the surface, almost as good as new.

The pictures were recovered by salvage diver Jack Coghlan, 22, from the purser's cabin of the U.S. passenger ship America, which sank in 1928 after striking a reef near Isle Royale south of here. All passengers and crew were rescued.

The salvage diver recovered the snapshots, most of which belong to the assistant purser of the vessel, Fred S. Nelson of Duluth, Minn. He was aboard the America on her last trip.

The only explanation offered for the staying power of the submerged snapshots is that they were in "cold storage," in a drawer in the purser's cabin of the wreck.

SAM HANKS CAPTURES 500-MILE CAR CLASSIC

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP)—Sam Hanks, a 41-year-old dare-devil driver from California who was runner up last year, won the 500-mile Indianapolis Memorial Day speedway race today.

Setting a new speed record, Hanks led the last 57 laps as he beat out Jim Rathmann of Miami, Fla.

Hanks set a blistering pace of 135.601 MPH, almost 5 miles an hour faster than the record of 130.840 MPH set by Bill Vukovich in 1954.

Jimmy Bryan was third, Paul Russo fourth and Andy Linden fifth.

2 Vancouver Dailies Enter Pooling Deal

New Company Formed;
Province Goes Morning

(See Page 6 for "Financial Highlights")

VANCOUVER (CP)—The publishers of The Sun and Province, Vancouver's only evening dailies, announced today that they will "pool facilities" and The Province will enter the morning field.

The pooling of publishing facilities will be achieved by incorporating a new company that will be jointly and equally owned by the Sun Publishing Co. Ltd. and Southam Co. Ltd., which publishes The Province, the announcement said.

The new company, to be known as Pacific Press Ltd., will own and operate "all buildings, plants, machinery and equipment."

The editorial, circulation and advertising functions will, however, be completely separate. The Sun Publishing Co. Ltd. and the Southam Co. Ltd. will control these departments of The Sun and Province respectively and separately by contract with the new company.

Production Change in Effect June 14

The pooling of production facilities goes into effect June 14. The announcement, signed by A. W. Moscarella, publisher of The Province, and Donald Cromie, publisher of The Sun, said the date of the move of The Province to morning publication will be announced later.

The announcement said the new company, Pacific Press Ltd., will have an eight-member board of directors, four representing The Sun and four representing The Province and the Southam Company.

Staffs of both newspapers will become employees of Pacific Press, which also will negotiate all labor contracts.

"There will be no decrease in the Southern Company's interest in the Vancouver field," said Mr. Moscarella. "In fact, its investment here has been substantially enlarged as a result of a payment of $3,850,000 by the Southern Company to the Sun in the new corporate structure of Pacific Press."

GENERAL MANAGER

Charles Bailey, business manager of The Sun, will become general manager of Pacific Press.

Tory Majority Cut in U.K. Election Win

EDINBURGH, Scotland (Reuters)—The government candidate topped the poll in Wednesday's parliamentary by-election in the Conservative majority constituency of Edinburgh South.

Conservative A. M. Clark-Hughson received 14,421 votes in the election for the Edinburgh South constituency.

His Labor opponent, James Forsyth, polled 9,781 votes and playwright William Douglas Home a Liberal, got 7,439 votes.

The Conservative majority was 4,640 compared with 12,887 in a straight fight with Labor at the 1955 general election.

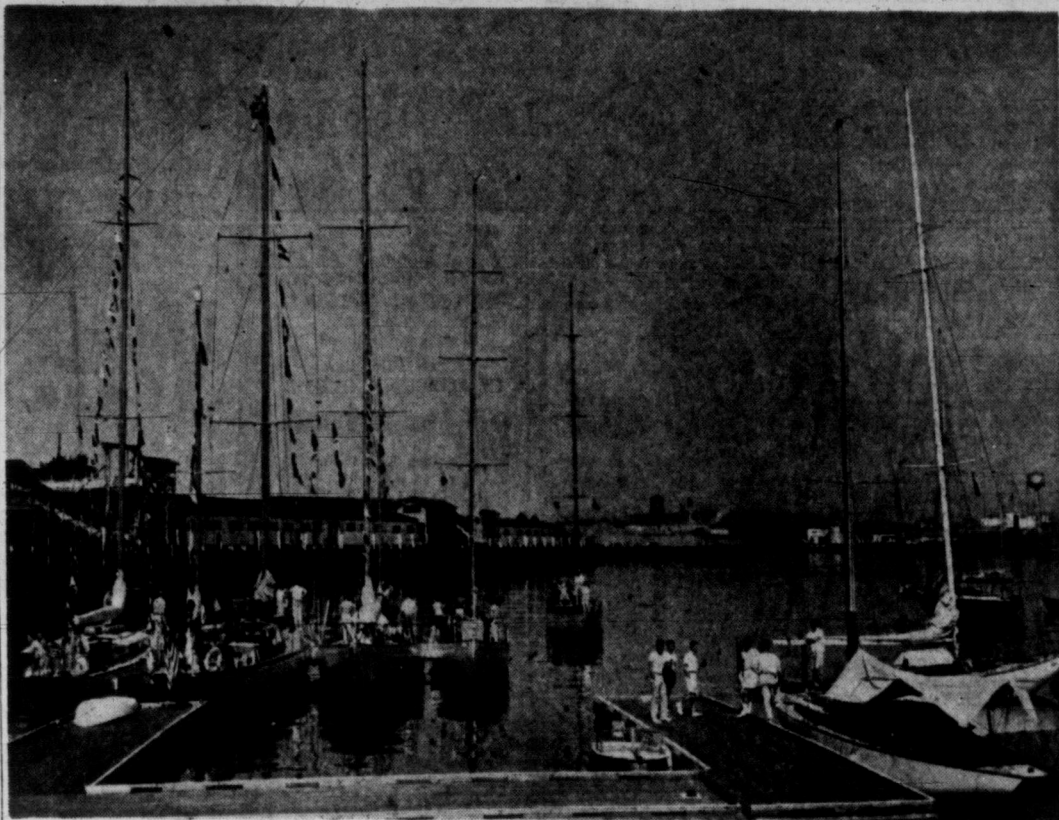

The by-election was caused by the resignation of ill-health of Sir William Darling.

Sunset Ceremony Features Welcome To Ocean Racers

Scorching summer weather, more than 20 degrees above average for this time of year, is expected to draw record crowds to the Causeway this evening, for one of the year's most colorful sunset ceremonies, and the rendezvous of 25 entries in the Swiftsure ocean yacht race.

A burning sun this afternoon was likely to shoot temperatures to at least 80 in sheltered areas. Official mark for 3.30 p.m. was forecast at 78.

The Swiftsure-evening rendezvous will see the pick of the Pacific Northwest's ocean racers, dressed overall in signal flags, ensigns and pennants, anchored in Inner Harbor for an official welcome to Victoria. CPR ships in port are also "dressed" in signal flags.

Arrival of first new-comers this morning was marred by an exceptionally heavy scum of oil and drifting logs, flotsam and jetsam. Dr. R. H. Trythall, R.V.C. vice-commander, asked city public works department to do something to clear up the mess before evening.

But the harbor was gunwale-to-gunwale with visiting yachts before any clearance action could be taken.

Concert By Meistersingers

Sunset ceremonies at the Legislative Buildings will be conducted by 200 men and the band of 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery. Immediately after the ceremonies, the Meistersingers, led by Dudley Wickett, will give a half hour program of sea chanteys from the deck of the schooner Black Dog, honoring the visiting yachtsmen.

The music will be carried over stereophonic sound equipment provided by Alan Macey.

Then Mayor Percy Scourah will officially welcome the yachts, which start the Swiftsure race at 9.30 a.m. Friday, from Brothie Ledge.

Victorians welcomed the unseasonably hot weather with a quick change to cotton dresses for the ladies, gay sports shirts for men.

Lakeside swimming spots were jam-packed Wednesday, and large crowds were expected after working hours today.

Those fortunate enough to have the day off were at beaches early. Sun tan oil sales showed a healthy boom, and swim suits were hot items in clothing stores.

The weatherman forecast more of the same through Friday. Winds today are from the southwest at about 15 miles per hour, swinging to the north Friday, bringing in dry air from B.C.'s interior.

A storm centre heading in from the Pacific is expected to bring a slight temperature drop and occasional showers.

QUEEN TO MAKE COMET FLIGHT

LONDON (UP)—The Queen will make her first flight in a redesigned version of Britain's Comet jet airliner on Tuesday.

The Queen and Prince Philip will fly in a Comet Mark II to visit an RAF fighter base at Leuchars, in the Scottish county of Fife.

The Comet II is a later version of the four-jet airliners which were grounded after early models crashed into the Mediterranean four years ago.

Comets similar to the one in which the Queen will fly are being put into regular transport service with the RAF. A later model, the Mark III, successfully flew around-the-world last year.

SLEEK YACHTS AWAIT SWIFTSURE STARTING GUN

Every inch of jetty space and all mooring buoys in Inner Harbor are taken up today as sleek ocean racers await Friday morning starting gun for Swiftsure

U.K. Expansion Of Red Chinese Trade Irks U.S.

LONDON (UP)—Britain today abolished the special trade embargo on Red China over the protests of the U.S. Washington officials immediately termed the action a violation of the free world's "security interests."

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced in the Commons that Britain would immediately let the Chinese Communists receive any goods now allowed Russia and the eastern European satellites under their separate strategic embargo.

The decision produced the biggest trans-Atlantic policy clash since the Suez invasion.

The United States had been informed in advance but the State Department immediately declared it was "most disappointed."

"The United States believed that the security interests of the free world would be best promoted by the maintenance of a significant differential" between the separate embargoes applied to Red China and the other Communist nations.

In his House of Commons statement Lloyd declared that the board of trade would allow no strategic goods to be exported to the Chinese Communists by British merchants.

Nevertheless, the way was cleared for British machinery and vehicles, among other items, to find a market in Peking for the first time. Some 400 items were banned on the China list. The Russian includes only 200.

BEAT EMBARGO

The Chinese embargo list was agreed upon after start of the Korean War. It is much longer than the list of goods banned in trading with Russia. China got around the embargo in the past by re-buying some items from Moscow.

Japan and Norway, which also attended the Paris trade conference this week, may follow Britain shortly in relaxing restrictions. France also may follow Britain once it ends its cabinet crisis.

Death Penalty Demanded For Britons

CAIRO (Reuters)—The espionage trial of 20 persons, including eight Britons, ended today nine months after the first arrests were made.

The judge said the verdict will be given June 10. The prosecution demanded the death sentence for two of the Britons in court—James Swinburn, 51, Cairo business manager of the Arab News Agency, and James Zarb, 37, a Maltese businessman. The death penalty also was demanded for Briton Alexander Reynolds, tried in absentia, and eight Egyptians.

LITTLE GIRL IN WATER

Her first wonderful, wonderful experience paddling in "open water" is real thrill for 16-month-old Sandra Robertson, 3365 Cedar Hill road at Beaver Lake today. Summer's here with unusually high temperatures of 80 or more expected before day is over.

Jet Collision Over Minneapolis Kills Pilot; 3 Houses Set Afire

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Two U.S. Navy Panther jet planes flying in a Memorial Day tribute to war dead, collided today. One crashed into a parked car and set three houses afire, killing the pilot and injuring at least six persons.

The pilot of the second craft bailed out to safety and his plane plunged into a vacant lot.

The jets, the first two in a four-plane formation, flying over Sunset Memorial cemetery, collided over northeast Minneapolis. More than 1,000 persons gathered in the cemetery witnessed the collision.

Capt. Frank Gill, commanding officer of the World Chamberlain naval air station, said the right wing of the second plane apparently struck the fuselage of the first craft as the jets flew in staggered formation.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Lord of our lives and Sovereign of our spirits, forgive what we have been, and purify what we are and order what we yet shall be. Our times are in Thy gracious hands. Grateful for the past, we trust Thee for the future. Amen.

Semifinalists Named In U.K. Amateur Golf

FORMBY, England (AP)—Harold Ridgely, a 43-year-old U.S. Air Force master sergeant, today reached the semi-finals of the British amateur golf championship, defeating Leslie McCue of Scotland, 7 and 5.

Arthur Walker of South Africa defeated W. J. B. Girardet of England, 4 and 3.

Ried Jack, former Scottish champion, defeated Tony Clark, 8 and 6, and 20-year-old Alan Russell, another Scot, beat John Taylor by the same margin.

7 Die as Rioters Defy Lebanon Ban

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters)—Seven persons were reported killed and 35 injured today when police clashed with demonstrators who defied a government ban on meetings.

Premier Sami Solh ordered the army to take charge of security. The clashes were reported continuing.

The injured included two opposition leaders. A former premier, Saeb Salam, was hit with a rifle butt and needed several stitches in his head. Masim Majdalani suffered a bullet wound in the hand.

The clashes occurred as police tried to disperse the demonstrators on their way to the meeting place in the centre of the city.

Shots were fired and blows exchanged as police tried to break up the demonstration.

The Lebanese cabinet decided Wednesday to ban all political demonstrations likely to disturb the peace. But opposition leaders said they would hold peaceful anti-government demonstrations today.

Solh decided to take a tough line at a cabinet meeting Wednesday night after the opposition had announced it was defying his ban. The opposition claims Solh's civil servants are sabotaging elections scheduled for June 9.

They told the president Monday they would call a strike and peaceful demonstration today if Solh did not make way for an "honest impartial administration" to supervise the elections.

Elections are tougher'n th' Swiftsure—th' alternative 't' winnin' is gittin' sunk.

But on t' other hand, elections are like th' Swiftsure—most o' th' entries end up where they started.

Some o' th' campaign literature'll make mighty interesting readin'—next winter.

ON THE HUSTINGS

Sacred Pension Plank Belittled

Fisheries Minister Sinclair Wednesday night denounced the Social Credit campaign proposal of $100-a-month old age pensions.

Speaking to a meeting of 450 persons at Powell River in his Coast-Capilano riding, Mr. Sinclair likened the pension plank of the Social Credit platform to "another Social Credit promise made in Alberta several years ago—a promise of $25 a month for everyone."

Outlining the position of Canada's economy since the Liberals came to power in 1953, Mr. Sinclair said Canadians have the second highest standard of living in the world, second only to the United States. Also, Canada was fourth highest in the world in foreign trade. The government's attempts to keep down the cost of living have not been popular, Mr. Sinclair said. But had the cost of living soared, that would have been less popular.

The Social Credit promise of $100 a month pensions is a "departure from the truth," Victoria CCF candidate Victor Williams said Wednesday night. "He (Premier Bennett) does not mention the Social Credit means test," Mr. Williams said. "Sixty dollars is all he promises without the means test."

The old-line parties advocate competition, Mr. Williams said, "but actually encourage monopolies such as the B.C. Electric. It is impossible to compete with them in the field of public utilities."

Speaking at a house meeting at 1740 Fort, Mr. Williams said "This is not competition but complete strangulation."

Social Credit has brought a "new outlook" to the Canadian political scene because it favors all sections of the community. Sacred Noel Bell said Wednesday night.

economies (of the pooling) will benefit readers, our companies, employees and advertisers. It will eliminate the waste and duplication caused by publication of two large newspapers in the same evening field."

Both evening papers had their beginnings in weekly newspapers. The Province grew from The Weekly Province in Victoria. The Sun from The B.C. Saturday Sunset.

SWITCH TO DAILY

The Weekly Province was published by Hewitt Bostock. Walter Cameron Nichol was editor. In 1898 they became partners in a new venture, publishing The Daily Province in Vancouver which at that time had a population of 20,000, considerably less than Victoria's 1898 size.

Shortly after the paper became a daily, Mr. Bostock sold his interest to Mr. Nichol, served one term as Liberal member of Parliament for Yale and was appointed to the Senate. He was Senate Speaker when he died in 1930.

Mr. Nichol continued to operate The Province until 1924 when he sold a majority interest to the Southern newspapers. Published reports said the price was nearly $3,500,000. He died in 1928 after serving a term as B.C. lieutenant-governor.

SATURDAY SUNSET
The B.C. Saturday Sunset, the weekly from which The Sun developed, was started in 1907 with founder J. P. McConnell as editor. In the federal election of 1911, every Liberal candidate in B.C. was defeated. Liberal supporters blamed lack of newspaper support and The Saturday Sunset was bought to remedy this situation.

The first edition of the new daily, The Morning Sun, was published Feb. 12, 1912. Its founders were R. S. Ford, F. C. Wade and J. P. McConnell. In 1915 their company, Burrard Publishing Co. failed and a syndicate headed by Mr. Wade took control.

As editor, his writings were credited with defeating the Bowser Conservative government in the 1916 provincial election. However, Mr. Wade incurred personal financial reverses and relinquished control of the paper in 1917 to R. J. Cromie.

AGGRESSIVE POLICY
Mr. Cromie, father of the present publisher, was associated in this venture with J. W. Stewart, engineer, who built portions of the Canadian Northern Railway in B.C. and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. Under Mr. Cromie The Sun adopted aggressive news and sales policies. Circulation climbed.

In 1917 The Sun bought the Vancouver News-Advertiser, eliminating its morning rival and adding 8,000 to its circulation.

End of The News-Advertiser left Vancouver with three dailies. The Sun (morning), The Province (evening) and The World (evening).

BOUGHT OUT WORLD
In 1924 The Sun also bought out The World and its 17,000 circulation for a reported $475,000.

and began publishing morning and evening editions.

Less than three months after Charles Campbell sold The World to The Sun, he started publication of The Evening Star. Six weeks later that paper was bought by Maj. Gen. Victor Odlum.

In 1926 The Sun made a deal with The Star under which The Star became a morning paper, taking over the morning Sun's circulation. The Sun acquired The Star's evening circulation and withdrew from the morning field.

In 1932 The Star became a victim of the depression and ceased publication. Later that year the paper resumed publication as the Vancouver News but in six months it, too, died.

Two weeks later, in the spring of 1933 the Vancouver News-Herald began publication as a co-operative, employees getting small cash salaries plus an interest in the enterprise in the form of stock. Most of those employed had been members of The Star staff.

In 1951 The Sun bought a controlling interest in The News-Herald which it sold in 1952 to the Thompson papers. The morning paper's circulation at that time was 36,800. In 1954 it changed its name to the Vancouver Herald. The Herald this week announced that, rising costs forced it to cease publication June 15.

Tons of metal are waiting

He said since the scrap drive started only a few members have turned up each night to collect the metal.

"Tons of metal are waiting to be picked up," he said. "We need volunteers to do the job or this drive will turn out to be a flop."

He disclosed that about $1,000 worth of metal has been collected so far.

The meeting elected Ira Hill, 3690 McIvor, as president for the year 1957-58. He succeeds Victor Fuggle.

Other officers elected were: Ray Rawnsley, 2650 Dunlevy, and Victor Smith, 847 Carrie, vice-presidents; Don Blair, 85 Burnside Road West, secretary.

'TONS WAITING TO BE PICKED UP'

Jaycees Speed Scrap Drive For $10,000 Mass Strait Swim

Action was taken by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday to speed up their scrap drive to raise $10,000 for the mass swim across the Strait of Juan de Fuca this summer.

Two trucks will be used from today until next Tuesday to pick up tons of scrap from homes in the Greater Victoria area.

In addition, 15 members will turn up each night to assist in collecting the scrap iron.

Jaycees at their annual meeting decided to speed up the drive after they were told by Jim Nicol, chairman of the drive, that unless more volunteers turned up to collect the metal the money making scheme would fail.

He said since the scrap drive started only a few members have turned up each night to collect the metal.

"Tons of metal are waiting to be picked up," he said. "We need volunteers to do the job or this drive will turn out to be a flop."

Bodger

I DON'T feel at all intelligent today. I feel much more like having a bit of fun with Bodger.

And I know that, as a Victorian, you're bound to recognize dear Bodger.

He's not what you'd call an aristocrat of a dog. But he's King of the Buncombes' household. He rules it with a rod of iron, and Major and Mrs. Buncombe are his devoted slaves. In fact, the furnishings of their house, the schedule of their days, are all arranged to suit the whims or Bodger.

You see, there's Bodger's Little Walk in the morning. The Buncombes can't be late with breakfast because Bodger gets impatient if they keep him waiting for his Little Walk. Major Buncombe will even lay aside the foreign news for the sake of Bodger's constitutional.

There's also Bodger's Little Walk at night. Which makes it very difficult to have people in for the evening because Bodger's so used to starting out at just two minutes after eight that he grows restless if the schedule is disrupted.

Not that he's tiresome about it, mind you. He doesn't bark. He simply walks up and down, up and down, rattling his claws on the polished floors until, really, it is so much simpler just to take him out.

Major Buncombe, who was such a stickler for discipline in the army and with his children, is just like putty in the paws of Bodger.

Take, for instance, the matter of Bodger's Basket. Actually, he has two baskets. One is in the kitchen by the stove. The other is in the living room on the right-hand side of the fireplace.

The left-hand side would have been more convenient from the Buncombes' viewpoint, because the radio is on the right. But Bodger, for some unknown reason, preferred the right-hand side. As always, they yielded to him. So now his basket's where he wanted it, and the Major has to lean right over it when he fiddles with the radio.

The Buncombes don't mind that in the least, however. In fact they think it is remarkable of Bodger to have such decided views.

But then Bodger is undoubtedly a dog of habit and decision.

You can see that in the unchanging pattern of his morning walk. He always goes straight down the front path, avoiding the shrubs and flowerbeds. He always pauses at the gate and looks back at Major Buncombe. It's a gesture, really. Because, no matter which way the Major goes, Bodger always turns to the right so he can go to Colonel Whippingstall's forsythia bush.

He's done this every day since the exciting morning when he was still a quite young dog. Mrs. Buncombe was with the Major on that momentous morning.

"Do look at Bodger!" she exclaimed. "Look at what he's learned to do! Dear, wee Bodger. He is growing up!"

So they stood there, silent on the Darlen of the boulevard, and marvelled at Bodger's undoubted progress towards a state of canine adulthood.

In time, of course, Bodger learned to do other grownup things. And now there are more little Bodgers along the Buncombes' street.

But they're not a patch on Bodger. "You'll never be the dog your father is," Mrs. Buncombe said to one of them the other day as she walked down to the bus with her shopping basket.

Yes, that Bodger for you. And the foolish part is that though I'm not wildly hipped on Bodger, I do like the Buncombes.

They're the kind who don't mind laughing at themselves.

Indeed, they often say with cheerful satisfaction, "Of course, we're quite silly over Bodger. Sometimes we even think he runs this house!"

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Vegetarianism

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

When persons ask me if it is safe to be a vegetarian, I have to ask, "What do you mean by vegetarianism? Do you live on nothing but vegetables, fruits, and nuts or do you add eggs and milk and perhaps fish?" The addition of eggs and milk to any diet will help tremendously because this will insure the person an adequate supply of good protein, plus several vitamins. Some of the proteins in cereals, fruits, vegetables, and nuts are not adequate for only reason that people get by eating them is because one food supplements another.

I admire people who can be so high-principled as to deprive themselves all their days of the pleasure of eating the meats which most of us so enjoy, and which are such good sources of the protein that all of us need. Sometimes, however, I am amused what I see a woman vegetarian who tells me that man has no right to kill an animal, and I note that she is wearing shoes made of leather, she is wearing gloves and a belt, and perhaps is wearing a full-length mink coat. Fortunately, consistency is not a common human trait!

A famous dietitian once summed up vegetarianism by saying that one can maintain health on such a diet but to do it successfully one should have more knowledge of dietetics than most persons have. This is particularly true when one is trying to bring up a child on a vegetarian diet. The growing child greatly needs plenty of good protein. Proteins are the essential building-blocks out of which a body is made. I, personally, would fear to bring up a child on a vegetarian diet, even with all my wide knowledge of dietetics.

To show what can happen, one of my classmates in high school was born into a vegetarian family. Although she was thin, she managed to get by until she tackled a strenuous scientific course in college. Then her nutrition failed, and she became tired and weak and unable to work.

Her physician then insisted on her eating meats and poultry and fish, and with this she rapidly gained in weight and strength and lost her old fatigue. After that, she lived into her seventies and never had any trouble.

Dr. Alvarez

So often when I see someone in the office who is psychotic and perhaps, for a time, has had to be shut up in a mental hospital, I will ask if there is any insanity in the family, and the relative who came with the patient will say, "Oh, no there is absolutely no such trouble in our family. Our psychiatrist assures us that this trouble is due purely to the coming to her of some weird sexual ideas when she was a year old."

Later, when I get to know the family, I may learn of two or three relatives of the patient who, although they can be very pleasant, and affable with strangers, at home are definitely psychotic, and perhaps at times a terrible problem to their relatives.

For instance, a woman was just telling me about her mother who at 73 is still active and wide-awake and apparently much younger than her years. She loves to dress well, she enjoys shopping, entertaining company, and travelling; and most people who meet her say afterward, "What a sweet old lady." But at home she has always been a tartar; bad-tempered, difficult, quarrelsome, unpredictable, aggressive, vindictive, and distressing to the people who have to live with her. In her early years, for a while, she was epileptic, and once she had to be committed because she was so violent, and so hostile to the people about her. Later, again, the family had to have her committed for a while.

She has always been complaining about nervous troubles, and taking large amounts of several medicines. She has nearly driven her husband to drink. The family say that he's been remarkably kind to her, always considerate and forgiving, but she accuses him of causing all her troubles, and she scolds him at every turn. Often she ridicules him before people. Sometimes she becomes paranoid and accuses him of stealing things from her and hiding her possessions and deliberately annoying her.

Once when she went to live with her son, she soon picked on him, and started accusing him of doing all sorts of mean little tricks to her which he never did. Although wealthy, the old lady has become close and miserly; she has also become obsessed with religion. Occasionally, she will be induced to move out of one child's home to go to the home of another, but soon she discovers that that child, also, is robbing her or attempting to play dirty tricks on her, and then she departs in wrath.

Man-Made Moon To Look at Sun

Editor's note: The satellites shot off into outer space will tell us a lot about the sun, meteors, cosmic rays and other things, scientists hope. This is the second of three articles on progress in getting the little balls into the air.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world is soon going to get a never-before-seen idea of our life-giving sun, plus a count on how many meteors clutter up space.

The United States plans to to seek out specific new facts about things in space that affect the way we live.

The first one has a window to look at the sun, and microphones to hear and count the thousands of meteors the size of dust specks or grains of sand —or the bigger ones which could endanger future space travellers.

FOUR STUDIES

Instruments for this first satellite are about perfected, a visit to the U.S. naval research laboratory shows. Here the completed satellite balls are being assembled.

So far, four different groups of experiments are planned,

says Dr. Homer E. Newell, science program co-ordinator for Project Vanguard.

Due to weight limits, each satellite can be rigged only for one group of studies. If the first shot fails, an identical moon will be fired again. If that fails, the third shot will be rigged for group two experiments, and so on.

MEASURES RAYS

The group one satellite will have a special window in its shell to look at the sun. It will measure and report the intensity of a particular kind of ultra-violet ray which is soaked up by our own thick atmosphere and never reaches earth.

These rays exert a controlling influence on long-range radio communications on earth, and probably on climate trends, too.

They might be pretty lethal to space travellers.

Space is full of tiny meteors.

One estimate is that 1,000 tons of dust from "shooting stars"

falls on earth daily. The dust perhaps helps ionize or electrify our upper air, could provide

BROADCASTS "HITS"

Four microphones inside the first moon will count these hits, broadcasting the interstellar score back to earth.

Temperatures inside and outside the moon will be measured and reported. The moon will also tell about air density and shape of the earth.

The group two moon will have different devices rigged to count how many cosmic rays it runs into and where. It will store the cosmic ray count on a miniature tape recorder, and broadcast it back to

"Where Quality Costs No More"

U.K. Immigrants Arrive, Vanish

4,000 Believed to Have Arrived Here Since War But Firm Figure Obscure

This is the first of two articles analyzing the trend of immigration from the United Kingdom, the quality and the prospects of the immigrants and their likely impact on their new country.

By TONY DICKASON

This outlying stronghold of the British is having its ivy-rimmed ramparts repaired by approximately 4,000 persons from the United Kingdom, arrived here since the war.

The federal immigration department hasn't a clue how many recent immigrants are in Greater Victoria from the UK, and even available statistics are two years old. But in 1955, 3,500 new UK arrivals were reported for British Columbia which, broken down population-wise, means that at least 350 came to the capital city area.

Extending this over the decade since the war, Greater Victoria has a minimum of 4,000 new British, Scots, Irish and Welsh folk within its environs.

The immigration department seems to know how many Hungarians, Italians and others are about the bays, but with the British—well, the idea seems to be "they are so much like us anyway, who's to be asking?"

Only way of telling numbers of UK immigrants is by point of destination listed on entry forms. People, of course, change their minds about where to go, so even this figure is fallible. Then they arrive, and leave for places elsewhere, and the statistical picture changes again.

Perhaps this is the main reason so little is known about whereabouts of persons from the UK.

Up to 125 Persons Come Each Week

In the Vancouver branch of the department of citizenship and immigration, a top official there said as many as 125 persons a week, originally from the UK, arrive from other Canadian centres.

B.C. seems to be the mecca for the new UK arrivals. Since 1946 B.C. has absorbed at least 45,000 such persons of the near 400,000 that have come to Canada.

This may not look impressive, but B.C. is about as far away from the "tight little island" as one can get, without going to New Guinea. New arrivals filter off en route, the majority going to Ontario.

In Toronto since the war, 200,000 new U.K. accents are apparent.

Another reason locally why Britons are difficult to group is that English, Irish and Scots, and even Welsh, don't adapt readily to Canadianese. Thus, at the National Employment Office here, job seekers could have arrived in Canada 40 years ago rather than since the war, and nobody knows the difference as far as accent is concerned.

While it is apparent U.K. settlers make good citizens, latest available national statistics, which could apply to Victoria also, show that Britons who have acquired citizenship here were only 6.4 per cent of the 1955 total.

Speaking with persons who make it a point to help the new U.K. arrivals, including former MLA Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, of Victoria, who has done this on a voluntary basis since 1943, several facts of interest emerge.

If the male head of the family is under aged 40, he digs in and takes the knocks.

At first the family misses football (soccer), friends with the same accents, small corner stores with personalized service as compared with super-markets, friendly pubs which act as a sort of community ball-bearing, some foodstuffs, dog races and lotteries.

Few Newcomers Arrive 'Loaded'

They arrive with limited money. A pound is a weighty piece of purchasing power in England; here today it's worth about $2.75.

So it just doesn't buy here what it can buy there, and baby, shoes come high.

If the new arrivals can "take it" the first two years, they fit in. If not, they go home. Then, chances are, they want to come back.

It takes a little time to understand and become interested in such things as lacrosse and baseball. Even television humor and presentation is different from the BBC, sometimes better, often worse.

Clothing in Britain and her island satellites is an investment; here clothes are quickly purchased, worn, and jettisoned fast.

New arrivals dislike present

British "cradle to grave" policies which tends to sap initiative. They represent a type of resurgent early pioneer spirit which brought their forefathers to this country.

In other words, new arrivals are here because they are willing to take a risk.

This applies only to the "under 40" group. Older people on U.K. pensions are "frightfully" conservative, to quote one official, and want to live here on their pounds as they did in England.

This cannot be done. They have no capital to risk, and no inclination to stab out for themselves. This makes, certainly, for limited community betterment as their money is good, but it makes also for a disgruntled and critical of Canada attitude.

They are excellent people, but poor Canadians.

Some Keep 'Upper-Crust' Ideas

For instance, the other day a retired British colonel wanted to sell some of his property adjacent to Victoria.

He told the real estate salesman: "Of course, I don't want to sell it to any truck drivers."

The salesman, a decorated former officer, British born but a thorough-going Canadian, told him: "Money is money. Truck drivers are serving a useful purpose in this community. You are trying to grow tulips for your front room, and nothing else. Just forget I ever met you."

That was that.

Arrivals from the U.K. here are generally of the so-called "middle class."

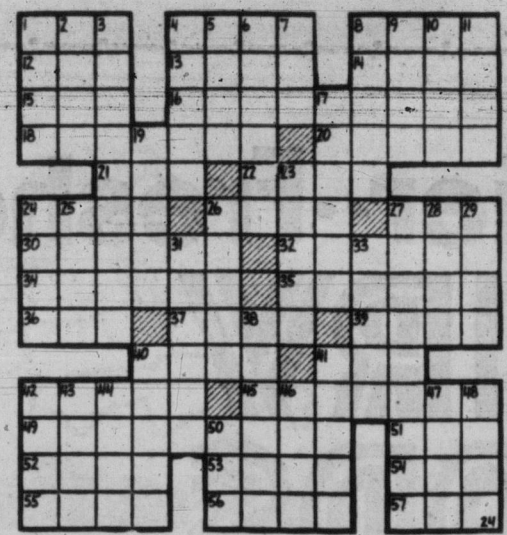

This means clerks, in the broad sense. Government and professional restrictions concerning doctors and the like are tough, so numbers coming in are limited.

The last year for which statistics are available showed 6,000 immigrants to B.C. from all countries, and of this only 800 were professional persons. Broken down, this indicates the segment from the U.K. here is also low in professional people.

Churches here are doing a great deal to help new residents to adjust. Anglicanism is Anglicanism, anywhere in the world, as is Catholicism, or Methodism; this helps immensely.

Then there are the societies. St. Andrews and Calendonians, Burns and Dickens Clubs, and Legion contacts. With the legion over a beer or billiard table, everybody finds they have crossed the path of the other fellow with the cue, somewhere along the fighting line.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by club members and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answers each day receives a 30-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Marcia Bromfield, 9, Dorchester, Mass., for her question.

Why Are Thunderstorms Always on Summer Days?

At this moment, about 1800 thunderstorms are happening somewhere in the world. On an average, 44,000 of them burst forth in scattered places over the earth every year. Most, but not all, of them happen in summer weather. If you lived in the tropical regions of Java or Panama, you could expect 200 thunderstorms to crackle over your head every year. Our Gulf states get between 70 to 90 a year.

It is true that New England and most other land area get their thunderstorms, or most of them, on summer days. But over the oceans, most of them crack down at night and in the winter. In Southland and the Southwest, some of the most violent thunderstorms happen in winter. And in the Midwest they tend to happen on summer nights.

In fact, this helps produce the rich crops of these areas. For rain falling at night has a better chance of seeping into the soil than rain falling during a hot day.

This round-the-world survey seems to show that a thunderstorm can burst forth just where and when it pleases. But this is not so. It can only happen when certain weather conditions in the atmosphere are just right. Two distinct layers of contrasting air are absolutely necessary. The layer of air near the ground must be light and rising. Above it, there must be a layer of much, much cooler air. A steep contrast in the temperatures of the two layers of air is necessary to make things possible for a thunderstorm.

On a summer day in New England, the scorching ground may warm the air above it to 90 degrees or more. But the warmed layer of air near the ground does not pass on its heat to the layer of air above

it. In fact, it cools itself as it expands and rises. The breezes blowing aloft, two or three miles above the ground, may be below freezing point. Such a steep contrast in the temperature of the atmosphere is sufficient to cause a summer day thunderstorm.

In the Midwest, certain weather conditions keep the cool breezes aloft at bay until after sunset. Then the contrast of temperature upstairs builds up and we get a summer night thunderstorm. The ocean holds its summer heat far into the winter. When the sun is not shining, the air high over the ocean loses its heat faster than the air near the warmish water. Here a contrast of temperatures sufficient to produce a thunderstorm builds up on winter nights.

The contrast need not always be between hot and cold. Sometimes it may be between merely cool and bitter cold layers of air. These conditions sometimes happen in midwinter when a layer of cold air from Canada clashes with coollish air flowing up from the Gulf of Mexico. Some of the most violent thunderstorms occur as a result of these huge, winter cold fronts. Whenever the difference in temperature between the lower air and the higher air is steep enough, conditions are right for thunderstorms, be it day or night, winter or summer.

'Stop Nevada Tests' Japanese Demand

TOKYO (AP)—Carrying banners and placards demanding "stop Nevada tests," nearly 100 Japanese university students marched on the American Embassy Wednesday.

Thirty Japanese police stood guard in the embassy driveway but there was no violence.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

Mid-Island Area—The Comox Valley and Discovery Passage "B" Pack and Valley Scouts have invited Scouts from the Nanaimo area to take Third Victoria Troop—Patrol part in the camporee that is to be held next weekend.

The First Courtenay, the Second Comox (RCAF) and the Second Comox patrols who attended the previous camporee walked off with "A" awards showing first class camping and all-round scouting.

The Second Comox (RCAF) troop have received a number of diamond willow staves. They were c for them at Cold Lake, Alta., by FO W. Allsup while he was on temporary duty there. It is hoped that the Scouts will decorate them and make a smart turnout.

The diamond willow is not found on Vancouver Island. It will take a fine polish and is much sought after by Rover Scouts for "thumb sticks."

Lieut.-Col. R. Girard, Victoria district commissioner, attended a meeting of the newly formed group of St. Peter's Mission, Lake Hill, and presented them with their charter.

There are 12 registered Cubs in the pack. The leaders are Mr. and Mrs. R. Jollymore who have recently moved here from Nanaimo where they ran a Cub pack.

Scouts who have obtained their first class badge and have to wait that six-month period before they are allowed to qualify for their Queen's Scout badge should work for their "bushman's" thing."

It is the top insignia of Scout woodcraft and the sign of a real outdoor Scout.

To earn it the Scout must be the holder of the "camper's" badge, and one badge from each of the proficiency groups: (a) naturalist, (b) forester, (c) tracker, (d) stalker, (e) weatherman. Either one of these badges will take the boy along the trail of adventure and he will gain a knowledge and skill of being able to do things for himself and understand some of the wonders of nature.

Your Social Credit Candidate for Victoria

A week ago in Vancouver I noticed a sign in a ground floor office on Howe Street. It read, "Guaranteed Home Mortgages for Sale—9 1/2 per cent interest."

It's about time the Liberals stopped telling us how good they are, and started explaining their policies on some of the main issues, including housing.

To simplify the problem for the Grits and to avoid a lot of double talk, I suggest they start out by answering these questions:

(1) Why has the National Government failed to act to check the eight year inflation in housing costs?

(2) Why is it that the cost of housing has increased by 35 points since 1949 while the overall cost of living has gone up 21 points?

(3) Why is it that home building across Canada so far this year has dropped fifty per cent from last year?

(4) How does the Government plan to house the 200,000 immigrants coming to Canada this year?

(5) What are government plans for the hundreds of thousands of Canadians (25,000 in Vancouver alone) who do not have proper accommodation?

(6) How is it that the Minister of External Affairs is able to arrange $70,000 in mortgage loans for HIS constituency?

The housing debacle—including 9 1/2 per cent mortgages—is one of the reasons why the Liberals are on the way out. It is one of the reasons why they will lose the Victoria seat on June 10.

There is only one practical answer to Canada's housing problem—the Social Credit answer. Long term, low interest loans with low down payments, and an income tax exemption for interest paid on home mortgages.

Hon. Robert Bonner, Attorney-General of British Columbia, will speak at my meeting in S. J. Willis High School at 8 p.m. Friday.

Last of 'Locie Logging' Marked at Big Up-Island Operation

By STUART KEATE
Times Publisher

PORT ALBERNI — "The last of the locies" is headed for the scrap heap.

A colorful era of Vancouver Island logging will be ended Aug. 1, when the last 25 miles of MacMillan and Bloedel railroad track will be torn up and its four remaining steam locomotives replaced by massive trucks.

A farewell visit to the last "locie" stand was paid Wednesday by a party of 75 Vancouver and Island businessmen, headed by company directors H. R. MacMillan and Prentice Bloedel, who together forged one of the world's mightiest logging empires.

With them was Major-General B. M. (Bert) Hoffmeister, chairman of the company, who took the party 45 miles deep into the woods south and east of Port Alberni.

Locomotive 1006, fired by Stan Malachowski, took the party into Franklin River camp and the Nitinat Valley, where remains one of the world's finest stands of virgin timber.

There the visitors were shown the powerful trucks which handle giant fir like sugar-tongs and roll out the logs to tidewater around mountainous gravel roads.

The trucks are replacing the locomotives for two main reasons: They can get at hard-to-reach timber, in remote peaks and valleys, much easier than the railroad; and they reduce the fire hazard, now at its peak because of the sweltering heat.

About 50 men are presently employed on the railroad, but they will be absorbed into other jobs.

Mr. MacMillan, who went along as an observer, said that at one time he had 190 miles of railway track on the island.

Students of island history were recalling that much of this utilized the old McKenzie and Mann Canadian Northern roadbed.

At the time of the First World War, it came within eight miles of linking up Shawigan Lake and Port Alberni, but was abandoned because of the steel shortage and other war pressures.

200-FOOT TIMBER GIANT DIES WITH WAIL OF PROTEST

By STUART KEATE

PORT ALBERNI — Does a giant tree cry when it is toppled?

I was astonished, in witnessing the felling of a 600-year-old fir at Franklin River camp Wednesday, to hear the butt of the tree give out a terrible, wailing moan as the 200-foot giant crashed to the ground.

It sounded like the lament of a tortured soul.

Scarcely believing my ears, I checked with woods foreman Danny Toporowski.

He confirmed my impression.

"That's quite true," he said. "You'll notice what we call 'whiskers' on the butt of the tree."

"The sound is caused by the fibers stretching and pulling as the tree breaks away, leaving the 'whiskers' behind."

Even so, guide Jim Trebett pointed out that the B.C. Forest Products "slash" could be seen from one point of the M. and B. Franklin River show, pointing up the proximity of the Victoria-based operation.

Along the way, the visitors thrilled to the always-fascinating sight of a 200-foot tree being felled.

Under the "clear-cut" system of felling, a pathway 20 feet wide is laid out before-hand to prevent breakage as the tree topples.

Expert woodsmen Jack Richmond and Hugo Simons laid a 600-year-old fir into the cut with pinpoint precision, earning a handshake from Mr. MacMillan and the comment:

"I hate to see 'em going down."

Earlier, the party had seen the last setting of the "skidder," which hauled bundles of logs from a hillside 1,600 feet away with the ease of a child playing with a Meccano set.

The day concluded with a visit to a long-pond where the visitors saw 13 rail-cars dumped in less than 10 minutes.

The giant fir were nudged into the water by a "giraffe," a simple merry-go-round jill-pole system which shortly will be abandoned because of breakage to the logs.

In its place will be a wire cradle which will encircle the logs and lower them gently into the sea.

INFLATION HITS TRAFFIC FINES —$10 LEVY FOR NOT STOPPING

Minimum fines for traffic offences are getting heavier. Magistrate H. C. Hall announced in city police court today new provisions of the revised Motor Vehicles Act puts the minimum fine for passing a stop sign up from $5 to $10, effective immediately.

MONTE ROBERTS

Dear Bill Scott:

Honest, Bill, I am many, many things, and I stand accused of perpetrating many affronts against grammar, syntax, and the English language in general.

But honest, Bill, cross my heart, I am NOT Silenus. Anything but that, Bill. But not THAT.

Which isn't what I was going to talk about today, but I thought I'd better get it straightened out before Bill beats my ears off with his cane (and I suspect it's a sword cane.)

What I was going to talk about today was the current heat wave.

The reason I know it is a heat wave, our heat wave editor says so.

Another reason I know it is a heat wave, is because people are going around and about asking "is it hot enough for you?"

Which has given me an idea for a profitable business. This profitable business would be the printing of cards to be handed to people who ask you "is it hot enough for you."

The cards would be tastefully designed, and would read as follows:

"You call this hot? You don't know what hot is unless you've been in —" (Fill in name of hometown, such as Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Edmonton, etc.)

Which reminds me, you don't know what hot is unless you have been in Winnipeg in August.

Why, I remember one August day we fried eggs on the sidewalk outside the Tribune building.

I admit we were only doing this as a promotion stunt for the newspaper.

But we actually would have eaten the eggs, too. Except we left them on the pavement too long and they became badly burned.

You call this hot? Why, I remember the time... Take it from there.

Sayward Link Feasibility Investigated

Preliminary surveys are under way between Sayward and Port Hardy for possible extension of the Island Highway northward, deputy highways minister Evan Jones said today.

This survey is merely to check the feasibility and cost of a road between the two points, he said.

If such a road is built, it will be by the provincial government and not under forest management schemes, he indicated.

Port Hardy is 56 miles beyond Sayward in a straight line. Completion of the road would make the island's north-south highway close to 300 miles long, and would bring the end of the road to within 40 miles of Cape Scott, at the northern tip of the island.

Another road link nearing completion is that between Campbell River and Tahsis, on the west coast. The Elk River Timber Co. has a camp 15 miles west of Upper Campbell Lake, and within seven miles of a road extended eastward by the Tahsis Company up the Gold River Valley.

It is expected the two companies will agree shortly on construction of the link, which will continue as a private road since the two companies own 95 per cent of the land crossed by the road.

Thieves Get Peanuts, Pop

Thieves who broke into Royal Athletic Park concession stand got peanuts for their trouble.

Police suspect juveniles of entering by means of a door with faulty lock.

Once inside, evidence showed they ate some peanuts, drank a couple of bottles of pop, moved two cases of soft drinks under the grandstand, then left.

Apparently nothing else was disturbed.

The entry took place within the past few days and was reported Wednesday.

'REAL PRIVILEGE'

17 Become Canadians At Ceremony

Seventeen new Canadians today took the oath of allegiance before Judge J. B. Clearhue at the Victoria Courthouse.

One of them was Jan Zach, distinguished Czech-born painter and sculptor, who has resided in Victoria since 1951.

Another, Hendrik Pletier Van Ek from Holland, appeared in court wearing the uniform of the Canadian Navy after being relieved from duty.

Two Chinese — Wong Hing Bing from Czechoslovakia and Ng Yung King from Germany — took the oath through an interpreter.

MANY LANDS

The sun-filled courtroom was crowded as men and women from many lands and many climes took the solemn oath:

"I... swear that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, her heirs and successors, according to the law, and that I will faithfully observe the laws of Canada and fulfill my duties as a Canadian citizen. So help me God."

Each new citizen then kissed the Bible and signed the register before receiving a certificate of nationality from Judge Clearhue.

Earlier, the new Canadians were required, in turn, to recite "to any foreign sovereign or state of which I may at this time be a subject or citizen."

Judge Clearhue formally welcomed the new Canadians, emphasizing that Canada is now an independent nation, but with membership in the British Commonwealth and the United Nations.

"It is a real privilege to be a Canadian and it gives you freedom of religion, freedom of thought and action and the right to vote if you so choose."

After the swearing-in ceremony, the new citizens were received by representatives of the Citizenship Council, Men's Canadian Club, Alliance Francaise, Canadian Association of Social Workers, Retired Civil Servants Association, the IOOE, Business and Professional Women's Club, the Chamber of Commerce, University Women's Club, Sons of Norway, YMCA, Native Sons of B.C., Local Council of Women and the Lake Hill Women's Institute.

SAMARITAN GETS STUCK WITH TICKET

Trying to be a good Samaritan only got Herbert J. Calder, 448 Grafton, into trouble early this morning.

He was at 334 Dallas at about 12:30 a.m. when Gerald C. Shepherd, 49, 1332, Enlayson, came to the house for help, his head streaming blood from a scalp laceration.

Calder put the injured man in his car and started for St. Joseph's Hospital emergency. En route his car was in collision with one driven by Charles A. Atkinson, 2769 Cedar Hill at Government and Superior.

Police attended and took Shepherd to hospital believing he was injured in the collision.

Twenty stitches were required to close the head wound, cause of which is unknown, and Shepherd was admitted for treatment. His condition today was reported to be good.

Calder, however, was summoned for passing a stop sign.

Youth Can't Drink, Drive For One Year

A Duncan juvenile who stole a car, wrecked it and went to hospital with a brain concussion last month, was given a suspended sentence in city police court today and forbidden to drink or drive for 12 months.

James Winston Cook, 17, was transferred from juvenile court to open police court when charged with auto theft after his release from hospital.

He was placed on $500 bond for good behavior and ordered to report to a probation officer twice monthly for six months, and monthly for another six months.

Court was told Cook took a car from downtown Victoria April 28 and drove it to Duncan, where the reported stolen car was spotted by RCMP.

SPED AWAY

A patrol car stopped Cook, but as the constable approached, Cook sped away and in trying to elude the pursuing police car missed a sharp turn and plunged the stolen car into a ravine.

Defence lawyer Lloyd McKenzie said Cook had been the victim of a number of misfortunes since early in life, including the loss of his father and subsequent family break-up.

$50,000 Program To Improve Lake

Start of a $50,000 development program at Thetis Lake park was announced at City Hall today.

Tenders will be called immediately for clean-sweep logging of an 82-acre panhandle in a remote back-area of the park. Sale of the lumber will finance the development program which started this week and includes:

Construction of a new camp area for tents and trailers with a piped-in water and toilet facilities.

Repairs to existing diving floats.

Parks Chief Oversees Project

The development program follows on the heels of council decision to permit city parks administrator W. H. Warren to assume part responsibility for the area.

In the past, the park, as a watershed, has been under jurisdiction of the public works department. Mr. Warren is overseeing the new program.

Council had approved the logging project last November, but calling of tenders was delayed in view of a drop in log market prices. It is understood although the market has not altered appreciably, the parks committee has launched the plan in hopes the first revenues will be sufficient to pay for the whole project.

Council earlier approved a plan for selective logging of other back areas of the park, 811 acres in size. A 729-acre section has been marked where no logging will be considered.

There are no plans to begin the selective logging program at present.

Ald. G. I. Edgelow maintains the new development program is the most enterprising to be undertaken in 20 years.

The parks chairman said city engineer J. C. Garnett was to be congratulated for aiding the development.

Council is not expected to object to the proposal for a small sanitary landfill. Permission for a landfill in the park was approved once last year, although never carried out.

ELECTION MEETINGS

Campaign meetings tonight: Waldo Skillings, Social Credit candidate in Victoria, with Recreation Minister Earle Westwood, at Oak Bay Junior High.

Dr. F. T. Fairley, Liberal, Victoria, at Carnarvon Church Hall, 2938 Eastdowne.

Noel Bell, Social Credit, Esquimalt-Saanich, St. Andrew's Hall, Sidney.

Mr. J. M. Thomas, CCF, Esquimalt-Saanich, Sooke Community Hall.

Victor Williams, CCF, Victoria, at 138 Robertson.

Victoria Firm Wins Contract At Ash River

Contract for construction of the power house and switchyard at the Ash River hydroelectric development near Port Alberni has been awarded Farmer Construction (VI) Ltd. of Victoria, B.C. Power Commission said today.

Farmer Construction was low bidder on the job. Contract price is $739,808.

The 35,000-horsepower generating station will be built on the north shore of Great Central Lake. Contracts have been awarded for the construction of a tunnel for the diversion of water from Ash River and Elsie Lake for the supply of penstocks and tenders have been called for earth dams and tunnel intakes.

George Farmer, firm president, said today that preparations for the work are in hand, and it is planned to start construction next week.

The $12,000,000 project is the first stage in a plan for comprehensive development of hydroelectric potential in the Somass River system.

B.C. Power Commission crews are busy in the area on a $250,000 program of road building for construction access.

Wharfside Restaurant Planned Here

A new smorgasbord and seafood restaurant known as The Net Loft will open at Fletcher's Wharf, near the British America Paint Co. off Montreal Street, this summer.

The enterprise is sponsored by Stan Booker, head of Alberta Caterers Ltd., which operates the Viking Smorgasbord restaurant at Edmonton.

Mr. Booker has taken over a building formerly used by B.C. Packers, Ltd., and structural alterations will be carried out within the next few weeks.

"We have had quite a success with this type of restaurant in Edmonton," Mr. Booker, an immigrant from London, England, said today.

"We shall introduce a number of novelties, with lots of fishing gear on view, and the smorgasbord table will be in the form of a fisherman's drifter."

The forest fire picture in B.C. continued to be good today despite the hot weather, forest officials reported.

On Vancouver Island three small fires are burning, at Langford, Lake Cowichan and Campbell River, and all are under control.

Biggest source of trouble in the past 24 hours has been the PGE railroad, with 96 fires breaking out along the right-of-way. Railwaymen patrolling the line extinguished 94.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me what the Bagdad Pact is? We so often see references to this agreement, and perhaps many readers besides myself would be grateful to know just what it is. F.W.K.

A.—The Middle East Treaty Organization (known as Meeto) and the Bagdad Pact, was formed November 21-22, 1935, in Bagdad, Iraq, by Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, Turkey and Great Britain. The United States sent official observers but did not join. The members agreed to co-operate in political, military and economic fields to avoid any threat to their common interests. They formed a ministerial council composed of the foreign minister of Iraq and the ambassadors to Iraq of the other four nations, and co-ordinated defence policies through the chiefs of staff via deputies. The United States was to have observers in all except the economic departments. Jordan was invited but refused to join. Criticism of the pact was expressed by President Nasser of Egypt and President Tugay of Yugoslavia. Premier Bulganin of the Soviet Union denounced the pact December 25, 1955, calling it "colonialism in a new form. President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden endorsed the aims of the pact February 1, 1956.

NEW PRESIDENT, Greater Victoria Teachers' Association is Cary Goulson, Victoria High School social studies instructor. Also in elections Wednesday night, Walter Boyes, Lansdowne, JHS, was named vice-president; Miss K. Thompson, secretary, Miss Norma Ross, assistant secretary, Mrs. G. Welsh, treasurer, Walter Kitley, chairman, salary committee, and Ross Simms, public relations officer.

The B.C. Government Employees Association, now preparing the first strike vote in its 14-year history, has taken on another full-time employee.

He is John Murrell, a former president who is quitting the government service to become a salaried organization director for the association. His appointment is effective June 1.

Meanwhile, the staff of three girls and three men at the association's Vancouver headquarters this week began organizing the strike vote among the 10,600 members.

The ballots are expected to be in the mail in about 10 days.

When the strike vote was decided upon at a meeting in Vancouver Friday night, the way was left open for another meeting with the provincial cabinet.

An association spokesman said today, however, there is little indication of a change of heart by the government and the vote will go ahead as scheduled.

Victoria branch of the association will meet in the Douglas Building cafeteria tonight to discuss the whole issue. Assistant general secretary A. C. Bennett from the Vancouver office will be on hand.

When the strike vote was decided upon at a meeting in Vancouver Friday night, the way was left open for another meeting with the provincial cabinet.

An association spokesman said today, however, there is little indication of a change of heart by the government and the vote will go ahead as scheduled.

Victoria branch of the association will meet in the Douglas Building cafeteria tonight to discuss the whole issue. Assistant general secretary A. C. Bennett from the Vancouver office will be on hand.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Pottery Tea Party Sets
Worthy of Special Guests
By PENNY SAVER

Things for your kitchen are on today's shopping list. Though they are classed as kitchen items, these will look very attractive on your prettiest tea table. Of course, I've found tea server sets in new, adaptable styling. Pottery tea pots with metal cover tops to keep tea hot longer are a lovely shade of yellow. The covers are cream with a crackled overall effect, handpainted with tiny posies. As well as the tea pot, there is a cream jug, sugar bowl and matching serving tray, all with the same crackled surface and flower dotting. The four-piece set is yours for $16.95.

Another set is pink pottery with black enameled covers on teapots and little pieces. Pink flowers are scattered here and there. This four-piece set of teapot, servers and tray is $14.95. For $10.95 you may buy a striking set of metallic pastel over pottery. It comes in pale yellow, gold, silver, blue or green in sets of four, or, if you wish, five with the hot water jug, for $15.95. All sets have matching trays, making them excellent gifts that will be appreciated.

Really into the kitchen this time, I found rolling pins with hard dog ashrays will keep guests' maple barrels and finished handles in red or green. Excellent quality, pink, tan, chartreuse and blue, and they are selling at an amazingly low price... 79 cents.

Ashrays, designed especially for shopping, just call me at 2-3131.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Flowers at showers:

When a bride-to-be is given a shower, I am told, that her fiancé's mother has to furnish her with corsages. Is this correct?

Louise Davis answers:

No. I can't imagine why or how anyone dreamed this up. Rules on etiquette are logical, but there is no logic in that statement. I have also been asked by many if it is true that the bridegroom-to-be has to furnish a corsage for his fiancée at each party given for her. That is as illogical as the first one. In the first place, a corsage for the young lady isn't a must at all. She is being honored with a party. If the party is a shower, she is the recipient of gifts. Everyone there knows that she is the honor guest, so why should it be a "rule" that a corsage singles her out as the No. 1 lady? It's very nice, of course, to get one, but don't you think that it is putting it on a little too thick when a fiancée or future mother-in-law has to order flowers for every party? If the bride-elect gets a corsage, it is a thoughtful gesture, and it can be given by anyone at all: the hostess, either mother, fiancée or friend. But it could never be considered thoughtless if the girl gets none. It wouldn't make the young lady unhappy, and surely no one could be considered a piker.

New Babies Given
Layettees Through
F and CS Auxiliary

Miss P. Roberts, nurse-in-charge, Family and Children's Service, gave an outline of her duties at a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the F & CS, held earlier this month at Spencerhouse. The speaker stressed that through efforts of the auxiliary, each new baby, whether of a family in distress or the child of an unmarried mother, was supplied with a layette valued at $25. Auxiliary members later inspected the clinic at Spencerhouse.

Mrs. R. R. Wilde presided and Mrs. R. W. Chertoff, chairman of the purchasing committee, reported that 19 baby bugles were donated to the F & CS through a recent appeal to the public.

It was decided to purchase pictures for the group foster home "Seven Oaks" and to provide slip covers for two chesterfields and chairs. It was also announced that through kindness of R. T. Overgaard, the porch and steps at the home will be repainted at a nominal charge.

Letter of thanks was read from a F & CS ward (with only 4 per cent vision) for a crinoline and sweater sent to her as gift. It was voted to send her a selection of summer clothes.

Mrs. E. W. Mackenzie will convene a rummage sale in fall.

Second Shot in Atom Tests Called Off

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The second shot in the United States summer atomic tests was called off today because of unfavorable winds.

A spokesman said the winds would have carried light "but unacceptable fallout over nearby Alamo, Nev."

Atom Sub Breaks Own Distance Record

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The world's first atomic powered submarine broke its own long-distance underwater record in travelling from New London, Conn., to San Diego, Capt. Eugene Wilkinson reveals. The Nautilus travelled submerged 3,049 miles, all the way from Panama to Point Loma here. The sub's previous underwater record was 2,000 miles.

Madrid Wins European Soccer Crown

MADRID (AP)—Real Madrid renewed her title as champion of Europe today, defeating Fiorentina of Italy 2-0 in the final of the Europe Cup championship before 140,000 spectators in Chamartin Stadium.

Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish chief of state, presented the cup to the Madrid captain, right half Miguel Munoz.

England All Out, 186 Against W. Indies

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (AP)—Sonny Ramadhin, the West Indian wizard of spin, puzzled and bewildered England in the first cricket test match today and bowled his team into a strong position at the end of the first day.

England was all out for 186 after four hours' play. Ramadhin was the man behind the rout. He finished with seven for 49, his best performance in a test match.

Accused Paid Slain Man's Policy

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta Supreme Court was told today that James Stanley Kempster paid the last two premiums on life insurance policies held by murder victim Lewis Lloyd 19 days before the slaying.

Kempster, 24, of Vancouver is charged with the bullet-slaying of Lloyd on a rural road southwest of Edmonton last June 24. His trial started Monday.

Mrs. Mary Kehler, cashier in an insurance company office in South Burnaby, testified that Kempster entered the office with Lloyd's widow "around the end of June" to make claim on Lloyd's two policies.

New U.S. Treasurer Quits Ventures

TORONTO (BUP)—The man who will take over as the new United States Secretary of the Treasury—Robert B. Anderson—resigned today in Toronto as president of Ventures Limited.

The firm is one of Canada's major mining development companies with offices in New York. Anderson handed in his resignation to help him clear the way to take over the U.S. government post.

PGE Buys Six More Passenger Cars

VANCOUVER (CP)—The purchase of six extra passenger cars was announced today by the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

The 72-passenger cars have been bought from the Milwaukee Railroad.

Reason for the purchase was increased traffic on the railway, particularly between North Vancouver and Squamish, executive vice-president Einar M. Gunderson said.

The new cars will be put into service in two or three weeks.

Dailies Enter Pooling DealNew Company Formed;
Province Goes Morning

(See Page 6 for "Financial Highlights")

VANCOUVER (CP)—The publishers of The Sun and Province, Vancouver's only evening dailies, announced today that they will "pool their newspaper publishing facilities" and The Province will enter the morning field.

"The pooling of publishing facilities will be achieved by incorporating a new company that will be jointly and equally owned" by the Sun Publishing Co. Ltd. and Southam Co., which publishes The Province, the announcement said.

The new company, to be known as Pacific Press Ltd., will own and operate "all buildings, plants, machinery and equipment."

"The editorial, circulation and advertising functions will, however, be completely separate. The Sun Publishing Co. Ltd. and the Southam Co. will control these departments of The Sun and Province respectively and separately by contract with the new company."

Editor and Publisher Year Book for 1957 lists The Sun's circulation as 191,031 and The Province's as 120,414. Both are certified by the Audit Bureau of Circulation.

Today's announcement was the second this week concerning Vancouver's daily newspapers.

Tuesday night, the morning Herald announced it would cease publication June 15.

The paper, one of the Thomson Co. group of dailies in Canada, Florida and Scotland, attributed the decision to economic pressure and rising costs despite increased circulation.

The last ABC report placed The Herald's circulation at 33,413.

Under their new operation set-up, The Sun and Province will establish their own advertising and circulation rates and conduct their own promotional activities.

Charles Bailey, business manager of The Sun, will become general manager of Pacific Press.

Mr. Moscarella, publisher of The Province, has been appointed the paper's assistant publisher, also continuing as editor.

A new office building and enlarged production facilities are planned at the site of The Sun's

Production Change in Effect June 14

The pooling of production facilities goes into effect June 14. The announcement, signed by A. W. Moscarella, publisher of The Province, and Donald Cromie, publisher of The Sun, said the date of the move of The Province to morning publication will be announced later.

The announcement said the new company, Pacific Press Ltd., will have an eight-member board of directors, four representing The Sun and four representing the Southam Company.

Staffs of both newspapers will become employees of Pacific Press, which also will negotiate all labor contracts.

"There will be no decrease in the Southam Company's interest in the Vancouver field," said Mr. Moscarella. "In fact, its investment here has been substantially enlarged as a result of a payment of $3,850,000 by the Southam Company to The Sun in the new corporate structure of Pacific Press."

U.S. HOLIDAY DEATHS
HIT 42 IN 18 HOURS

CHICAGO (AP)—At least 42 persons died in the first 18 hours of the United States Memorial Day holiday, an Associated Press survey shows. The survey started at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and ends midnight tonight.

The count showed 34 traffic deaths, two drownings and six listed as miscellaneous.

Jet Collision Kills
Pilot; 3 Houses Afire

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Two U.S. Navy Panther jet planes flying in a Memorial Day tribute to war dead, collided today. One crashed into a parked car and set three houses afire, killing the pilot and injuring at least six persons.

The pilot of the second craft bailed out to safety and his plane plunged into a vacant lot.

The jets, the first two in a four-plane formation flying over Sunset Memorial cemetery, collided over northeast Minneapolis. More than 1,000 persons gathered in the cemetery witnessed the collision.

Capt. Frank Gill, commanding officer of the Wold Chamberlain naval air station, said the right wing of the second plane apparently struck the fuselage of the first craft as the jets flew in staggered formation.

QUEEN TO MAKE COMET FLIGHT

LONDON (UP)—The Queen will make her first flight in a redesigned version of Britain's Comet jet airliner on Tuesday.

The Queen and Prince Philip will fly in a Comet Mark II to visit an RAF fighter base at Leuchars, in the Scottish county of Fife.

The Comet II is a later version of the four-jet airliners which were grounded, after early models crashed into the Mediterranean four years ago.

Comets similar to the one in which the Queen will fly are being put into regular transport service with the RAF. A later model, the Mark III, successfully flew around the world last year.

Semifinalists Named In U.K. Amateur Golf

FORMBY, England (AP)—Harold Ridgeley, a 43-year-old U.S. Air Force master sergeant, today reached the semi-finals of the British amateur golf championship, defeating Leslie McCue of Scotland, 7 and 5.

Arthur Walker of South Africa defeated W. J. B. Girardet of England, 4 and 3.

Ried Jack, former Scottish champion, defeated Tony Slark, 8 and 6, and 20-year-old Alan Russell, another Scot, beat John Taylor by the same margin.

42-Year-Old Sets
Mark of 135 MPH

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Lean, greying Sam Hanks, dean of the Indianapolis Speedway drivers, smashed the race record and drove the rest of the field into the brick today to win the 41st running of the 500-mile auto race.

The blistering pace of 135.601 miles an hour Hanks set ranged three to four miles an hour faster than the old 1954 and 1955 records at every milestone from 50 miles on.

Hanks' victory speed was almost five miles an hour faster than the 130.840 miles per hour record set by the late Bill Vukovich in winning the 1954 race.

Two-car duel

Handsome Sam, who had been trying to win auto racing's biggest prize since 1940, out-gunned Jim Rathmann in the last stages of what proved to be a two-car race.

The veteran Californian, who had finished second last year and third in 1952 and 1953, set the record-breaking speed at lap marks around 140 miles an hour, close to time trial levels.

He was big ear racing champion in 1953 and champion of midge car racing in 1941 and 1949.

Rathmann, his closest pursuer through most of the race, is a veteran of 28, whose best showing in eight starts here was second place in 1952.

Hanks, a former air force test pilot from Pacific Palisades, Calif., set his record in a radically different new Belong special. The engine lay on its side.

The 42-year-old Hanks started in 13th place and moved up steadily to take full charge for the last 165 miles.

Jimmy Bryan, the 1956 national champion, finished third. Paul Russo, who crashed while leading last year's race and was an early leader this time, took fourth money in his Novi. Andy Linden, who was driving at a fantastic 143 miles an hour late in the race wound up in fifth place.

The race was run without a serious injury, although there were four spectacular accidents during competition and one that eliminated two cars before the race even started.

Elmer George and Eddie Russo bumped on an uncounted, paced lap before the start.

During the race Jimmy Daywalt and Al Keller hit the wall and both walked away from their cars.

Rookie Mike Magill of Hadonfield, N.J., suffered a back injury, reported not serious, when his car bumped into a front straight-away wall.

Al Herman, who wrecked near the same spot in last year's race, came around the turn and hit Magill's wreckage, but he was not hurt.

SUNSET CEREMONY HIGHLIGHT

Big Show Tonight On Swiftsure Eve

Scorching summer weather, more than 20 degrees above average for this time of year, is expected to draw record crowds to the Causeway this evening, for one of the year's most colorful sunset ceremonies, and the rendezvous of 25 entries in the Swiftsure ocean yacht race.

A burning sun this afternoon was likely to shoot temperatures to at least 80 in sheltered areas. Official mark for 3.30 p.m. was forecast at 78.

The Swiftsure-eve rendezvous will see the pick of the Pacific Northwest's ocean racers, dressed overall in signal flags, ensigns and pennants, anchored in Inner Harbor for an official welcome to Victoria. CPR ships in port are also "dressed" in signal flags.

Arrival of first new-comers this morning was marked by an exceptionally heavy scum of oil and drifting logs, flotsam and jetsam. Dr. R. H. Trythall, RVYC vice-commander, asked city public works department to do something to clear up the mess before evening.

But the harbor was gunwale-to-gunwale with visiting yachts before any clearance action could be taken.

Sunset ceremonies at the Legislative Buildings will be conducted by 200 men and the band of 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, immediately after the ceremonies, the Meistersingers, led by Dudley Wickert, will give a half hour program of sea chanteys from the deck of the schooner Black Dog, honoring the visiting yachtsmen.

The music will be carried over stereophonic sound equipment provided by Alan Macey.

Then Mayor Percy Scurrell will officially welcome the yachts, which start the Swiftsure race at 9.30 a.m. Friday, from Brothie Ledge.

Victorians welcomed the unseasonably hot weather with a

Sacred Pension Plank Belittled

Fisheries Minister Sinclair Wednesday night denounced the Social Credit campaign proposal of $100-a-month old age pensions.

Speaking to a meeting of 450 persons at Powell River in his Coast-Capilano riding, Mr. Sinclair likened the pension plank of the Social Credit platform to "another Social Credit promise made in Alberta several years ago—a promise of $25 a month for everyone."

Outlining the position of Canada's economy since the Liberals came to power in 1935, Mr. Sinclair said Canadians have the second highest standard of living in the world, second only to the United States. Also, Canada was fourth highest in the world in foreign trade.

The government's attempts to keep down the cost of living have not been popular, Mr. Sinclair said. But had the cost of living soared, that would have been less popular.

The Social Credit promise of $100 a month pensions is a "departure from the truth," Victoria CCF candidate Victor Williams said Wednesday night. "He (Premier Bennett) does not mention the Social Credit means test," Mr. Williams said. "Sixty dollars is all he promises without the means test."

The old-line parties advocate competition, Mr. Williams said, "but actually encourage monopolies such as the B.C. Electric. It is impossible to compete with them in the field of public utilities."

Speaking at a house meeting at 1740 Fort, Mr. Williams said "This is not competition but complete strangulation."

Social Credit has brought a "new outlook" to the Canadian political scene because it favors all sections of the community. Sacred Noel Bell said Wednesday night.

U.K. Expansion Of Red Chinese Trade Irks U.S.
 LONDON (UP)—Britain today abolished the special trade embargo on Red China over the protests of the U.S. Washington officials immediately termed the action a violation of the free world's "security interests."

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced in the Commons that Britain would immediately let the Chinese Communists receive any goods now allowed Russia and the eastern European satellites under their separate strategic embargo.

The decision produced the biggest trans-Atlantic policy clash since the Suez invasion. The United States had been informed in advance but the State Department immediately declared it was "most disappointed."

"The United States believed that the security interests of the free world would be best promoted by the maintenance of a significant differential" between the separate embargoes applied to Red China and the other Communist nations.

In his House of Commons statement Lloyd declared that the board of trade would allow no strategic goods to be exported to the Chinese Communists by British merchants.

Nevertheless, the way was cleared for British machinery and vehicles, among other items, to find a market in Peiping for the first time. Some 400 items were banned on the China list. The Russian includes only 200.

BEAT EMBARGO
 The Chinese embargo list was agreed upon after start of the Korean War. It is much longer than the list of goods banned in trading with Russia. China got around the embargo in the past by re-buying some items from Moscow.

Japan and Norway, which also attended the Paris trade conference this week, may follow Britain shortly in relaxing restrictions. France also may follow Britain once it ends its cabinet crisis.

The trade with Red China was not expected to reach to the level of years gone by, but British traders said China was particularly anxious to buy machinery and automobiles.

Britain first asked the U.S. about the trade embargo during the Bermuda talks between Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Eisenhower. London sources noted a strong lobbying campaign among British business circles since has increased its pressure.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada regrets that there has been division between Britain and the United States concerning trade with Communist China, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Canada and other countries in the North Atlantic alliance had sought means whereby agreement could be reached among all NATO members on trade with Communist China.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced in the Commons that Britain would immediately let the Chinese Communists receive any goods now allowed Russia and the eastern European satellites under their separate strategic embargo.

The decision produced the biggest trans-Atlantic policy clash since the Suez invasion. The United States had been informed in advance but the State Department immediately declared it was "most disappointed."

"The United States believed that the security interests of the free world would be best promoted by the maintenance of a significant differential" between the separate embargoes applied to Red China and the other Communist nations.

In his House of Commons statement Lloyd declared that the board of trade would allow no strategic goods to be exported to the Chinese Communists by British merchants.

Nevertheless, the way was cleared for British machinery and vehicles, among other items, to find a market in Peiping for the first time. Some 400 items were banned on the China list. The Russian includes only 200.

BEAT EMBARGO
 The Chinese embargo list was agreed upon after start of the Korean War. It is much longer than the list of goods banned in trading with Russia. China got around the embargo in the past by re-buying some items from Moscow.

Japan and Norway, which also attended the Paris trade conference this week, may follow Britain shortly in relaxing restrictions. France also may follow Britain once it ends its cabinet crisis.

The trade with Red China was not expected to reach to the level of years gone by, but British traders said China was particularly anxious to buy machinery and automobiles.

Britain first asked the U.S. about the trade embargo during the Bermuda talks between Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Eisenhower. London sources noted a strong lobbying campaign among British business circles since has increased its pressure.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada regrets that there has been division between Britain and the United States concerning trade with Communist China, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said Canada and other countries in the North Atlantic alliance had sought means whereby agreement could be reached among all NATO members on trade with Communist China.

7 Die as Rioters Defy Lebanon Ban

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters)—Seven persons were reported killed and 35 injured today when police clashed with demonstrators who defied a government ban on meetings.

Premier Sami Solh ordered the army to take charge of security. The clashes were reported continuing.

The injured included two opposition leaders. A former premier, Saeb Salam, was hit with a rifle butt and needed several stitches in his head. Masim Majdalani suffered a bullet wound in the hand.

The clashes occurred as police tried to disperse the demonstrators on their way to the meeting place in the centre of the city.

Shots were fired and blows exchanged as police tried to break up the demonstration. The Lebanese cabinet decided Wednesday to ban all political demonstrations likely to disturb the peace. But opposition leaders said they would hold peaceful anti-government demonstrations today.

Solh decided to take a tough line at a cabinet meeting Wednesday night after the opposition had announced it was defying his ban. The opposition claims Solh's civil servants are sabotaging elections scheduled for June 9.

They told the president Monday they would call a strike and peaceful demonstration today if Solh did not make way for an "honest, impartial administration" to supervise the elections.

NEWSPAPERS

present press and mechanical building at Georgia and Beatty Streets.

It was expected to take upwards of three years to plan and construct the new building. When this was completed the present Sun and Province buildings would be sold.

Mr. Cromie said both papers had been planning individual new plants which would have cost $18,000,000 and would have resulted in the papers "fighting for a market that should sustain only about half that much capital and attendant operating costs."

"We believe that resulting economies (of the pooling) will benefit readers, our companies, employees and advertisers. It will eliminate the waste and duplication caused by publication of two large newspapers in the same evening field."

Both evening papers had their beginnings in weekly newspapers. The Province grew from The Weekly Province in Victoria. The Sun from The B.C. Saturday Sunset.

SWITCH TO DAILY

The Weekly Province was published by Hewitt Bostock. Walter Cameron Nichol was editor. In 1898 they became partners in a new venture, publishing The Daily Province in Vancouver which at that time had a population of 20,000, considerably less than Victoria's 1898 size.

Shortly after the paper became a daily, Mr. Bostock sold his interest to Mr. Nichol, served one term as Liberal member of Parliament for Yale and was appointed to the Senate. He was Senate Speaker when he died in 1930.

Mr. Nichol continued to operate The Province until 1924 when he sold a majority interest to the Southern newspaper. Published reports said the price was nearly $3,500,000. He died in 1928 after serving a term as B.C. lieutenant-governor.

SATURDAY SUNSET

The B.C. Saturday Sunset, the weekly from which The Sun developed, was started in 1907 with founder J. P. McConnell as editor. In the federal election of 1911, every Liberal candidate in B.C. was defeated. Liberal supporters blamed lack of newspaper support and The Saturday Sunset was bought to remedy this situation.

The first edition of the new daily, The Morning Sun, was published Feb. 12, 1912. Its founders were R. S. Ford, F. C. Wade and J. P. McConnell. In 1915 their company, Burrard Publishing Co., failed and a syndicate headed by Mr. Wade took control.

As editor, his writings were credited with defeating the Bowser Conservative government in the 1916 provincial election. However, Mr. Wade incurred personal financial reverses and relinquished control of the paper in 1917 to R. J. Cromie.

Mr. Cromie, father-of-the-present publisher, was associated in this venture with J. W.

Stewart, engineer, who built portions of the Canadian Northern Railway in B.C. and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. Under Mr. Cromie The Sun adopted aggressive news and sales policies. Circulation climbed.

In 1917 The Sun bought the Vancouver News-Advertiser, eliminating its morning rival and adding 8,000 to its circulation.

End of The News-Advertiser left Vancouver with three dailies, The Sun (morning), The Province (evening) and The World (evening).

BOUGHT OUT WORLD

In 1924 The Sun also bought out The World and its 17,000 circulation for a reported $475,000 and began publishing morning and evening editions.

Less than three months after Charles Campbell sold The World to The Sun, he started publication of The Evening Star. Six weeks later that paper was bought by Maj. Gen. Victor Odlum.

In 1926 The Sun made a deal with The Star under which The Star became a morning paper, taking over the morning Sun's circulation. The Sun acquired The Star's evening circulation and withdrew from the morning field.

In 1932 The Star became a victim of the depression and ceased publication. Later that year the paper resumed publication as the Vancouver News but in six months it, too, died.

Two weeks later, in the spring of 1933 the Vancouver News-Herald began publication as a co-operative, employees getting small cash salaries plus an interest in the enterprise in the form of stock. Most of those employed had been members of The Star staff.

In 1951 The Sun bought a controlling interest in The News-Herald which it sold in 1952 to the Thompson papers. The morning paper's circulation at that time was 36,800. In 1954 it changed its name to the Vancouver Herald. The Herald this week announced that rising costs forced it to cease publication June 15.

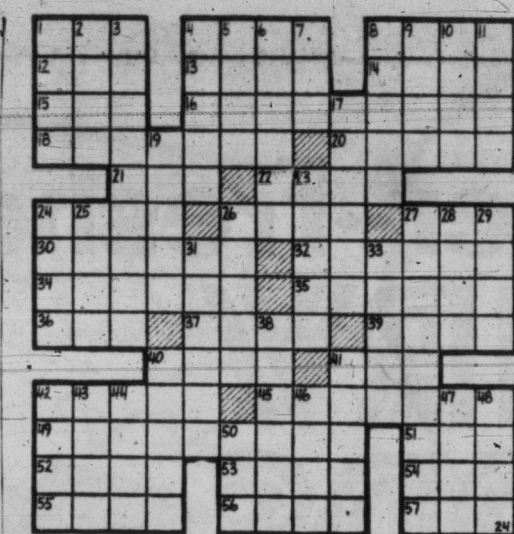

New Try Soon To Recover TCA Crash Victims

VANCOUVER (CP)—Another attempt to recover bodies from the wreck of a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star 7500 feet up Mount Slesse will be made in about 10 days.

Coroner Glen McDonald said today he hopes snow in the wreck area will have melted sufficiently by then to move in safely. A helicopter pilot surveyed the scene this week and reported snow conditions had improved.

When the wreckage of the aircraft with its 62 passengers was discovered a month ago, climbers reported conditions were too dangerous to attempt recovery of the bodies.

The whole mountain, 70 miles from Vancouver, has since been declared a closed area under the Forest Act.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answers each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to Ask Andy, Victoria Daily Times.

Why Are Thunderstorms Always on Summer Days?

At this moment, about 1800 thunderstorms are happening somewhere in the world. On an average, 44,000 of them burst forth in scattered places over the earth every year. Most, but not all, of them happen in summery weather. If you lived in the tropical regions of Java or Panama, you could expect 200 thunderstorms to crackle over your head every year. Our Gulf states get between 70 to 90 a year.

It is true that New England and most other land area get their thunderstorms, or most of them, on summer days. But over the oceans, most of them crack down at night and in the winter. In Southland and the Southwest, some of the most violent thunderstorms happen in winter. And in the Midwest they tend to happen on summer nights. In fact, this helps produce the rich crops of these areas. For rain falling at night has a better chance of seeping into the soil than rain falling during a hot day.

This round-the-world survey seems to show that a thunderstorm can burst forth just where and when it pleases. But this is not so. It can only happen when certain weather conditions in the atmosphere are just right. Two distinct layers of contrasting air are absolutely necessary. The layer of air near the ground must be light and rising. Above it, there must be a layer of much, much cooler air. A steep contrast in the temperatures of the two layers of air is necessary to make things possible for a thunderstorm.

On a summer day in New England, the scorching ground may warm the air above it to 90 degrees or more. But the warmed layer of air near the ground does not pass on its heat to the layer of air above it. In fact, it cools itself as it expands and rises. The breezes blowing aloft, two or three miles above the ground, may be below freezing point. Such a steep contrast in the temperature of the atmosphere is sufficient to cause a summer day thunderstorm.

In the Midwest, certain weather conditions keep the cool breezes aloft at bay until after sunset. Then the contrast of temperature upstairs builds up and we get a summer night thunderstorm. The ocean holds its summer heat far into the winter. When the sun is shining, the air high over the ocean loses its heat faster than the air near the warmish water. Here a contrast of temperatures sufficient to produce a thunderstorm builds up on winter nights.

The contrast need not always be between hot and cold. Sometimes it may be between merely cool and bitter cold layers of air. These conditions sometimes happen in midwinter when a layer of cold air from Canada clashes with coolish air flowing up from the Gulf of Mexico. Some of the most violent thunderstorms occur as a result of these huge, winter cold fronts. Whenever the difference in temperature between the lower air and the higher air is steep enough, conditions are right for thunderstorms, be it day or night, winter or summer.

Tory Majority Cut in U.K. Election Win

EDINBURGH, Scotland (Reuters)—The government candidate topped the poll in Wednesday's parliamentary by-election but the Conservative majority was slashed by two-thirds.

Conservative A. M. Clark-Hutchinson received 14,421 votes in the election for the Edinburgh South constituency.

His Labor opponent, James Forsyth, polled 9,781 votes and playwright William Douglas-Home a Liberal, got 7,439 votes.

The Conservative majority was 4,640 compared with 12,887 in a straight fight with Labor at the 1955 general election.

The by-election was caused by the resignation for ill-health of Sir William Darling.

Standing in the House now are conservatives and allies 334, Labor 278, Liberal 5, independent 10, vacant 3.

Death Penalty Demanded For Britons

CAIRO (Reuters)—The espionage trial of 20 persons, including eight Britons, ended today nine months after the first arrests were made.

The judge said the verdict will be given June 10. The prosecution demanded the death sentence for two of the Britons in court—James Swinburn, 51, Cairo business manager of the Arab News Agency, and James Zarb, 37, a Maltese businessman. The death penalty also was demanded for Briton Alexander Reynolds, tried in absentia, and eight Egyptians.

Your Social Credit Candidate for Victoria

"A week ago in Vancouver I noticed a sign in a ground floor office on Howe Street. It read, 'Guaranteed Home Mortgages for Sale - 9 1/2 per cent interest.'"

It's about time the Liberals stopped telling us how good they are, and started explaining their policies on some of the main issues, including housing.

To simplify the problem for the Grits and to avoid a lot of double talk, I suggest they start out by answering these questions:

(1) Why has the National Government failed to act to check the eight year inflation in housing costs?

(2) Why is it that the cost of housing has increased by 35 points since 1949 while the overall cost of living has gone up 21 points?

(3) Why is it that home

building across Canada so far this year has dropped fifty per cent from last year?

(4) How does the Government plan to house the 200,000 immigrants coming to Canada this year?

(5) What are government plans for the hundreds of thousands of Canadians (25,000 in Vancouver alone) who do not have proper accommodation?

(6) How is it that the Minister of External Affairs is able to arrange $770,000 in mortgage loans for HIS constituency?

The housing debacle—including 9 1/2 per cent mortgages—is one of the reasons why the Liberals are on the way out. It is one of the reasons why they will lose the Victoria seat on June 10.

There is only one practical answer to Canada's housing problem—the Social Credit answer. Long term, low interest loans with low down payments, and an income tax exemption for interest paid on home mortgages.

Hon. Robert Bonner, Attorney General of British Columbia, will speak at my meeting in S. J. Willis High School at 8 p.m. Friday.
